Memoir of Rev. Edmund S. Janes,

SENIOR BISHOP OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Edmund Storer Janes, D.D., LL.D., senior Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, entered into rest September 18, 1876, from his home in New York city.

Bishop Janes was a native of Sheffield, Berkshire County, Mass., born April 27, 1807, of highly respectable but not wealthy parents. He was converted in 1820, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. From 1824 to 1830 he was engaged in teaching, during which time he studied law with the intention of making it the profession of his life. But God had other and higher work for him. The sudden death of his intended partner in the profession of law caused him to reflect more seriously upon his mission in life, in the light of which he was led to give himself to the work of the ministry. In 1830 he joined the Philadelphia Conference on trial. During the first few years of his ministry, in addition to his work as a minister and his theological studies, which were thorough if not broad, he studied medicine, not with the intention of practicing it, but as more fully qualifying himself for his chosen vocation. He was ordained deacon in 1832, and elder in 1834. In 1838 he was appointed agent for Dickinson College, and in 1840 he was elected Financial Secretary of the American Bible Society. June 7, 1844, in conjunction with the late Bishop Hamline, he was elected bishop. They were the last of our chief pastors that received the vote of an undivided Church. At the time of his death he was President of the Missionary Society, of the Board of Church Extension, and of the Sunday-School Union and Tract Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was one of the managers of the American Bible Society, of the directors of the American Colonization Society, of the trustees of the Wesleyan University at Middletown, and of the Drew Theological Seminary, and President of the Minard Home, at Madison, New Jersey.

Bishop Janes was one of the most remarkable men in the history of American Methodism, with no superior, and few equals. He inherited the sterling mental and moral qualities of his Puritan ancestors. He possessed a mind of a high order, capable of the broadest generalization, and of the most subtle analysis, logical in its processes and thorough in its mastery of subjects, enriched by a generous culture, and disciplined by severest training, which enabled him to express his thoughts with singular transparency, and made his impromptu deliverances almost as chaste and finished as his more carefully prepared efforts. He was a model platform speaker—ready, earnest, and impressive—and a preacher of rare power, grasp, and eloquence. Thoroughly Wesleyan in his theology, his sermons were strictly evangelical, rich in Christian truth, direct and intense in style, constituting some of the best specimens of homiletic teaching. As an administrator he was without a peer—quick, clear, decided, patient in detail, and comprehensive in grasp.

Bishop Janes was a man of deep and thorough conviction, of indomitable courage, inflexible in principle, scrupulously conscientious, exhaustless in resources, and untiring in devotion. He crowded, perhaps, more and more varied labors into the last thirty-three years of his life than any other man in the history of the Church.

He possessed a peculiarly warm, loving, sympathetic heart, ready with the help of his head, heart, or hand for any that might need it, "weeping with those that wept and rejoicing with those that rejoiced;" the friend of all alike.

Bishop Janes possessed a character so full, symmetrical, and harmonious, its diverse and varied elements and powers were so well balanced, he always carried himself with such perfect equipoise, that its real greatness is discovered only when we attempt to analyze it. He was as practical as James, as intense as Peter, as tender and loving as John, as many-sided and comprehensive as Paul. "Truly a prince and great man has fallen in Israel."

Stricken while returning from the Book Room to his home with his last and final sickness, he lingered in great suffering, but with great patience and much spiritual comfort, for ten days, and then, surrounded by his family and a few friends, fell gently asleep at one o'clock September 18, 1876. A few hours before his demise he said, in response to a question, "I am not disappointed." Grand sentence for the thoughtful, reticent, holy man to leave! Passing through the valley, he looks back upon a long life of great ministerial activity, and says to the Church that had heard his wonderful words and glowing descriptions of the power of religion and the hopes of immortality, "I am not disappointed."

OBITUARIES

RECEIVED TOO LATE FOR INSERTION IN PROPER PLACE.

Central Illinois Conference.

1. B. O. MANNING was born in the State of New York, June 6, 1850, and died at New Windsor, Ill., Oct. 5, 1875. He was converted on Gilson Circuit, Central Illinois Conference, and feeling moved of the Holy Ghost to preach the Gospel, immediately set about preparing himself for that work. After several years of labor and self-denial for the Master, he graduated from Hedding College, June, 1872, and was admitted on trial into this Conference at Geneseo, Ill., September, 1872, and appointed junior preacher on the Oquawka and Biggsville Circuit. Here he served acceptably for one year when he was appointed to the Secor Charge. On this charge his arduous labors undermined his health, and sowed the seeds of that disease which cut him off in the midst of his usefulness. In September, 1874, he was ordained deacon, and appointed to the Ottawa Circuit. On this charge his health completely failed, and he was forced to retire from active labor. During this year he seemed ripening for heaven, and with a seeming premonition of his coming glory, he settled his worldly business and awaited the coming of the Master. At the Conference held at Moline, Ill., September, 1875, after passing his examination, he was attacked by cerebritis, and before reaching his home became unconscious, remaining in this condition, with rare intervals, until the day of his death. His death was peaceful, as becometh a Christian and a minister of the Gospel of the grace of God. Brother Manning was married Sept. 23, 1874, to Miss Maggie A. Straney, of Sunbeam, Ill., who is left to mourn his loss, yet not as those without hope.

2. WILLIAM LEIBER was born in Pennsylvania, Sept. 19, 1832. He was converted and joined the M. E. Church at the age of seventeen, and entered the ministry in 1861. His first charge was Buda, which he served as a supply. At the close of this year he was admitted on trial in the Central Illinois Conference. Brother Leiber was united in marriage with Eliza J. Moorhead, April 8, 1858. By appointment from the Conference he served successively La Fayette, Sparland, Galva, Cambridge, New Windsor, and Milan, where he died in great peace on Friday, March 3, 1876.

Brother Leiber was a consistent and earnest Christian minister. His whole life was a verification of the fact that his heart was fixed on God. His Christian character and life did not partake so much of the emotional and demonstrative as of the stable in faith, unyielding in principle, and constant in practice. He was upright in filling every post of duty, and prompt in discharging every responsibility committed to his trust. He was sound in doctrine, scriptural in his lines of proof, and thoroughly earnest in his presentation of gospel truth. His great effort was to save souls, and not to secure the praise of men. He sleeps in Jesus, and his works do follow him.

Minnesota Conference.

EZRA A. TERWILLIGER was born in Picton, Ontario, March 9, 1835. He was converted at the age of thirteen, joined the Niagara Conference at twenty-five, in 1860, and was transferred to Minnesota Conference in 1869, in connection with which he served the following charges: La Crescent, Hamilton, Fillmore, Lanora. He was married to Miss M. J. Wilsie in 1863. For eighteen months Brother Terwilliger had suffered with an abscess, but was not compelled to cease preaching till about six months before his death. Every effort at preaching made after the last session of the Conference was performed with pain. He often went to his appointment when most men would have thought it out of the question. From the time he ceased to preach he was an intense sufferer. His agony grew to be beyond endurance, except when alleviated by anodynes. Yet in all his pains not a word of complaint dropped from his lips. He said he wished, by patiently suffering God's will, to illustrate the power of that grace that he had preached to others. He retained his consciousness and power of speech till a few hours before his death. He said to his wife, "I am crossing the river; getting nearer home; my sky is clear."

Brother M. D. Terwilliger said to him: "Ezra, do you realize you are dying?" He answered, "Yes." "Do you feel Jesus precious?" "Yes." His wife said, as she took his hand, "You are almost across the river." He answered, "Yes, almost across," and added in a whisper, "I am resting in the calm assurance of a certain resurrection." He died August 21, 1876.

During all his sickness, and especially at his death, he experienced a firm, unwavering confidence in God. He entered the valley without a shudder. He calmly conversed with his wife about training the children for God when he was gone, and where she had better look for a home. He also made arrangements for his funeral with as much composure as he would prepare for an excursion of pleasure.

North-west Indiana Conference.

ALMOND LUCE BACKUS was born in Herkimer County, N. Y., Sept. 16, 1820, and died in Stockwell, Ind., Jan. 10, 1876. Converted to God in 1838, he immediately united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and soon became an active and efficient worker. October 28, 1841, he was united in marriage with Miss Salome Anderson, who, with her two sons and three daughters, is left. Brother Backus was licensed to exhort in August, 1841; to preach in 1843. He was ordained local deacon in 1854, admitted on trial in the Genesee Conference in 1856, and in 1860 was ordained elder. His appointments were: East Otto, Spencerport, Kendall, Parma, West Carlton, Lyndonville, Niagara Falls, Steward and Financial Agent of Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, two years. He was transferred from the Genesee to the North-west Indiana Conference in 1872, and successively appointed to Pine Grove, Walcott, Reynolds, and Stockwell Circuit. At the last session of the North-west Indiana Conference he was granted a supernumerary relation.

Brother Backus was a man of rare endowments. Of a stalwart frame and a will to work, few men accomplished more, in whatever he undertook, than A. L. Backus. A sound preacher, forcible and pungent in manner, a good theologian, and with an indomitable perseverance in the right, success was looked for by him with a certainty which ever furnished a constant inspiration. But his work on earth is ended and he has gone home.

FRANKLIN J. TOLBY was born in Hendricks County, Ind. He was converted to God near Tippecanoe battle ground in 1857, and was admitted on trial in the North-west Indiana Conference in 1871. His fields of labor were as follow: Pine Grove Circuit, Brooke Circuit, Morocco; and in 1874 he was sent as a missionary to New Mexico, and stationed at Cimarron. On September 14, 1875, as he was returning from Elizabethtown, he was shot by an unknown assassin, and fell from his horse a lifeless corpse. The following words, found in the report of Rev. Thomas Harwood, superintendent of the mission, doubtless contain the true account of our brother's tragic end. He says: "Brother Tolby had labored nearly two years at Cimarron and Elizabethtown, and did the Church good service. He was a rising man, bold and fearless in the pulpit and out of it; had made many friends on his circuit and in the country, and was hopeful for the future of his work; but in the midst of his hopes, in the noonday of life, he was cut off. But the itinerant, like a warrior, fell from his saddle in the midst of the strife." Our brother leaves a helpless family—a wife almost blind and four children — one born since the death of the lamented father. Let the Church not forget the widow and the fatherless.

South-east Indiana Conference.

Lewis Hurlbut was born in Whitehall, N. Y., October 17, 1774. His youth was passed in his native State. In the year 1818 he was happily converted. In 1820 he removed to Indiana, and was there united in marriage with Ann Woods, February 28, 1822. The union was a long and happy one, and their golden wedding was celebrated at the residence of their son-in-law, Hon. Will Cumback, in 1872. The first evening in their own home they erected the family altar, and during all the years of their home life the daily sacrifice of prayer and praise was offered unto God. In a few weeks they united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and ever after continued earnest and faithful members, strongly attached to her doctrines and polity. He was licensed to preach in March, 1834, and in the fall of the same year was admitted to the Indiana Conference and appointed to Brownsville, and afterward to Columbus, Vevay, Versailles, Milroy, Vernon, New Washington, Greenville, Hartford, Manchester, Utica, Moorefield, Mount Carmel, Brownsville, Milton, Liberty, Mount Auburn, St. Omer, superannuated four years, Wilmington, Manilla, and, in 1861, he was again superannuated, and so continued. He was always in labors abundant, and as a preacher he was successful. It was remarked at his funeral, by one who had known him long and intimately, that he had received more persons into the Church in Indiana than any other man whose ministry had been spent in the State. According to the best data that can be obtained, over eighteen hundred persons were added to the Church in the six years of his ministry on Vevay, Versailles, and Milroy Circuits.

It was no small trial to him when advancing years compelled him to retire from the effective ranks of those with whom he had fought so long and well. In October, 1873, Father Hurlbut was stricken with paralysis. Three days afterward the old people were removed to the home of their son-in-law, Mr. Cumback, where every attention that loving hearts and dutiful hands could render was given them. Mother Hurlbut lingered, with gradually failing powers, until March 20, 1875, when she fell asleep in Jesus. Father Hurlbut, by reason of his strong constitution, was able to survive the attack of paralysis nearly three years, and not until May 3, 1876, did the weary wheels of life stand still. With but little suffering during his long illness, at two A. M. of a most beautiful spring morning he quietly passed to that land where "everlasting spring abides."

EDITORIAL NOTE.

AFTER the Annual Minutes for 1876 were supposed to be complete, the Bishops requested that the Minutes of the Texas, West Texas, and Southern German Conferences, held severally Nov. 22, 29, and Dec. 6, 1876, should be inserted in this year's Minutes, notwithstanding that the proceedings of these Conferences, held in the early part of this year, were already inserted as usual. This made necessary the publication of two sessions of each of these three Conferences. The "Recapitulation Tables" of the Conferences had, prior to this request of the Bishops, been stereotyped: and in order not to disturb their footings, it has been determined to show the differences between the returns of the two sessions of these three Conferences, thus:—

TEXAS CONFERENCE.—Traveling Preachers, on trial, dec., 11; in full connection, inc., 10; supernumerary, inc., 1; superannuated, inc., 1; located, inc., 1. Local Preachers, inc., 27. Sunday-Schools, inc., 19; officers and teachers, inc., 66; scholars, inc., 1,102. Members, inc., 446; probationers, inc., 42; deaths, inc., 5. Baptisms, children, inc., 191; adults, inc., 84. Churches, inc., 3; probable value, inc., $2,539. Parsonages, inc., 2; probable value, dec., $600. For Conference Claimants, inc., $2 90. Missionary Society, churches, inc., $14 80; schools, inc., $27 08. Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, inc., $6 65. Board of Church Extension, inc., $15 85. Tract Society, inc., $7 30. Sunday-School Union, dec., $16 56. Freedman's Aid Society, inc., $26 36. Education, dec., $10 38. American Bible Society, inc., $1 25.

WEST TEXAS CONFERENCE.—Traveling Preachers, in full connection, inc., 2; superannuated, inc., 6; located, dec., 2; died, dec., 2. Local Preachers, dec., 4. Sunday-Schools, dec., 11; officers and teachers, dec., 13; scholars, dec., 197. Members, dec., 328; probationers, inc., 218; deaths, inc., 39. Baptisms, children, inc., 79; adults, dec., 5. Churches, inc., 4; probable value, inc., $1,110. Parsonages, inc., 2; probable value, inc., $180. For Missionary Society, churches, inc., $591 70; schools, inc., $14 95. Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, inc., $5 25. Board of Church Extension, inc., $52 25. Tract Society, inc., $6 05. Sunday-School Union, inc., $6 70. Freedman's Aid Society, inc., $15 80. Education, inc., $4 55.

Note by Bishop Peck.—The Austin Conference will include the white ministers of West Texas, not included in the Southern German Conference. The place of session will be Dallas, Texas.

SOUTHERN GERMAN CONFERENCE.—Traveling Preachers, on trial, dec., 3; in full connection, inc., 4; died, dec., 1. Sunday-Schools, inc., 7; officers and teachers, inc., 33; scholars, inc., 306. Members, inc., 57; probationers, inc., 18; deaths, dec., 7. Baptisms, children, dec., 78; adults, inc., 2. Churches, inc., 6; probable value, inc., $4,700. Parsonages, inc., 5; probable value, inc., $1,200. For Conference Claimants, inc., $5 35. Missionary Society, churches, dec., $50 80; schools, inc., $58 30. Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, inc., 15 cts. Board of Church Extension, dec., $5 45. Tract Society, inc., 65 cts. Sunday-School Union, dec., 75 cts. Freedman's Aid Society, inc., 20 cts. Education, inc., 55 cts. American Bible Society, inc., $10 85.

These differences will, in order to arrive at strict correctness, have to be added to, or deducted from, the footing of the Recapitulation Tables, according as they increase or lessen the footings.

H. Sutton, G. A. Campbell—2.

1. HENRY SUTTON was born near Princeton, New Jersey, July 20, 1808, and died in Philadelphia, March 23, 1876, in his sixty-eighth year. His father died when he was quite young. His mother and grand parents were members of the Presbyterian Church, and he was trained in the Confession of Faith of that Church. Leaving home at an early age, he resided for some time in the city of Trenton. In his eighteenth year he was converted at a prayer-meeting held in a private house in Trenton, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church.

He commenced his itinerant ministry in 1834, on the Georgetown Circuit, traveling under the authority of the presiding elder. In 1835 he was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference, and was sent to the Morristown Circuit, after which his appointments were as follows: Springfield Circuit, Susquehanna Mission, Marshallton, Smyrna, Centerville, Dover, Church Hill, Mauch Chunk, Dauphin, Safe Harbor, Radnor, Strasburgh, Village Green. In 1858 he was made supernumerary, and after sustaining that relation for some years he was placed on the superannuated list, and there remained until his death. During those years he preached when he was able.

Brother Sutton suffered much from a bronchial affection, and during the last three years he was at times greatly afflicted. He often regretted that he could not be in the regular work. A laborious man, his labors were often crowned with success, many of the Churches under his charge being favored with gracious revivals. His personal character was spotless, and his spirit of devotion profound and sincere. He loved his Bible dearly, read some portion of it every day, and regularly through once a year. He was tenderly attached to his family, but of late years was often too feeble to converse with those who were dear to him. His end was calm and peaceful. The day before he died his daughter asked him if he was happy. He said "Yes," and continued in a state of pleasant tranquillity to the last. His wife and son were constantly at his bedside, doing all they could to soothe his last hours. He knew them and other relatives around him until within a few hours of death, when he became unconscious. About three o'clock P. M. he breathed his last, closing his eyes himself.

The following extract from a letter, addressed to his son by Rev. Dr. G. D. Carrow, is a fit tribute to his excellent character as a man, a Christian, and a minister of Christ: "Both in his private and public relations your father's manner was invariably that of the dignified and affable Christian gentleman. This was a natural expression of the inborn instincts of the man. In the cabin of the slave, under the roof of the humblest white man, he was the same in his bearing as when he was the guest of governors and statesmen. In the pulpit he was clear, direct, and practical, and in his delivery he was easy, graceful, and forcible. In the class-room and the social circle, as a Christian counsellor, and especially in the chamber of sickness and of death, he had scarce an equal."

2. GEORGE A. CAMPBELL was born in Baltimore Hundred, Del., September 3, 1846, and died in Frankford, Del., Sept. 7, 1876, aged thirty years and four days. He sought and obtained salvation in 1866, and soon united with the Methodist Episcopal Church on Frankford Circuit. He was licensed to exhort August 21, 1869, and to preach January 1, 1870. In March, 1870, he was employed by the presiding elder of Snow Hill District to serve Gumborough Circuit. In the following spring he was admitted on trial in the Wilmington Conference and appointed to Snow Hill Circuit. From thence he went to Princess Anne Circuit, where he remained two years. In 1874 he was appointed to Claymont. This was to him a year of hard labor and wonderful success. During a protracted meeting, which lasted six weeks, forty persons were added to the Church, and the membership greatly revived. This latter effort proved too much for his weak constitution. He partially rallied, however, and was able to attend the session of the Conference in 1875, at which he was reappointed to Claymont. He returned to his work, but his health declined so fast that he was only able to preach two or three sermons. Thinking that rest and medical attention would recuperate his wasted energies he went to the house of his parents, in Frankford; but instead of regaining his health he continued gradually to decline, until death relieved him of his sufferings.

Brother Campbell was a young man of fine promise, and a good, practical preacher. In his death the Wilmington Conference has lost one of her noblest young men. The Gospel which he so faithfully and effectually preached to others did not fail to sustain him in his afflictions and at the close of life. He retained his mental faculties till the last, bearing his afflictions without a murmur or complaint. During his illness he expressed a strong desire to recover, so that he might be able to preach Christ. To a friend, about a week before his death, he said, "Death would not surprise me at all; I am fully ready." Again, the day before he died, "There is not a shadow of doubt in my way; all is well." When asked by Brother Kidney if he had any message for his brethren in the ministry, he said: "Tell them to live and die for Christ; tell all the brethren not to fail to meet me in heaven. Language cannot express what I enjoy. Glory to God! O, if I could stand, and had the voice, I would proclaim to the ends of the earth, 'Come, poor sinners, come to Jesus.'" Thus calmly and sweetly he passed away to the "rest that remains for the people of God."

O may I triumph so,
When all my warfare's past;
And, dying, find my latest foe
Under my feet at last!

H. Ryan.

HARDY RYAN died in White Plains, Liberia, aged about seventy-five years. Of his early history but little is known. Suffice it to say that in December, 1865, he was admitted on trial in the Mississippi Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States. In connection therewith he served Baton Rouge and Columbus. In 1869 he was transferred to this Conference, and served with varying success Heddington, Robertsville, and Crozierville. In 1876 he was compelled by reason of ill health to take a supernumerary relation, and soon after, amid much bodily suffering, he passed away to be for ever with the Lord.

Hardy Ryan was a deeply pious man and a faithful Methodist preacher. He had great power in prayer, and was a very spiritual exhorter. But he rests from his labors and his works do follow him.

I. F. Harrison, J. F. Hanner —2.

I. F. HARRISON was born in the State of Ohio April 16, 1812. When about fifteen years of age he was converted and received into the Church. He was licensed to preach in his twenty-ninth year, and held the relation of local preacher for a number of years, serving as a supply a part of the time. He was admitted into the Ohio Conference in 1848, ordained deacon in 1850, and elder in 1852. He was in Kentucky as a traveling preacher in 1853, when the Kentucky Conference was organized, of which he became a member, and filled successively the following appointments: Maysville, Germantown and Augusta, No Creek, Butler, Newport, Green River District, Hardinsburgh, Foster, Harrison and Nicholas, and the Ashland District. Assuming the Ashland District under peculiarly afflicting circumstances, by his manliness, evident devotion to Christ, and sound judgment, he soon secured the confidence of the Church and the respect of the community. He died suddenly near Paintsville, Ky., October 26, 1876. On the Saturday and Sabbath previous he held a quarterly meeting in the neighborhood. He left behind him no dying testimony, there being no one present when he passed away; but he has doubtless gone to his rest in heaven, ceasing at once to work and live.

Brother Harrison's early educational advantages were limited, but by hard study he gained a large fund of general information, and his mental endowments were above the average. His sermons were marked with sound thought and a pure Gospel, and were delivered in the demonstration of the Spirit of God.

2. J. FLETCHER HANNER was born in Hopkins County, Ky., in 1839. His father, Wm. Hanner, being a local preacher, he had the advantage of religious training and culture, which in early life led him to seek a saving interest in the atoning blood, and to unite in membership with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was licensed to preach in 1868, and, being admitted on trial in the Kentucky Conference, was appointed this year as junior preacher on Barbourville Circuit. The senior preacher dying early in the conference year he was left in charge of the work, which he filled creditably and acceptably. In 1869 he was appointed to Hickory Grove. In 1870 he was admitted into full connection, ordained deacon, and appointed to Greenville. In 1871 he was appointed to Columbia, and on the 12th day of March married to Miss Mary Grinstead. In 1872 he was appointed to Hopkins, and in 1873 ordained elder by Bishop Wiley. Feeling the need of a better education, he entered the Asbury University with the advice and by the consent of his presiding elder, and was granted by his Conference a supernumerary relation. His intense desire to complete the college course was more than his strength would allow. His health failed, and he was compelled to yield his cherished hopes; and leaving college in March, 1876, he returned to the house of his father-in-law, in Knox County, Ky., where, with but little bodily pain, on the 30th of June, 1876, he fell asleep in Jesus calmly, quietly, peacefully.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

W. J. Owens, J. S. Comp, A. H. Mench—3.

1. WILLIAM JOHNSON OWENS was born in Birmingham, Huntingdon County, Pa., April 7, 1843, and died in Ennisville, October 8, 1876. He was converted in Birmingham during the winter of 1863, under the ministry of Rev. J. W. Leckie, of whom we heard him say, "I will always love him, for, though but little my senior, he is my spiritual father." Brother Owens was licensed to preach in the fall of 1866. In speaking of his call to the ministry he said, "In the evening just prior to attempting to preach my first sermon I walked out into the woods, and was trying to rehearse my sermon, in which I almost failed, when, falling on my knees, I begged God to give me some evidence of his will concerning my life-work, in answer to which a strange calm came over my soul, and I arose and praised God. I was just leaving the ground when I saw an enormous snake very near, which I attempted to kill; but before succeeding in doing so I was obliged to battle with it until entirely exhausted, and then go directly to the pulpit. I don't know how I preached, but I do know that since I have not had a doubt about my call to the ministry." From the after life of our brother we are disposed to regard this as a type of the victory he gained over sin and Satan, and of his final triumph over death. He spent the winter of 1866 on the Manor Hill Circuit under the presiding elder. In the spring of 1869 he was admitted into the Conference on trial, and appointed to Rainesburgh, (now Bedford Circuit,) where he remained two years. While here he was led to seek entire sanctification, and from then until his death he did not hesitate to say, "The blood of Jesus Christ, his Son, cleanseth me from all sin." In 1871 he was appointed to Granville Circuit, where he remained two years, but was at the end of that time so prostrated that he asked for, and was granted, a supernumerary relation, which he sustained for three years, more than half of which were spent in bed undergoing the most intense suffering. At the Conference of 1875 his relation was changed to effective, and he was appointed assistant pastor of Eighth Avenue Charge, Altoona, where he did good work for the Master. Last spring he was appointed to Ennisville Circuit. While preaching one Sabbath afternoon in August last on the Manor Hill Camp-ground he said, "O how many mysteries in the providence of God! I am not able to see why I was, by affliction, for three years prevented from preaching the glorious Gospel, nor can I understand why I am now compelled to suffer while I preach. I may know these things hereafter, for it may be that very soon 'I shall see him as he is, and know as I am known.'" How like a prophecy! With what emphasis came the words when, less than two months after, he passed away in glorious triumph to the full realization of the verity of his utterance.

Of William J. Owens it may be well said that he was a man full of the Holy Ghost and of faith. He was a good preacher, a humble, faithful, and zealous Christian, a kind husband, an affectionate father, and devoted friend. He leaves a widow and four children, who deserve our sympathies and prayers.

2. Jacob S. Comp was born June 24, 1845. He died of consumption at his father's residence, in Markleville, Pa., Nov. 16, 1876. He sought and found Christ at the age of fourteen years, and soon joined the M. E. Church. He was licensed to preach in 1867. He graduated at Williamsport Dickinson Seminary in June, 1869, and traveled the remainder of that Conference year, and also the next year, on the Watsontown Circuit. His next appointment was New Cumberland Circuit, in 1871 and 1872. In August of the latter year his health became so impaired that he was reluctantly compelled to abandon his work. He naturally desired to live if it was the will of God, but only that he might be instrumental in the salvation of souls. During his affliction he suffered much, but he bore it all in the spirit of Christian resignation. As the end of life's pilgrimage approached he began to desire to "depart and be with Christ, which is far better." As the vision of his faith penetrated the clouds and contemplated the crown, he said to his father, "If I had the world I would gladly give it to die." When the messenger arrived he found him ready and willing to go. His race was a short one, but sufficiently long for him to win the prize, and he has entered into rest.

3. Abraham H. Mench was born near Mifflinburgh, Union County, Pa., July 28, 1845, and died of consumption May 19, 1876. He was converted when a boy of fifteen, and immediately joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was remarkably studious in his habits, and early indicated a desire for a good education, and was blessed with a Christian mother, who had the means as well as the disposition to encourage and gratify her son in this laudable ambition. In 1864 he entered Dickinson College, and graduated with honor in 1867. In 1868 he was admitted into the East Baltimore Conference; was ordained deacon at the second session of the Central Pennsylvania Conference, held in March, 1870, and elder in 1872. He was successively appointed to Hughesville, Shrewsbury, Green Castle, Liverpool, Centralia, Sinnemahoning, and Jamestown. In consequence of failing health, and at the suggestion of Dr. T. Mitchell, his presiding elder, he resigned his last charge early in the year, and went to Colorado with the hope of recruiting his strength. He realized but little benefit, however, from the change, and after spending nine months among the mountains he became satisfied that his days in the militant Church were almost numbered. He returned to Mifflinburgh, the home of his childhood, as he said, "Only to bid us good-bye," where he was kindly welcomed by affectionate brothers and tenderly nursed; but nothing could stay the progress of disease, and just two weeks from the day he arrived at home his spirit, in glorious triumph, left for the home eternal.

Brother Mench was an untiring Bible student, a sound theologian, an excellent scholar, a good preacher, and a Christian gentleman in the best sense of that term. During the two last days of his life the writer was with him most of the time, and, although it required an effort for him to speak, he expressed himself in strong terms as being fully prepared for the passage across the river. A few hours before his death we sang, among other good and appropriate hymns, "The Home of the Soul," when his countenance appeared to glow with delight, and he responded in words of Christian triumph. When asked what message he had for his brethren, he said, "Tell them I am a sinner saved by grace."

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

Moses Tichnell, Wilson L. Hindman—2.

1. MOSES TICHNELL was born in Preston County, Va., (now West Virginia,) February 21, 1807, and died in Rosemond, Christian Co., Illinois, May 23, 1876. He was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church when fourteen years of age; was licensed to preach at the age of nineteen, and commenced his itinerant career on Lewis Circuit, under the elder, in 1828. In 1829 he was admitted on trial into the Pittsburgh Conference. Subsequently he spent twenty-four years on circuits and stations, seven years as presiding elder on districts, two years as Agent of the North-western Academy, and one year as Conference Tract Agent. In 1852 he was honored with a seat in the General Conference, as one of the delegates from the West Virginia Conference. Though sustaining a supernumerary relation to the Conference, yet down to near the close of life he continued to preach, not only frequently, but very acceptably and with good effect. Though not favored in early life with the advantages of a collegiate education, he nevertheless possessed a good native intellect, quite above the average of his day. He read much, possessed a good memory, and had a mind well stored with useful knowledge in matters appertaining not only to the highest and best interests of the Church, but also the country at large. He was an able and efficient preacher of the Gospel of Christ; preached in "demonstration of the Spirit," and not unfrequently with great power. He was eminently successful in his day. Perhaps but few men, if, indeed, any, accomplished as much for the Church within the bounds of the West Virginia Conference as did Brother Tichnell.

In his last sickness, which continued during a period of fifteen months, he was most graciously sustained by the divine presence. For thirteen days, immediately preceding his death, he was in ecstasy of joy, his soul was in rapture. "O, I am so happy," "God does so wonderfully sustain me," "I am so near the throne," "There is such a weight of glory," "The future looks bright," were his words of cheer left as a legacy to weeping friends and the Church. Then his last prayer, "Come, Lord Jesus, come quickly," and he "slept in Jesus."

2. W. L. HINDMAN died in Moundsville, W. Va., March 17, 1877, in his fifty-seventh year. Our dear brother was actively engaged in ministerial labor for twenty-eight years. He was a man of exemplary life, quiet demeanor, walking closely with God, and enjoying a very deep and rich Christian experience. At the time of his decease he was preacher in charge of Grave Creek Circuit, Wheeling District, and very greatly endeared to the people for whose spiritual interests he had faithfully labored. His illness was of six weeks' duration, and though his bodily sufferings were severe, he enjoyed, through grace, a perfect peace of mind, a calm trust in God, and, at times, was gloriously triumphant in the Rock of his salvation. Toward the last he had seasons of unspeakable joy, when the rapture of glory filled his soul. When spoken to about the great salvation he experienced, he said, "It needs no explanation; it's all right to me." Several times he shouted aloud the praise of God, triumphing over the last enemy. A day or two before his departure he said to a brother, "I have a grand experience this morning, and the old ship sails grandly. I have a firm grip. I shall live forever. If there are any men on earth I love, they are Methodist preachers." When his change came he "fell asleep" without the movement of a muscle, and his pure spirit ascended to be forever with the Lord.

Brother Hindman has left to the sympathy and care of the Church a widow, an estimable and devoted Christian lady, and a grown-up daughter.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

J. H. Lutz.

JOHN H. LUTZ was born June 25, 1849, near Mount Crawford, in Rockingham County, Virginia. He was converted February 6, 1866, at Knob Noster, Missouri, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was licensed to exhort in 1868, to preach in 1870, and was received on trial in the Saint Louis Conference in 1873 and appointed to the Brownsville Circuit, to which he was returned the following year. On February 26, 1874, he was united in marriage to Miss Alice Ing, daughter of Rev. Stanford Ing, of the Saint Louis Conference. He was ordained deacon March 21, 1876, and sent to Windsor. At this place, near the middle of the year, his health entirely failed, and he was compelled to give up his work. He had been alternating between better and worse during all the year, till, in December last, from cold and over physical exertion, he became suddenly worse, and never rallied. A little more than three weeks before his death he was stricken down with what seemed congestion of the lungs, and never sat up more than once or twice afterward. He died of consumption February 26, 1877, at the residence of his father, near Knob Noster, Missouri.

Brother Lutz was a hard worker. It seems more than probable that his early decease was the result of overwork and exposure. He was wonderfully patient, sweet spirited, and bright in all his sickness, and his confidence in Christ never deserted him. His mind was clear on all subjects till within two or three days of his death, and then when his mind wandered from other subjects he was singularly clear, confident, and stayed on God. On hearing the remark, "O death, where is thy sting!" he instantly replied, "I haven't found the sting yet;" and when asked, "What shall be told the brethren of the Saint Louis Conference for you?" he said, "It would be egotism for me to send them any exhortation. Tell them God has wonderfully sustained me in this sickness. I have not once felt it hard to bear. I have done what I could; I am going to a larger sphere of work." Singing soothed, and at times animated him, till he would join in the song with all the sweetness and power he was wont to do when well. In answer to an inquiry, a friend said to him, "I think you cannot live through the day. You are rapidly going down." With a smile playing over his face, he pleasantly replied, "You mean I am going up." He was specially comforted with the song, "Take the name of Jesus with you." He leaves only his devoted wife, their little child having preceded him last summer.

Brother Lutz was one of our most promising young men. He was a hard student, a devoted minister, an eminently social man, exemplary and holy. It is comforting to know that he should in his last sickness be so well cared for. His sufferings and death occurred amid the comforts of his childhood home, and the unceasing attention of a devoted father and mother and loving sisters and wife.

Jos. Aspril, Edwin F. Pitcher, Isaac Mast, John P. Durbin, John Jennings —5.

1. JOSEPH ASPRIL was born near Delaware City, New Castle Co., Del., November 12, 1817. He was converted in his fifteenth year, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1837 he was licensed as a local preacher, and in 1840 admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference. In 1842 he was admitted into full connection. His Conference appointments were as follows: Centerville, Cecil, Minersville, Bristol, Church Hill, Talbot, Caroline, Milford, Middletown, Delaware; Millington, Newark, Delaware; Kent, Columbia, Sudlersville, Minersville, Tamaqua, Chester, Pottstown, Cochranville, Penningtonville, Mount Carmel, and Halifax. To the last-named charge he was returned for the third year. He went from Conference sick, and was not able to preach afterward. His disease was chronic, and resisted all medical treatment. In his last illness he was patient, peaceful, and occasionally triumphant, and on May 28, 1876, he was taken to his home in heaven. In looking upon him we might appropriately say, "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace."

Brother Aspril lived and died well, and his name is as "ointment poured forth." Thirty-six years of his life were given to the Christian ministry. Early in his ministerial life he sought and found the great blessing of "perfect love," which he enjoyed and professed till his death. He illustrated in his Christ-like life and conversation all he professed. He was a man of good natural mental powers, and these were wholly consecrated to God and the work of the ministry. He was a good preacher, a clear expounder of the word of God, and faithful in all his work. God crowned his labors with success. He was a devoted husband and father, and one of the purest and truest of friends. He leaves a widow and five children to mourn their loss, but they "sorrow not as those who have no hope."

2. EDWIN FRANK PITCHER was born near Fairmont, Marion Co., West Virginia, February 14, 1846, and died near Fairmont, May 18, 1876, in the thirty-first year of his age. He was piously reared, and his youth was singularly pure and promising. At the early age of eleven he was converted, and at once joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. While but a child in years he interested himself in Church work, exhorting and praying with his youthful companions, and often leading them to the Saviour. So great was his zeal for souls that on one occasion he even took off his own shoes and put them upon the feet of a companion who shrank from presenting himself for prayers because of the scantiness of his apparel; and this spirit he consistently maintained throughout his entire life. At fourteen he entered Dickinson College, where he subjected himself to the severest habits of study, and was soon regarded the ablest, as he was the youngest, man in his class. At sixteen he took the prize medal for oratory in the junior contest, and four months after his seventeenth birthday he graduated with the honors of the class. Immediately thereafter, in September, 1863, he was appointed a professor in Emory Female College, at Carlisle, Pa., where he remained until the following January. In March, 1864, feeling himself called to the work of the Christian ministry, and having been licensed to preach, he was admitted on trial to the East Baltimore Conference. He labored a portion of the year near Mechanicsburgh, Pa., when an attack of ophthalmia forced him to retire. At the next session of the Conference he was continued on trial and stationed at York Springs, a post which he resigned to enter the Garrett Biblical Institute, at Evanston, Illinois, where he prosecuted his studies with his accustomed vigor, but finding the climate prejudicial to his health he was soon obliged to withdraw from the institution and retire to the old homestead at Fairmont, where he passed the summer in perfect rest. In the autumn of 1865 he was sufficiently recovered to enter the Theological Seminary at Concord, New Hampshire, from which he graduated in the spring of 1867, at the age of twenty-one. He was at once admitted into the New England Conference, and stationed at Amherst, Massachusetts, where he remained for one year. In 1868, on the invitation of Morgantown Charge, he was transferred to the West Virginia Conference, and labored in his new field with much ability and success for two years. On June 24, 1869, he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Frances, eldest daughter of the late Bishop Baker, in whom he found a capable and devoted helpmeet. In 1870 he was transferred to the New Hampshire Conference, and sent to the important charge of Lawrence, Massachusetts, where he labored faithfully and acceptably for two years. His wife's health, however, which had never been robust, gave way, and Brother Pitcher was advised, on her account, to seek a more salubrious climate. He, therefore, left his eastern work, was transferred to the Philadelphia Conference in 1872, and stationed at Lebanon, hoping that the air of Pennsylvania would prove helpful to his enfeebled wife. Unhappily the change failed to arrest the progress of her disease, and on March 27, 1872, only twelve days after their arrival in their new home, the gentle sufferer fell asleep in Jesus, leaving to her afflicted husband one bright and beautiful daughter. In 1873 Brother Pitcher was appointed to Allentown, where he remained for three years, laboring with much success, and endearing himself to his people and the community at large, and whence he departed only to die. On June 2, 1873, he was married to Miss Maria C. Gleim, of Lebanon, Pa., who remained in loving devotion at his side until his death, and who, with a sweet and promising daughter, three years old, survives to mourn his loss.

Brother Pitcher inherited a delicate constitution, and this, with his assiduous habits of study when a youth, prevented a full development of his physical system. He presented the spectacle, therefore, of a young man of earnest soul, fine mind, and unusual acquirements, who lacked the physical strength necessary to the performance of the arduous duties of the ministerial office. And this was his trial. While at Lebanon a slight hemorrhage admonished him to act prudently, and in 1875 he was persuaded to undertake the tour of Europe with two brethren of this Conference. With them he visited France, Italy, Switzerland, Western Germany, Belgium, Holland, and Great Britain, and returned apparently in better health than he had enjoyed for years. Thus strengthened, he threw himself into his work with unwonted energy, taking a prominent part in a union evangelistic meeting that was organized in his city, and later in the season conducting several weeks of revival services in his own church. These labors sapped his vital forces, and induced a nervous prostration that resulted in a number of severe hemorrhages, and in February he found that it would be necessary for him to ask for a temporary relief from the strain of the effective work. Thus, with a broken but submissive heart, he turned back from the labor he loved so well, and sought with feeble feet the old Virginia home that had so often given him rest from weariness and pain. And there, after a few weeks of recuperation, the dreaded hemorrhages returned with increased violence, and, exhausted and overmatched by the foe that had pursued him from his cradle, he was beaten down at last upon the very threshold of his earthly career.

Brother Pitcher was a rare and beautiful character. His scholarship was thorough and varied; his mind was vigorous and logical; his heart was pure and noble; his nature was gentle and sympathetic; his estimate of himself was modest and humble; his conception of his work was lofty and reverent; his devotion to it was faithful and heroic; his love for his friends was intense and constant, and his appreciation of them was unselfish and generous; his soul was a serene and cloudless sky, and his presence a perpetual sunbeam. He made friends everywhere, and held them to his heart "with hooks of steel," and wherever he was known his memory is enshrined in undying affection. As a preacher he was cultured, evangelical, and practical. He regarded preaching as the presentation to the world of the living Christ, and never wearied of the enchanting theme. His appeals were always direct, and his object immediate results; and although he labored under constant physical disability, both in the preparation and delivery of his discourses, he was always graceful and persuasive in the pulpit, and often truly eloquent. His religious life was simple and devoted, and his death peaceful and full of hope. As the end approached he seemed to be on a journey, traveling homeward exhausted and in pain, and occasionally whispered, "The next station will be home." At length, a little further on, the new light that gathered in his eye, and the sweet smile that stole upon his lip, announced the tidings that "home" was reached, and betokened that his weary soul was entering its everlasting rest. Thus his bright, brief life closed with the morning hour, its labor scarcely begun, its promise unfulfilled. It was God's from its beginning; it is God's for evermore. The fragrance of its devotedness preceded it to heaven, and lingers behind it on earth as the odor from a broken box of very precious ointment.

3. Isaac Mast was born of Methodist parentage, in Berks County, Pa., October 14, 1835, and died in Roxborough, Pa., June 21, 1876, in the forty-first year of his age. He was nurtured from infancy in the midst of kindly influences, being one of a family that gave three of its members to the itinerancy, and where for many years the weary itinerant found a comfortable home and a hearty welcome. This will account in part for the fact that there was so much of Christ in his life. In his eighteenth year, in answer to prayer, he was made a partaker of the Divine nature. In 1855 he entered the Ohio Wesleyan University, when commenced a friendship with the president of that institution, Rev. Dr. Thomson, LL.D., that was interrupted a little while by death, and is now being perpetuated in heaven. Brother Mast's masterly use of graceful English was largely the result of the influence of that peerless essayist on his character and style. Convinced that God had called him to the work of the ministry, he was licensed to preach in March, 1858. In 1859 he graduated with honor, and in the following spring was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference. His subsequent fields of labor were Pottstown, Churchtown, Roxborough, Chestnut Hill, Haddington, from which he was removed during the year to take the place of Rev. George Quigley, deceased, as pastor of Asbury Church, Wilmington, Delaware; Trinity, Chester; Sanctuary, Haddington, supernumerary three years, Roxborough. In 1876 he was transferred by Bishop Haven to the Colorado Conference, in hope that his shattered health might be restored, but being unable to go he was retransferred to this Conference. His appointment was effectually revoked by the "chief Shepherd," who called him to the higher and still more congenial service of the Church triumphant.

In 1866 Brother Mast was united in marriage to Miss Ellen Benson, who was called home in February, 1870, leaving to the care of our brother two children, one of whom soon followed her to the skies, while the other still survives to mourn her loss. Brother Mast was never very robust physically, otherwise he would have been regarded as a prince among preachers. He had all the other requisites of an orator—a keen, well-disciplined mind, a lively fancy, thorough culture, ready utterance, and a soul intensely in earnest. He was noted for the modesty that ever accompanies genuine worth. He labored assiduously to qualify himself for the highest usefulness in the Church, then left it to others to discern his fitness to go up higher. The estimate of his character, as a Christian minister, is indicated by the fact that he was, by request, twice re-appointed to charges which he had previously served. He was not erratic enough for a genius. He had not appreciation enough for "the things that are seen and temporal" to court popularity with the masses. He was a man of God, "an Israelite in whom there was no guile;" an affectionate son, a devoted husband, a judicious father, a true friend, a faithful minister, "a workman that needeth not to be ashamed," an indefatigable pastor, a consistent Christian. We have had lives that spoke more loudly in the ear of mortals, but few so eloquent in the ear of God, or that will gain a larger measure of the "well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

4. John Price Durbin was born in Bourbon County, Kentucky, A.D. 1800. He was of Methodist parentage, his grandfather having been one of the pioneers of the Church in Kentucky. His early life was spent on a Kentucky farm, amid the simplicity of agricultural pursuits, and surrounded by the beauties of nature. In his eighteenth year his conversion took place. His religious experience was not of a demonstrative character, but silent, gentle, clear. To a friend, a short time before his decease, when allusion was made to his religious state, he remarked, "I never have much joy, but I have very firm faith." While hesitating as to whether he should join the Church he was seized with a deep conviction that it was his duty to become a preacher. One day, when in this undetermined state, his grandfather startled him by saying, "John, are you not concerned about preaching the Gospel?" This confirmed his own conviction and decided his course. Immediately he united with the Church, and in a week more the Quarterly Conference licensed him to preach, and the presiding elder at once sent him to the Limestone Circuit. So he started out in his eighteenth year, and, it is said, that even in his early ministry, he held his audiences by his strange spell, and thrilled them with his electric bursts of surprising eloquence. But in a short time, on account of his vehement style of delivery, his health failed and his voice became broken. Without power to preach, he left his circuit and returned home. His ministry seemed ended; but at this critical moment, when he might forever have abandoned the pulpit and turned his attention to some other pursuit, a friend advised him to go into the cabins of the colored people, and, sitting down by their fireside, talk to them on the subject of religion, and encouraged him to hope that through this exercise his strength of voice would gradually return. He followed this advice, and in six months his voice became powerful enough to be heard over very large congregations. Perhaps this practice formed that happy conversational style which was so peculiar to him. He again began to preach regularly. About this time the "Old Western Conference" was divided, and in 1820 he entered the Ohio Conference, and was sent to Greenville Circuit. The circuit contained about one hundred members, and extended some two hundred miles through a wilderness in which the red man still roved. Up to this time his education had been exceedingly limited and imperfect. He had learned something in the rude district school, but he had not been favored with academic instruction, and the only lectures on theology he had heard were the practical discourses delivered by the earnest Methodist pioneer preachers who had reached his neighborhood. His real education began with his entrance upon his ministry in Ohio. During the day the saddle or the quiet of the forest was his study, while at night he prosecuted his theological studies in the cabins of his members, the flames from burning pine-knots lighting up the pages he perused. Here he borrowed Clarke's Commentary, his first book of study, and during this year, in his diligent and thorough research, he transcribed almost the entire Pentateuch and New Testament. The next year (1821) he was stationed at Lawrenceburgh, Indiana. Rev. James Collord, his colleague, now directed his attention to the study of English grammar, and in a short time he committed the most of it to memory while riding the circuit on his horse. Soon after he attracted the attention of Dr. Martin Ruter, who advised him to study Latin and Greek, and furnished him with the grammars of these languages; and these also he memorized. In 1822 he was ordained deacon, and sent to Hamilton and Roseville, in Ohio. He was now about twelve miles from Oxford, the seat of the Miami University. This was his golden opportunity, and, notwithstanding some unwise opposition on the part of the official members of his charge, he embraced it, and entered as a student in the University, going to the University on Monday and returning to his circuit on Friday evening of each week. In 1823 he was sent to Zanesville, Ohio, and in 1824 was ordained elder, and stationed at Lebanon, Ohio. Here, again, he enjoyed the valuable counsels of the scholarly Ruter. The year after (1825) he was sent to Cincinnati. Here he entered the Cincinnati College, completed his college studies, and, as a special reward of his diligence and thorough scholarship, he was not required to take first the degree of A.B., but was at once admitted to the degree of Master of Arts, thus securing a full collegiate education amid the toils and changes of the itinerancy. But these years of activity in the pulpit and in the study had prepared him for broader fields of usefulness. After having been about seven years in the ministry he was elected Professor of Languages in Augusta College, Ky. This position he held two years. His health failing, it was thought he would regain strength more rapidly by refraining from teaching, and, instead, to travel as agent for the college. In behalf of the college he twice visited the eastern cities. His first appearance in the East, in 1828, was a failure, but a year after, in the same places, he carried his audiences captive. In 1829, during his second visit to the East, he was nominated for the chaplaincy of the United States Senate. The vote was a tie, and John C. Calhoun, who occupied the chair, gave the casting vote against him, but upon receiving fuller information concerning the nominee regretted his action, and sent for him and apologized. In 1830 his appointment was that of agent and professor in Augusta College. His eloquence made him famous, and soon his name was sufficient to call together thousands. Hence it does not create much surprise to find that, in 1831, he was elected Chaplain of the United States Senate. The Senate of those days, made up of such orators as the graceful Clay, the acute Calhoun, and the massive Webster, was no ordinary body, yet the young preacher won the admiration of them all. In 1832 he was Professor of Natural History in Augusta College. He was also, in 1832, elected Professor of Natural Sciences in the Wesleyan University, at Middletown, Connecticut, but resigned in the same year upon his election to the editorship of the "Christian Advocate and Journal," in New York. This position he held about two years. In 1834 he was elected to the Presidency of Dickinson College, at Carlisle, Pa. This college was at that time reorganized under Methodistic control, and the election was so unanimous and enthusiastic that he accepted the position. In 1834 he was transferred to the New York Conference. In 1836 his name appears on the list of the Philadelphia Conference, of which Conference he remained a member until his decease.

Brother Durbin's life is closely connected with the educational development of the Church, and it would be difficult to overestimate his influence as a promoter of the cause of liberal culture. When he was born there was not a Methodist college in America, though one had been twice established and twice destroyed by fire. In 1820, the very year when he entered the regular ministry, the General Conference recommended that all the Annual Conferences should establish seminaries within their boundaries. There were a couple of academies, but not one full college under Methodist control; yet, fourteen years afterward, when he became President of Dickinson College, there were six colleges, besides a number of seminaries, which had sprung up in about ten years, and when he died the combined Methodism of the United States had nearly two hundred institutions of learning. He was elected to the General Conference of 1844, and took a prominent part in the contest on the question of slavery, which culminated in the secession of the Southern States and in the formation of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He displayed great ability in his reply to Bishop Soule, and in the rejoinder to the protest of the Southern party. At this General Conference, and more than once afterward, many desired his elevation to the episcopal office, but he was not chosen, chiefly, it is said, because of his own disfavor toward his election. He had the rare honor of being a member of seven General Conferences successively, covering a period of twenty-eight years; and the Philadelphia Conference never ceased to honor him with election as a delegate until advanced age and increasing infirmities made it impossible for him to attend to the duties of the office. On all great questions his judgment and voice never failed to command respect. In Church affairs he has been called a "prudent progressive," combining caution and progressiveness. This he displayed in his advocacy of Lay Representation, of which he was one of the earliest friends. After serving for eleven years as president of Dickinson College, he resigned and returned to the pastorate, and during 1845 and 1846 was pastor of Union Church, Philadelphia, and in 1847 and 1848 of Trinity Church, Philadelphia. In 1849 he was appointed presiding elder of the North Philadelphia District, but remained in this position only one year. In 1850 Dr. Charles Pitman, Corresponding Secretary of the Missionary Society, failed in health, and the Board of Bishops unanimously called Dr. Durbin to fill the vacancy. The next General Conference (1852) confirmed the appointment, as he seemed, of all men, the best fitted for the place. His travels had prepared him to appreciate the needs of the world; his former executive experience fitted him for the management of affairs; his great prominence and popularity insured him a hearing for his cause, while his eloquence stirred the hearts of the people and called forth liberal giving. In this department he displayed great planning power and marvelous mastery of detail. He systematized the work, and called into being a host of auxiliary societies. He gave a mighty impetus to the liberality of the Church, and created such enthusiasm that the Church entered upon a new era of princely contributions. This was the supreme work of his life for the Church. For it he lived, preached, wrote, and delivered addresses. Around his burning conviction and enthusiastic zeal men from all parts of the country gathered to kindle anew the flame of their devotion to the sacred cause of the world's conversion and elevation. When he took the management of the Society its receipts were $100,000, but before he retired they amounted to about $700,000 in a single year. Then the Church had a mission in Liberia, and had just established one in China. Under him the missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church extended into China, India, Germany, Switzerland, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Bulgaria, Italy, and South America. In 1872 the burden of advancing years became so heavy that he considered the time had come for him to commit to younger men the responsibilities he had been carrying for more than a score of years. The General Conference of that year accepted his resignation, but desiring to express its grateful appreciation for his past services, and to retain his valuable counsels, elected him Honorary Secretary of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Then one who for more than a half century had been prominently before the public withdrew from active life, and in his few remaining years seldom appeared in the pulpit or on the public platform. He soon became very feeble in body, but, up to the last, retained that peculiar gentleness which was one of his charms in conversation. At last, on the 18th of October, 1876, at his home in New York city, and surrounded by his children and his children's children, after a serene and happy old age, he was stricken with paralysis, and his spirit softly ascended from the transitory greatness of earth to the eternal glories of heaven.

5. JOHN JENNINGS was born in Northamptonshire, Eng., April 28, 1846. His mother died when he was only ten weeks old, and his father when he was about eight years of age. At the age of twenty he was converted, and two weeks thereafter preached his first sermon. Three months subsequently he joined the Wesleyan Connection. He soon became a local preacher, and was put upon the circuit plan. He was also regularly employed as a home missionary in the town of Sheffield, and the various records of his diary show that he was abundant in labors. At a place called Redhill, where he preached every Sabbath evening, on nearly every occasion souls were awakened and brought to Christ. Referring to his last Sabbath on the circuit he said: "In the evening I preached for the last time at Redhill, the room being crowded to excess. My pen fails to describe my feelings. Such manifestations of God's power to save I never before witnessed. Sinners of the deepest dye, old persons and young, rejoiced in a sin-pardoning God. In the prayer-meeting I sat down and wept, exclaiming, 'What hath God wrought!'"

About five years ago Brother Jennings left his native land for Canada, where he labored about eighteen months. Having heard, through relatives, of Rev. W. C. Robinson, then pastor of Wharton-street M. E. Church, and having a desire to visit Philadelphia, he went thither, and at once sought the home of Brother Robinson. He was cordially received, and a field of labor was secured for him on Lima Circuit, under the supervision of the presiding elder of Chester District. For two years and seven months he toiled on this circuit, and with marked success. He was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference last spring, and stationed at the Belmont Methodist Episcopal Church, in West Philadelphia, where he labored with his usual earnestness to promote the cause of God. His services were highly appreciated by the people, and he was held in great esteem. With the opening of the year he began a series of revival meetings, which resulted in the conversion of thirty souls. But excessive efforts, together with his conference studies, proved too great a task for his strength. On Sabbath morning, February 11, though scarcely able to attend the sanctuary, he essayed to preach, but it was with extreme difficulty. This was his last sermon. He returned home exhausted, and did not leave the house again until he was carried away for burial. During the week his disease culminated in paralysis of the brain. He became unconscious, and so remained, with but short lucid intervals, until half-past one o'clock on Monday morning, February 19. "While it was yet dark" his happy spirit passed out into the light of eternal day, into "the glory of God and the Lamb."

Brother Jennings "was a good man, full of the Holy Ghost and of faith," and thoroughly devoted to the work of the ministry. He was an excellent preacher, a good pastor, a hard student, and an industrious worker. Though "a stranger in a strange land," away from home and kindred, he was not without friends, who ministered faithfully to his necessities; but, best of all, he had with him the "Friend that sticketh closer than a brother." "He rests from his labors."

John D. Blain.

JOHN D. BLAIN was born in Kingston, New Jersey, February 24, 1819. He was converted at a camp-meeting near Asbury, New Jersey, in 1835. In 1841 he traveled, under the presiding elder, Nyack Circuit, and the following year was admitted on probation in Newark Conference and sent to Newton Circuit. He subsequently served Port Jervis, Milford, Rockaway, (where, in 1845, he married Miss Mary Rose,) Belleville, Newark, (Clinton-street,) and New Brunswick. In April, 1852, he was sent to California to assist in laying the foundations of Methodism on the Pacific coast. From June to October he was at Grass Valley, when he was appointed presiding elder of Sacramento District. From 1854 until September, 1857, he was on San Francisco District. In 1856 he was sent to General Conference. September, 1857, he was sent to Sacramento District for one year. Here he buried the wife of his youth, who left him one child, who to-day, with a bitter sense of loneliness, mourns the departure of her father. In 1858 he served Marysville, and in 1859–60 Sacramento City. Here he found a suitable and faithful companion, who has since shared his joys and sorrows, and to-day mourns, but not without hope. 1861–63, Howard-street, San Francisco. 1864, Central Church and the Mission, and in 1865 he returned East in impaired health. After his arrival, before entering the regular work, he supplied Washington Heights, and was agent for the National Temperance Society and our Conference Seminary.

In 1872 he resumed pastoral work amid the associates of his ministry in the Newark Conference. He served Belleville and Roseville each two years. His health declining, he took a superannuated relation last spring. July 18, after an illness of nearly twelve months, he entered into the rest which remaineth for the people of God.

John D. Blain was a Christian gentleman, endowed with a high and delicate sense of honor and courtesy. His affable and courteous manner was a proverb among his brethren. He was thoroughly conscientious. He had a tender heart, full of human sympathy, which always threw him on the side of the oppressed and injured and erring. He was one of the most successful pastors in our Conference. He reached the influential in and out of the Church, and laid them under contribution to its benevolences, commanding their respect and love, while the humblest and most discouraged opened their hearts to him and felt that he was their friend. The poor clung to him, and little children loved him. He was a man of fine business enterprise and judgment. Wherever he went he inspired the people with the spirit of church improvement. Nothing afflicted him so much as to find a parsonage or church neglected or dilapidated. He has left a great record in this direction, especially in California. In the city of San Francisco he built Howard-street, Central Church, and the Mission Church. His preaching was practical, full of common-sense, instructive, and fresh, without much ornament. He was a great reader, and kept himself well informed concerning modern thought. Hence he was thoroughly posted on all the current affairs of the times. He was a devoted Methodist, and loved his Church best, because he believed it to be the grandest system, both in doctrine and economy, for evangelizing the world; and yet he was generous and catholic toward all who were trying to love and serve God under other forms. He was politic in the eyes of some almost to a fault; but if he was all things to all men, it was that he might win them to Christ. He avoided making chasms between himself and the people he wanted to save. He drew people very near to him, and yet he was fearless when he stood for the right or in defense of the injured. He loved his ministerial brethren, and always spoke well of them. Others might look for their defects; he always found some redeeming quality. How often I have heard him say in his familiar way, "Well, doctor, that brother has had much trouble and difficulty. He labors under embarrassments that you and I have never known. We must help him. Our business is to save men, not destroy them." He was a true friend. Never betrayed one's confidence; never hesitated when he could serve one. Highest and best of all, he was a true Christian. He has gone to his reward without any stain upon his personal or official character. His life would have been a sufficient testimony without any last words. But these were not wanting. His dying hours were luminous with the manifestation of Christ's power to save. Said he, "I am waiting at the gate. It is all right." At another time he said, "My feet are on the rock; I am testing what I have preached so long. I am at the crossing. There is no darkness." To his brethren of the Conference he said, "Tell them Methodism is to be worked, not doctored."

Thos. Newman, Marvin Richardson, John Davies, William Goss, Joseph Whittaker, John K. Still, Edwin Clement, Uriah Messiter—8.

1. THOMAS NEWMAN was born in Stamford, Fairfield County, Conn., November 1, 1800, and died in Fulton, Oswego County, N. Y., May 1, 1876, aged seventy-six years and six months. At the age of sixteen he gave his heart to God, and his name and life to the Methodist Episcopal Church. While a member of the Forsyth-street Church, New York, in 1829, he was licensed to preach. He was admitted on trial in the New York Conference in 1831, and appointed as follows: Saratoga, Saratoga, (Troy Conference,) Chatham, Marbletown, (New York Conference,) New Windsor, Sugar Loaf; supernumerary two years; Montgomery, New Paltz and Plattekill, Sugar Loaf, Ellenville; supernumerary one year, Monroe, and again supernumerary four years. In 1856 his health had so generally failed that he felt himself obliged to ask for a superannuated relation, which was granted, and in which he continued until his death.

In the earliest part of Brother Newman's ministry he enjoyed pretty vigorous health, and was active and effective in his labors. He was of a nervous temperament, and usually put his whole strength of body and mind into his pulpit efforts; and, possibly, the overstrain of his nervous system tended to break down his health prematurely. Although early compelled to retire from the effective ranks he was not idle, but was often in the pulpit and the social service of the Church, preaching and laboring as his health would allow. This was especially the case when a supernumerary on the Monroe Circuit, he being the principal actor in conducting a revival in his own neighborhood, which followed the New Windsor camp-meeting held in 1854. In 1855 he moved out of the boundaries of his conference, and up to 1875 lived in the towns of Oswego and Granby Center, Oswego Co., New York. In the latter year he changed his residence to Fulton. Here, after a residence of a single year, he died, in the full assurance of the glorious reward of a true and faithful life.

Brother Newman was a good preacher, a faithful pastor, a conscientious disciplinarian. He is most affectionately remembered by those who enjoyed most of his labors in the cause of Christ and his Church. His faithfulness in his own family was not less than his fidelity to the Church. All his children were early converted, and have remained steadfast in the cause of Christ. Toward the close of his life, as its cares and activities were passing out of his power, his love for his colaborers was greatly intensified, so that a few days before his death he said, "Aside from my family I never expect to find any society this side of heaven that I love as I do the society of Methodist preachers."

He has found a great company of those he so well loved on the other side of the river to greet and welcome him to a blessed reunion in rest and joy eternal.

2. MARVIN RICHARDSON, D. D., who, at his decease, was the oldest member of the New York Conference, died at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 14, 1876, aged eighty-seven years and four days. He was born in Stephentown, Rensselaer County, N. Y., June 10, 1789. When quite a youth he came with his parents to the city of Brooklyn, and attended the old Sands-street Church. He has furnished his own record of his early religious experience as follows: "In the fall of 1805 I was awakened to a sense of my lost and undone condition, and bowed humbly at the foot of the cross seeking pardon and peace. I continued a sincere mourner until the May following, at which time I attended a camp-meeting at Tuckahoe, Westchester County. Here I gladly embraced the opportunity offered for a continuance of my efforts to obtain the favor of God. The night was long, but the day at length broke, and the sun of righteousness poured his glorious beams upon my troubled spirit. The change wrought in me was great. My bonds were broken, my chains fell off, and I came forth into the full liberty of the children of God. 'Glory to God!' I cried. All nature around me seemed to praise the Lord. I was, indeed, a new creature in Christ Jesus. This was on the morning of the 10th of May, between ten and eleven o'clock."

He at once united with the Sands-street Methodist Episcopal Church. The following year he was appointed class-leader, and soon became greatly exercised as to his call to the ministry. He made known his convictions to his pastor, and was overwhelmed by an announcement from the pulpit on the succeeding Sabbath that Marvin Richardson would preach in that church the following Thursday evening. He came, and preached his first sermon from Matt. xvi, 24. He was licensed to preach at the ensuing Quarterly Conference, and on the 1st of October, 1808, was appointed by the presiding elder to fill a vacancy on Croton Circuit. He was admitted into the New York Conference in the spring of 1809, and continued a member thereof until his death, a period of sixty-seven years. He received his regular appointment as an effective minister forty-two consecutive years, of which fourteen were spent on circuits, thirteen on stations, and fifteen as presiding elder on districts. He was a member of eight successive General Conferences from 1820 to 1852. The records of his Conference show his regular attendance at its annual gatherings, without interruption or failure, for over sixty years, and his first failure, which was by reason of sickness, was one of the painful disappointments of his life.

Marvin Richardson was a coworker with those men who, in their early ministry, enjoyed the luxuries of long, weary days of travel on horseback through forests, fording rivers, sleeping in log huts, with beds often covered with snow, preaching from six to ten times a week, and winding up the year's toil with empty pockets and threadbare garments, but with a harvest of souls. The record of his life is without a blot or stain; a record of early and deep religious experience, of consistent piety, of ardent love to God and the Church, of a successful ministry, and at the close a record of "patient waiting" and "holy triumph;" a "man of God" in every sense of the word, an Israelite indeed, in whom there was no guile. Tender in his regard for the feelings and reputation, genial in spirit, ardent in affection, with childlike simplicity of manner, he multiplied and perpetuated the most endearing friendships. He was a man of strong convictions, but well regulated by the power of Divine grace, ever fearing lest he err in judgment or by any means give offense. He was a preacher of marked excellence, being gifted with a power and pathos that was ever a living testimony that he was called and sent of God. His preaching in the pulpit was an inspiration, a magnetic power that convinced the judgment, awakened the conscience, melted the heart, brought the sinner into humble submission to the divine will, and stimulated God's people to faith and good works. The secret of his success was God's "holy anointing;" his gift of power the baptism of the Holy Ghost. To see him on bended knee, and hear the frequent earnest whispers of his prayers, one would conclude that he found a Peniel in the every-day pilgrimage of his life. The last three years he lived were years of great bodily suffering; yet amid all his religious experience was calm, sweet, abiding. He rested in Christ. The day prior to his death, in response to the inquiry of a brother if all was bright beyond, he, with marked emphasis, exclaimed, "Yes, all is bright! Glory to God! I have no fear." To the last reason held its sway, and his "exit" was a sleep, calm and quiet as the sleep of an infant. The gates of the city of God opened to him. He was all ready and more than willing to enter in.

3. John Davies was born in Liverpool, Eng., March 5, 1799. His early associations were with the Wesleyan Methodists, and at the age of nine years he experienced religion, and entered upon his life's work of devotion to God. At the age of eighteen he was "put on the Plan"—as it is called among the Wesleyans—as a local preacher, and in this capacity he continued to labor until he came to this country. He was a diligent student in the first years of his active itinerant ministry. Perhaps there were but few among us more thoroughly read in Wesleyan theology, biography, and general literature. He was always ready and instructive when the "Life and Times of Wesley" and the great names and events of Methodism were the subjects of conversation. With the lives and work, the trials and triumphs, of the older preachers he was very familiar; and being possessed of a large store of Wesleyan anecdotes, his companionship was always agreeable and entertaining. In the year 1827 he came to the city of New York, and united with the Forsyth-street Methodist Episcopal Church, and labored with much zeal to bring men to Christ. The Quarterly Conference of this Church gave him license to preach. He now began, with a few other persons, to visit the prisons and almshouses, and was the first to commence religious services in that portion of the city known as the Five Points. In 1832 he removed to Yorkville. There being no religious organization in the place, he felt constrained to establish one, and immediately fitted the second story of his residence for a place of worship. Here he gathered a few Methodist families residing in the village, and organized a class, and established a preaching appointment, which was soon thereafter embraced in the Harlem Circuit. His first appointment under the presiding elder was in Williamsburgh, and the small church in which he ministered stood on the corner of North Second and Fifth streets, where he labored one year. In 1836 he was received on trial in the New York Conference and sent to the Reading Circuit, and from this time on for twenty-five years he received his fields of labor from the appointing power cheerfully, and in the spirit of the fathers, as from the Lord. These appointments were not stations, but circuits, many of them large and uninviting, requiring much travel, many hardships, and affording but little pay. The itinerant life of Brother Davies was spent in these fields of toil. His appointments were as follows: Westport, Yonkers, Delaware Mission, Middletown, Kortright, Saugerties, Woodstock, Egremont, South Lee, West Stockbridge and Richmond, Mellenville, Beaverkill, Harvard, and North Branch. In all these circuits God honored his servant by giving success to his labors, and the people respected and trusted him.

Brother Davies, as a preacher, believed the truths he preached; they were to him a reality. He knew by experience what it was to repent, to trust in Christ, to have fellowship with God, and to hope in his promises. Hence his zeal was ardent, his manner sincere and entreating, while promptness characterized all his movements. These qualities gave him much success in winning souls to Christ. In brief, he was a man of God and a friend to man, while his character and life furnish a bright example of Christian faith and hope. His last sickness was brief. "On June 25," says his pastor, Rev. William J. Robinson, "he assisted me in the administration of the Lord's supper. On the evening of the next day he was taken violently ill, and such was the violence of the attack that four physicians were called to his relief, and all was done that skill and affection could do; but he sank under the prostrating power of the disease, and on Sunday morning, July 2, at a quarter to four o'clock, he passed away without a struggle or a sigh. At my first visit to his bedside, after prayer, I said, 'Father Davies, are you trusting in the blessed Gospel you have preached to others?' 'O yes,' was his reply; and he then repeated these words:—

> 'Jesus, lover of my soul,
> Let me to thy bosom fly.'

After a consultation by the physicians, Sister John Davies approached him, and, knowing what had taken place, he asked, 'What is the result?' She replied, 'You are sinking, and cannot recover. Have you any thing special to say to mother?' He said, 'No.' She asked again, 'Does the Gospel you have preached to others sustain you?' He replied, 'O yes.' Again she asked, 'Are you resting in Jesus?' His reply was, 'Yes.' He then repeated the same words he did to me, 'Jesus, lover of my soul,' etc. Soon after he became unconscious, and remained in that state until he fell asleep in Jesus."

4. William Goss, presiding elder of Poughkeepsie District, New York Conference, died at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., September 26, 1876.

He was born in Fulton, Schoharie County, N. Y., August 31, 1822. His parents were devout members of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was from early childhood a gentle, obedient, and affectionate boy. His mother said of him, "William never gave me any trouble." Until his twenty-first year he lived at home with his parents, working most of the time upon his father's farm, at which age he was happily converted at Summit, N. Y. Afterward, for several years, he pursued his studies, and taught a select school in Western New York. One year was spent in the State of Michigan. But feeling that God had called him to the work of the ministry, he was anxious and troubled. Returning to the parental home, his father offered him a part of his farm if he would settle down. Shrinking from his call to a higher work, he began preparations for building a house. The unfinished cellar is still there. He heeded the call of God, left all, and followed Christ. He entered the ministry of the Church in 1850, and for twenty-six years has been a faithful worker in the Master's vineyard. His appointments were as follows: Franklin, Prattsville, Durham, Coeyman's Hollow, Windham, Hobart, Greenville, Coeyman's, Prattsville District, Saint John's Church, (New York City,) Ellenville District, Poughkeepsie District. In all these charges are left precious fruits of his ministry, and sweet memorials of his wisdom and zeal. To a careful observer there was an evident failure of strength and loss of vitality by our departed brother for many months, yet he relaxed none of his former efforts. During the fervent heat of the past summer he preached three times on the Sabbath, and frequently on week days, with constantly diminishing strength. Together with the care of more than sixty Churches and extended official correspondence, this had worn away, almost imperceptibly to himself, the strength of a stalwart man, and made him an easy prey to the destroyer. His worn and exhausted appearance was manifest to all, and quite awakened the apprehensions of many. He was entreated to rest, but his devotion to his work and the constant demands pressing upon him urged him on. Returning from camp-meeting on September 1, he found a pressing call for his official action, and the next day hastened away to meet the demands of the Churches. This was the last public work of a faithful man of God. He came home sick, and three short weeks ended his pilgrimage. Too much friction had "loosened the silver cord and broken the wheel at the cistern." It was not until the Saturday before his death that his family felt serious alarm. Then his disease suddenly assumed a new form, awakening grave apprehensions. In the evening he began to sink. Ere the morning a ministerial brother was at his bedside. He took him by the hand and said, "It is all right." His friends thought him dying. He said, "I am not dying just yet; I don't feel that I am." To waiting friends he said, "I do not know but it is a good time to die; I have done about what I could in the ministry. I am not afraid of death; I have attended to the preparation for that before, but on account of my family I would like to live." Never was he seen more composed or self-possessed. He said, "If I die now I die a martyr to my work. I did not mean to kill myself. I thought I could go through it. I have no fears of the result. For months past I have had such views of the great atonement by Christ that I have been greatly comforted. I never loved my work more or enjoyed it better, yet there is nothing I ever did that I can trust to; my life has been very imperfect, but the Saviour comes in to balance the account. I had rather be a Methodist preacher than Senator or President of the United States. Tell the preachers I love them very much; I have enjoyed the society of the ministers. It has been a great pleasure to mingle with them. Tell them not to be too anxious about their appointments; not to be afraid of the hard places. God will take care of them if they work for him. Tell them to keep out of politics; to keep clear of intrigue; of trying to set up one at the expense of another; of trying to gain position by management. Let them do their work faithfully, and God will bless them. After all, it is the average man that builds up the Church—the plodding, hard-working ministers that succeed. They are the strength of the Church." To his family he left this comforting message: "I love you all very much, but I am not afraid to die. If I go now, I will stand on the shore and help you over."

The other shore is reached, and there, in the "exceeding glory," with the spirits of the just made perfect, amid the beatitudes of the heavenly life, he awaits our coming. As the end drew near he said, with great emphasis, "There is a glorious rest beyond the river. I know it is so, for I have felt it." During the day on Monday his strength was gradually failing. He slept much of the time. In the evening he was gently drifting out from the shore. His eyesight was failing, and his attention could be recalled only for a moment, but he still recognized his friends. At ten o'clock in the evening, wishing to get a last expression from him, the question was asked, "Brother Goss, is there light ahead?" His clear, distinct answer, "It is all right," was the last utterance that came back to us from the vale of death. The breathing grew fainter, and a little after one o'clock on Tuesday morning, so quietly that the last moment could scarcely be detected, he entered into rest.

Brother Goss was an unambitious man, never seeking ease, or place, or office. Yet he has been ten years a presiding elder, and twice elected by his brethren to a seat in the General Conference. As a friend he was sincere and constant—not lavish in compliments, but true and faithful. He was unostentatious, and loyal to his convictions. He was a judicious administrator, cautious, discreet, kind, reliable, but determined and fearless. There was with him a remarkable self-poise. This command of self has won him many a victory. He was what he seemed; "I hate a sham," was his emphatic utterance. He was deliberate, clear, Methodistic, argumentative, and convincing, as a preacher, and his sermons were carefully wrought out. Their effect was permanent. The edge of the truth was not blunted. The Gospel in his hands was diluted by no philosophical or speculative admixtures. It was the old thunder of Sinai, the touching pathos of the cross. If it was not brilliant, it was better—truthful and solid. His was steady industry, tireless, lifelong—not impulse, not genius, not rhapsody, not magnetism, but uniform, persistent hard work. For more than a quarter of a century there has been no respite, no relaxation, no turning aside. The legitimate work of the ministry occupied and consumed him. Greaved and helmeted, sword in hand, he has fallen amid his work and workmen while it was yet noon. How quick the transition! How glorious! The golden sheaves reaped by his sharp sickle are yet standing on all the fields of his toil. His ministry has been one of success.

5. JOSEPH WHITTAKER was born in Yorkshire, England, May 24, 1823, and died in Kingston, New York, December 14, 1876, in the fifty-fourth year of his age. He was blessed with pious parents, and their prayers and early instructions did much in shaping his future course in life. Like Josiah, "while he was yet young he began to seek after the God of his fathers," and when about fourteen was happily converted, and soon after joined the Primitive Methodist Church. It soon became evident that God had a special work for him to do, and his name was entered on the circuit plan—first as an exhorter, and afterward as a local preacher. In this capacity he labored very acceptably until his twentieth year, when he came to this country. On his arrival here he commenced preaching, as opportunity offered, in New York and Brooklyn. In February, 1844, he was married to Miss Dorothy Tibball, of Williamsburgh, New York, and in the fall removed to Norwich, Conn., and united with the Wesleyan Church there. In the spring of 1845 he took charge of the Leyden and Charlemont Circuit, where he labored for the year, after which he returned to Norwich. In 1849 he was ordained elder, and sent to Liberty Circuit, in Sullivan County, N. Y. In the fall of 1850 he moved to Kingston, N. Y., to supply the pulpit in that place, and by his labors there the little Wesleyan Chapel was built. In the spring of 1851 he located, and remained in Kingston, working at his trade and preaching occasionally. The next spring the Wesleyan Conference met in the little chapel. Near the close Brother Whittaker declared his intention of withdrawing from the Conference and the Wesleyan Church, assigning as a reason his conviction that he could do more good, and that a larger field of usefulness presented itself, in the Methodist Episcopal Church. His request was granted. Very soon after he was employed by the presiding elder, Dr. A. M. Osbon, to supply Eddyville, and was continued there the next year. In the spring of 1855 he joined the New York Conference, and was stationed at Andes and Bovina. His successive appointments were as follows: Livingstonville, Summit, Prattsville, Lexington, Cloversville, Bloomville, Woodstock, Napanock, supernumerary one year, superannuated one year, Ridgebury, supernumerary one year, superannuated one year. At the Conference in 1875, though in feeble health, his desire was so great to be in the active work that he was again made effective and sent to Shandaken, and last spring was reappointed to that charge. He returned from the last Conference to his work, hoping to be able to prosecute it, and with a determined will, by the grace of God, to do all he could for the Master. He was, however, very soon prostrated by a serious illness, and, after twice attempting to preach, was compelled to leave his work. He consulted skillful physicians in Brooklyn and Philadelphia as to the nature of his disease and the remedies to be used, but no prescriptions afforded any permanent relief. About the first of October last he moved with his family to Kingston. Soon after he grew worse, and began more rapidly to decline. A physician was called, who, after a few days of most careful examination and study, pronounced the disease cancer in the stomach, and subsequent revelations proved his decision correct. When informed by the physician as to the nature and final result of his disease, he said to the writer, "It is all right; my books are all posted; my accounts are all settled. I am resting on the atonement, and find that the plain old doctrines of Methodism which I have tried to preach for so many years comfort and support me now; and it is this plain old Gospel that is to save the world." At another time he said, "My spiritual wants are met, my temporal wants are all supplied, and I feel more like praise than prayer. Tell my brethren I am lingering on the banks of Jordan, patiently waiting for the command of God to pass over. I feel that all is right: it is all clear beyond." His sufferings were indescribable, yet no murmur escaped his lips. The promise, "As thy day so shall thy strength be," was quoted to him during a paroxysm of pain, and he at once replied, "Yes, yes, I find that verified all the time." Said he, "I have no trouble about dying, and I am very glad of it. I could not attend to the preparation for death now, for no one but the Lord and myself know what I suffer." He retained his mental faculties to the last. Though for weeks before his death it was quite an effort for him to talk, yet he was always ready to give the most positive and satisfactory answers to questions concerning his religious enjoyments and abiding trust in Christ. Several hours before his departure it was evident that the last struggle was near. Death had already taken the outposts, and was preparing for the final attack upon the citadel of life. No one was more conscious of it than he, none so joyous at the fact. As water was brought to wet his parched lips he said, "One more draught, and it is finished." A brother said to him, "You will soon have the living water." He answered, "I have it now; halleluia!" and, looking upon the circle of weeping friends, he shouted, "Let all praise," and asked them to "sing of heaven." Soon came the parting scene—to each of his dear ones the last clasp of the hand, the last kiss of affection, the last farewell uttered, the last look of recognition given. His soul was in ecstasy, and, slowly raising his emaciated finger, he pointed upward, and as the glories of the spirit-world began to dawn upon his enraptured vision, with a face all radiant with heavenly light, he shouted, "Up! up!" while angels "quick conveyed his soul to heaven."

In the death of Brother Whittaker it may be truly said that a good man has departed. In the pulpit he was plain, practical, earnest, and successful. Fruit was gathered from his labors in all his appointments. He was often mighty in prayer, and, gifted in exhortation, moved the audience with his thrilling appeals. He was a diligent pastor, a kind, affectionate husband, father, and brother, prized and loved most by those who knew him best. "The righteous shall be in everlasting remembrance." His rest is glorious.

6. JOHN KLINE STILL was born of Methodist parentage in the town of New Windsor, Orange County, N. Y., April 16, 1813. At the age of fourteen he was converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which he continued a member until death. At the age of twenty-five he traveled, under one of the presiding elders, in the Troy Conference. In 1840 he was admitted on trial to the New York Conference, of which he remained a member to the last. At the age of twenty-nine he was married to Miss Jane Eaves, who, through his long service and retirement, faithfully and tenderly ministered to his usefulness and comfort, and still remains to mourn her loss. His appointments in the New York Conference were as follows: Watertown, Granby, Cornwall Bridge, Bedford, Putnam Valley, Montgomery, Modena, Rondout, Catskill, Middletown, Liberty, and his health failing in 1855 he was returned superannuated. At the Conference of 1856, on the partial restoration of his health, he was made supernumerary, and as such supplied the Monroe Circuit, in Orange County, for one year, and afterward, for three years, served the New Windsor Circuit. In 1861 he was finally superannuated. Of these long and trying years, part were spent on the homestead at Vail's Gate, and part at Middletown, N. Y., where he died. Wherever he lived and labored he was always ready for every good word and work. His zeal for the temperance reformation burned to the latest hour of his life. His last public services were connected with the Church in Middletown, and his last sermon was preached there, December 24, 1876, on the death of Stephen, from Acts vii, 2. It seems almost as if the text chosen was prophetic of his own approaching, though then unexpected, end. His last exhortation was at the watch-night service held there. It was marked by great interest and impressiveness. His last attendance at the house of God was at the closing union service of the second week of prayer. His last illness was an attack of inflammatory rheumatism; he suffered much but patiently. The disease finally approaching the heart, on February 3, 1877, at half past seven P.M., he breathed his last, at the age of sixty-three years and ten months. His experience throughout was satisfactory. To his pastor, during this last illness, he said, "The all-important thing to every man is to know that he is saved." When his dear and sorrowful companion asked, "Is it all well, John? is the prospect bright?" his answer was, "I long ago gave all to Jesus. The future is glorious. I have no fear. All is bright and clear beyond." So ended his fifty years of membership in the Church of God, and the forty years of his ministry. At evening time it was light. Our brother sleeps well, for he sleeps in Jesus. He has gone to possess the endless rest, and to join the many departed fellow-laborers and loved ones with whom he had been so long and closely associated in the Church below; and the reunion was indeed happy and glorious. As a citizen and as a husband he was faithful and good; as a Christian, humble, conscientious, devout; as a minister, diligent, studious, faithful, and useful. Those who knew him best speak well of him, and esteemed him as a man of integrity, kindness, and fixed religious principle.

7. Edwin Clement died Feb. 20, 1877, in Kiskatom, Greene Co., N. Y. He was born at Red Hook, Dutchess Co., N. Y., April 13, 1832. His parents subsequently removed to Albany County, near Preston Hollow. At the age of nineteen, while a student at the New York Conference Seminary, he sought and publicly confessed Christ. His experience was clear and satisfactory, the "Spirit bearing witness with his spirit that he was a child of God." He at once identified himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church. On his return from school he was at once called to the office of class-leader, in which capacity he served efficiently. He soon began to feel that the Lord had other work for him to do. Duly appreciating the responsibilities of the ministry, he accepted a license to preach. In 1855 he was received on trial in the New York Conference, and in connection therewith served the following appointments: Prattsville, Middletown, North Franklin, Walton, North Blenheim, Margaretville, Lexington, Stamford, Leeds, Hunter, Kiskatom. On all these fields of labor he enjoyed a good degree of prosperity, and was greatly beloved by the people. Some of them were hard fields to cultivate, but he always went to his work cheerfully and in the name of the Lord. For a year or more previous to his death his health had been feeble. Suffering with lung difficulty, he found it necessary to use great prudence in the prosecution of his work. A few weeks before his last prostration he seemed somewhat improved in health, and hoped to be able to take work another year. On the last Sunday he preached he tried his voice more than usual, and felt, as he thought, no ill effects from it; he was even congratulated by his physician on the improvement in the strength of his voice, when he remarked, "I know I am better." That was his last Sabbath day's work.

It was our brother's privilege to care for his widowed mother during the last year of his life. She preceded him to the spirit-world by only ten days. During her sickness he was again partially prostrated. While her remains yet lay in the parsonage he was called upon to attend the funeral of a member of his Church. It was thought imprudent for him to attempt the service, but so thoroughly impressed was he that it was his duty that nothing could prevent him. He desired to do a little more work for Jesus, and made the remark that the sermon would be heard from in eternity. It was necessary that he should have assistance in getting to the church, so feeble was he. The sermon was one of unusual unction. Returning to his home he took to his bed, and it soon became evident that his end was near. When informed that his doctor thought he could live but a few days he expressed no surprise, no fear, but at once commenced to make preparations for his departure as composedly as though entering upon some every-day duty. His thoughtfulness was wonderful; nothing escaped his notice, every item receiving attention. He made all necessary preparation for his funeral, designated the place where he wished to be buried, and especially requested that the services be simple and without display. Henceforth his thoughts seemed to be no more occupied with the things of earth. His work was done, and the time for his departure was at hand. Of his brethren in the ministry he spoke kindly, saying, "Tell my brethren of the Conference I have loved them all. My memories of them are very pleasant, especially my associations with the members and presiding elder of my own district; and I firmly believe that the office of presiding elder ought to be sustained. I never wished to leave the Prattsville District to take an appointment in any other. Tell Brother Gorse that a higher power than his has removed me to a station beyond, and it is all right." A brother visiting him said, "You can say, with Bishop Janes, 'I am not disappointed.'" "Yes," he replied; "but disappointed in this: it is much better than I expected; not a doubt, not a fear." To his brother-in-law he said, "I have no more fear than if I were closing my eyes in sleep."

It was a great comfort to him that his physician was a Christian, and prepared to sympathize with him and offer spiritual consolation. Standing at his bedside, the doctor quoted from the thirty-third Psalm, "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil." He finished the verse, "for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." He continued, "That used to be to me a matter of faith; it is now a matter of experience. I am passing through the valley; I fear no evil." Subsequently, as his thoughts were evidently busy with the future, he remarked, "Now I know in part. I feel that that which is in part is being done away. Soon I shall know even as also I am known." He continued in this same happy frame of mind to the close. He wished none to mourn when he himself was so happy. Especially did he desire that his companion and daughter should be sustained in this, to them, trying hour, to whom he said, "The same Jesus that sustains me will comfort you, and raise up friends for you." It was evident that his moments were fast numbering. He took an affectionate leave of wife and daughter, and bade all good-bye, and then, remembering that he had left no message for his Sunday-school, he attempted to dictate one, but his strength failed him, and he was unable to complete it. He requested his daughter to sing. Nothing, he said, soothed him like singing. Frequently he would join in the singing, and did so on this occasion. The sun shone in at the window, and he was asked if he would have the blinds closed. "No," he replied, and then quoted, "But unto you that fear my name shall the sun of righteousness arise with healing in his wings." Ere another rising of the natural sun he was with the redeemed, where they need not "the light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light; and they shall reign with him forever."

Brother Clement was characterized by great promptness in meeting all his engagements. As the secretary of the District Conference from its commencement, he was present at each session except one, when he was detained by ill health. He was an excellent preacher, his sermons being clear, and not unfrequently forcible presentations of divine truth. He was a good man. He rests from his labors, and his works do follow him.

8. Uriah Messiter died at Coeyman's Hollow, New York, March 9, 1877, aged fifty-four years. He was born at Liberty, Sullivan Co., New York, February 28, 1823. In early life he received the religious instructions of a pious mother, and when about twenty years of age he sought the pardon of his sins, and, through faith in Christ, obtained the evidence of his acceptance with God. He united with the M. E. Church, and at once commenced a life of active service for Christ. The Church being convinced of his gifts and usefulness, and that he had been called to the work of the ministry, gave him license to preach. To better prepare himself for his work he spent some time in study at the Amenia Seminary, after which, in 1848, he was admitted on trial in the New York Conference and stationed at Glenham. His successive appointments were as follows: West Point, Dutchess, Fishkill, Putnam Valley, Modena, New Paltz Landing, Stone Ridge, Sugar Loaf, Monroe, Cornwall, Forty-fourth-st., New York; New York City Missions, Dobb's Ferry. At this appointment he was for awhile laid aside by a partial paralytic stroke, from which he never fully recovered. At the last Conference he was sent to Coeyman's Hollow. Not being physically as rugged as formerly, he felt unusually burdened in assuming the responsibilities of a new, and to him entirely unknown, field of labor. Yet he did not shrink from duty, but went, trusting in God for strength and grace to sustain him. The people received him kindly, and he soon felt at home among them. For several weeks previous to his death he had been engaged in a protracted meeting, where God had given him new seals to the ministry. He preached twice during his last Sabbath on earth—in the evening from these words, "See that ye refuse not Him that speaketh." On Monday he officiated at a funeral, closing his address with these prophetic words, "Who next will go? It may be you; it may be I." It had been his oft-repeated wish that, if it was God's will, he might be permitted to labor actively in the vineyard until the Master said, "It is enough; come up higher." The Lord granted his request. He had conducted the services on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, and after a night of refreshing sleep he rose on Friday morning and commenced, as usual, the duties of the day. The family was called together for morning prayers. He seated himself by the Bible, took his glasses, and while raising them to his eyes they dropped from his hand. His wife, observing the occurrence, hastened to his side, remarking, "Pa, you are not feeling well. You had better lie down." With a very remarkable and expressive look he replied, "We will read and pray first." These were his last words. The family Bible remained unopened, and that prayer was never vocally offered. He was assisted to the bed, and very soon became unconscious, continuing thus until after ten in the evening, when the "weary wheels of life stood still," and "he ceased at once to work and live." In his study was found a sketch of a sermon, which he had prepared for the next Sabbath morning, from the words, "The Lord loveth the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob." But ere the Sabbath came his released spirit had swept through the gates and was mingling with the saints of all ages in "the palace of angels and God." The people of his charge had learned to love him, as the many tokens of respect paid to his memory and to his bereaved family clearly testified.

In presenting a brief portrait of the character of Brother Messiter the word good, perhaps, will more truthfully illustrate it than any other. While not considered great in any one particular, he was good in all, an excellent type of a plain, practical, zealous, faithful, successful minister of the Lord Jesus Christ. His sermons were prepared with care, evinced thought, sound in theology, and always well delivered. He was a model pastor, visiting systematically from house to house and praying with the people. He was especially attentive to the sick and poor, often cheering their homes with his presence and godly counsels. In the Sabbath-school he was an efficient and constant laborer. He seldom took a vacation, feeling that Christ's work demanded all his time and interest. Expecting, with the divine blessing, to leave every appointment better than when he found it, his labors were crowned with success by the great Head of the Church. As a Christian he was loved most by those who knew him best. He was ever true as a friend. Said one who knew him best, "He had no enemies." In his family relations he was most happy, ruling well his household. His beloved wife he always found a true helpmeet, and their three children, having been trained up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, are all "walking in the truth" in connection with the Church of their parents. The stroke, so sudden, has fallen very heavily upon the widow and fatherless children, but in their deep sorrow they rejoice to know and feel that underneath them are the everlasting Arms. Sudden death to our dear brother was no doubt sudden glory. May we be also ready.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

Benjamin Redford, Henry Hatfield—2.

1. BENJAMIN REDFORD was born in Swinton, near Manchester, England, and died at Smithtown, Long Island, September 15, 1876, aged sixty-two years. His parents were Methodists, and deeply devoted to God. It is not strange that the "faith that was first in them" should be in the child also. With his early conversion came the divine call, so strong and clear, "Go, work in my vineyard," that he at once obeyed, and gave himself to the work of calling sinners to repentance at the uncommon age of sixteen years. A few years he labored as a local preacher, until he was accepted as a candidate for the Wesleyan Conference. These years were full of earnest work, and many, through his labors, were brought to the Saviour. In the spring of 1843 the number of candidates was so large that, after prayerful consideration, he came to America. Upon his arrival he immediately took work under the presiding elder. The following year, with a large class of twenty-one, he was admitted on trial in the New York Conference. At the division of the same his home was in the New York East Conference, where, for more than thirty-two years, his seat was never vacant at its sessions, and within the bounds of which he never failed to take effective work. His pastoral appointments were West Rocky Hill, Colebrook River, Greenwich, Yorkville, Saugerties Circuit, Gaylordsville and Sherman, Gravesend and New Utrecht, Stanwich, Round Hill, and Roxbury, Hamden, Madison, Newtown, Wolcottville, Bakersville, Barkhampstead and Hitchcockville, West Granby, Burlington, Rocky Hill, Ponsett, West Suffield, Cutchogue, Smithtown, L. I. In all these, many of which were hard, he, with a cheerful trust in God, was faithful, and worked without complaint. Nor did his zeal and earnestness decline during the later part of his ministry, but rather increased, so that, as he neared the end of his journey, his labors were more abundantly blessed. Especially was this the case at his two last appointments. In the latter, more than two hundred souls were converted to God.

Brother Redford's experience was rich in the deep things of God. While yet in the morning of his Christian life he sought and obtained the full assurance that he was sanctified, soul and body. His experience was, that it was wrought in him instantaneously and powerfully, through faith, by the operation of the Holy Ghost; and his constant testimony was, "The blood of Christ cleanseth from all sin." This was the life he lived, the atmosphere he breathed, the doctrine he preached. His most earnest longing was to lead the members of his flock up into the "fullness of God." In fact, he saw success in the salvation of sinners, most largely through the holiness of believers; hence the burden of his ministration was, "Be ye holy, for I the Lord your God am holy." Nor did he misjudge, as scores and hundreds were converted, and very many entered into the rest of faith. He was a man of childlike simplicity and sincerity. He seldom conversed about any thing save God and religion. Prayer was his delight. In the exercise of this duty he was a prince, and had power with God. He literally prayed "without ceasing." If friends called in, prayer was always proposed upon leaving. It was his custom three times every day to bow around the household altar, and each member of his family to call upon God. In secret he forged his sharpest weapons, and kept them burnished for constant use. He spent hours alone with his Maker. The "secret of the Lord" was with him. For years he dwelt in the land of Beulah, where the sun did not go down, nor withdrew its shining by day or night. His faith was to him "the substance of things hoped for," hence glory filled his heart and dwelt upon his lips. He seemed to have an intimation that he was near the end of his earthly labors, and frequently remarked during the year, "I feel I am doing my last work." On the 23d day of August he was taken suddenly and seriously ill. For twenty-four days he lingered in much suffering, awaiting his release. He talked calmly with his family about leaving them, and when near his end he exclaimed, "My affairs are all adjusted. I am ready, through the blood of the Lamb." To his daughter, an only child, who was writing to a brother minister, he said, "Tell him I am on the border land yet, but I view the landscape o'er." To his brethren in the Conference he said, "Give them my kindest, holiest greetings," and, when asked if any thing more, he said, "They know my character." Seeing his wife weeping, he said to her, "Would you weep for a general returning from a successful campaign? 'I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day.'" Just before he breathed his last he called for his wife in tenderest terms. She hastened, with the other members of the family, to his bedside, for life was going out. His son-in-law asked him, "Is Jesus precious?" He replied, "Glory! glory! glory! Nearer, nearer, nearer home." These were his last words, his dying notes of victory. So holy and blessed was the life, so happy the death, but indescribably glorious the immortality, of Benjamin Redford. Farther than this our mortal vision seeth him not; but the eye of faith follows and beholds him in glory, so well described by the "immortal dreamer:" "Now I saw in my dream that this man went in at the gate; and lo! as he entered he was transfigured; and he had raiment put upon him that shone like gold. There were also that met him with harps and crowns, and gave them unto him; the harps to praise withal, and the crowns in token of honor. Then I heard in my dream that all the bells in the city rang again for joy, and that it was said unto him, 'Enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.' I also heard the man himself that he sang with a loud voice, saying, 'Blessing, and honor, and glory, and power, be unto Him that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb, for ever and ever.' Now as the gates were open to let in the man I looked in after him, and, behold, the city shone like the sun; the streets also were paved with gold; and in them walked many men with crowns on their heads, palms in their hands, and golden harps to sing praises withal. . . . And after that they shut up the gates, which, when I had seen, I wished myself among them."

2. HENRY HATFIELD was born in Mount Pleasant, Westchester Co., N. Y., May 30, 1794, and died in the city of Brooklyn March 21, 1877. His ancestors were among the early settlers of the vicinity of his birth. His parents having two elder sons who were officers in the United States Navy, early designed him for the same service. At fourteen years of age he was converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which both his parents were members. He availed himself of the educational facilities afforded him, and for several years divided his time between the farm and the school. At seventeen years of age he began to preach, and at twenty-four he was received into the Conference, in which he sustained an effective relation for thirty-five years, laboring in twenty-five different appointments. All but two of them were circuits, and some of them very extensive, involving great labor and much hardship. But with the heroic spirit of the fathers he went forth preaching the word of life, and God blessed his labors to the salvation of many souls. After his health became impaired he served as a supernumerary, doing what he was able to do in three several charges. The last of these was a new church enterprise in the eastern district of Brooklyn, which, from respect for him, adopted as its corporate name Hatfield Mission. Since that time he has sustained a superannuated relation, pleasantly associating with the pastors and people of the neighboring Churches. After filling the period of fifty-nine years in the ministry on earth, he received the call to "go up higher." On the Sabbath evening preceding his death he was in the house of God, and dismissed the congregation with the benediction. The third morning following the Sabbath he remained in bed, and was found to be suffering from pneumonia. While his devoted daughter, with no apprehension of the nearness of death, was absent a few moments, leaving him alone with God, the end came.

The individuality of Brother Hatfield was very marked. In him were some of the elements that combine to form the noblest and most heroic characters. In the days of his full vigor he sometimes rose to a sublime height of power, both in preaching and in prayer. The memory of those occasions still remains fresh with many who heard him. His piety was fervent, cheerful, and self-denying. In his age he elicited the respect and veneration of all who came in contact with him. Rabbi Genebiel, of the Temple Emanuel, New York, who knew him well, in an appreciative letter applies to Brother Hatfield the words of an old Hebrew text, giving his own translation, "The memory of the just is for blessing," and adds, "Fullness of joy is now his portion forever." William C. Bryant, both venerable and honored himself, who also knew Brother Hatfield for many years, says of him, "The good old man has gone to his rest after a blameless and useful life, the best preparation for the life to come."

Converse L. M'Curdy, Linus Fish—2.

1. CONVERSE L. M'CURDY was born in Hallowell, Me., May 17, 1809. His opportunities for education were limited to the public schools of his native town, and to a private select school which he attended for a short time. He was converted, when about twenty-one years old, at Great Falls, N. H. He at once felt called to preach, and began to make such preparation as he was able, and to exercise his gifts by holding meetings in the vicinity. In 1834 he joined the New Hampshire Conference, and was stationed in the following places: Newington, Kingston, Manchester, Winchester, Chesterfield, Rindge, Richmond, Concord, Lebanon, East Haverhill, Bristol—fifteen years in all. In 1849 he was transferred to the New England Conference, and stationed successively at Three Rivers, Oxford, Natick and Needham, East Cambridge, Charlestown (High-st.), Boston (Church-street), Gloucester (Elm-st.), Lynn (Boston-st.), Marblehead, Barre, Leominster, Athol Depot, Wakefield, and South Lawrence.

On the 15th of August, 1829, Brother M'Curdy was married, at Great Falls, to Eliza Reynolds, who died October 12, 1848. Three of six children by this marriage still live, the others having died in infancy. His second wife was Eveline Bradford, to whom he was married April 10, 1849, at Boston. Of three children by this marriage only one survives.

During thirty-five years of his ministry he enjoyed almost uninterrupted health; but at South Lawrence, May, 1875, his health so failed that at the next Conference, being returned superannuated, he removed to Wakefield, where he died of consumption November 22, 1876, in the sixty-eighth year of his age, and after forty-two years in Conference relation. His last very excellent wife died, after an illness of many years, during the session of the last Conference, a bereavement which doubtless hastened his own decline and death, although at this time, as he often declared, he had most marvelous experience of peace and joy—revelations of divine love far exceeding his power of description.

Brother M'Curdy's piety was deep, steadfast, and joyful. He was almost uniformly a cheerful and happy man. As a minister he was intelligent, wise, and earnest. His convictions of duty were clear, frankly stated, and persistently held. He watched over the flock with the tender shepherd's care, having lively sympathy with the sick, sorrowful, and unfortunate. His moral character was stainless, his domestic life pure, affectionate, and happy. Having a voice of remarkable compass and power, he delighted to use it in singing and prayer, in both of which he was specially gifted, and in the loud and joyful proclamation of the glad tidings of the kingdom. His preaching was plain, practical, and evangelical. He aimed specially at the heart of the hearer, and rarely preached without deep emotion. His ministry was every-where blessed with the happiest results to the Churches. Extensive revivals attended his labors, often bringing persons of great influence in a community to the fellowship and support of the Church. He was deeply interested in the cause of temperance and other reforms, and never was he more indignant in feeling or speech than when contemplating the utter baseness of rumsellers and oppressors. He ardently loved the Church, and the members of his Conference were especially dear to his heart. It can be truly said that a useful and beloved brother has fallen from the ranks; that another, who lived and died well, rests from his labors. "Blessed is that servant whom his Lord when he cometh shall find so doing."

2. LINUS FISH was born in Woodstock, Vt., July 28, 1822. He was converted in 1835 at thirteen years of age, and joined the Church in Hartland, Vt. He was licensed to exhort in Newbury, Vt., while attending school, in May, 1844, and to preach, March 28, 1846. In 1848–9 he was a student in the Concord Biblical Institute. He was admitted on trial in the New England Conference in April, 1852, in which connection he served the following appointments: Gloucester Harbor, Greenfield, Buckland, Shelburne Falls, Athol, Stoneham, Swampscott, Dorchester, Hopkinton, Ware, Saxonville, North Andover, Marblehead, and Groveland, whence he took a transfer to the highlands of heaven.

Brother Fish was a man of deep piety, of clear and positive experience, and possessed an unswerving purpose to do the work of a minister of the Lord Jesus Christ. He was eminently a social, godly man. In his family he was genial, cheerful, and loving, making even a stranger feel easy in his presence. He was a good preacher, and a pastor whose visits were always welcomed with delight. After preaching with his accustomed fervor, and performing his last Sabbath duties on his charge, he came to his home on Monday, but returned only to put on the finishing touches to his life work. Those last calls, and prayers with the sick, will never be forgotten. When asked if he was willing to go hence he said, "I wish only one thing, just to see my dear companion safely through;" but added, submissively, "Thy will of the Lord be done." He died in holy triumph March 26, 1877, exclaiming a few moments before his death, "The Gospel I have preached is true." Let us devoutly pray that the God of all grace may comfort, support, and cheer his dear afflicted companion, who, upon learning she was a widow, sank so very low that it seemed she would also go; but she still lingers, awaiting the glad summons to go home and be at rest. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, for they rest from their labors and their works do follow them."

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

S. Lamb, H. C. Jordan—2.

P. SAMUEL LAMB was born in Randolph County, N. C., August 27, 1808, and died in Richmond, Ind., November 8, 1876, in his sixty-ninth year. In childhood he was removed to Indiana. He was converted and joined the Church in 1823. He was licensed to preach in 1840, and received into the North Indiana Conference in 1843, graduating regularly to the offices of deacon and elder, and filling out thirty-three years of itinerant life. Of this time nineteen years were employed in charge of circuits and stations, eight years upon districts as presiding elder, and the remaining six years in non-effective relations, owing to family afflictions. Since his formal retirement from effective work, which was in 1873, he resided in Richmond, laboring diligently and acceptably in the Churches of the city and vicinity. He loved the house of God and the communion of saints: the word preached by others was always food to him; in fact, he seemed to have no barren seasons in the sanctuary.

Brother Lamb was a man of great self-control, uniform and consistent in the world, in the Church, and in the nearer relations of domestic life.

He loved the work of the ministry, and performed his work gladly for Christ's sake. His sermons were plain, evangelical, and instructive, full of encouragement to pious souls and to those seeking Christ. As a teacher in Sunday-school he was a success, his expositions and applications of the Scriptures were clear and convincing. Rare sheaves have been garnered in heaven from North Indiana Conference, and Brother Lamb is one of these. In his religious experience he was never demonstrative, but calm; of very firm faith, resting on the atonement, drawing closely to Christ and devoid of doubt. His life was one of work and trust, and when the Master came he was ready, and inwardly responded, "Here, Lord, am I," and laying himself down peacefully, was not, for God took him.

2. HENRY CARVER JORDAN, son of George M. and Barsheba Jordan, brother of Rev. W. R. Jordan, of the North Indiana Conference, and Rev. W. E. Jordan, of the South-eastern Indiana Conference, was born April 19, 1850, and died near Economy, Wayne County, Ind., August 12, 1876, in his twenty-seventh year.

He was converted and united with the Church in 1864, and was licensed to preach in 1871. He was received on trial in the North Indiana Conference in 1872, and appointed to Anderson Circuit, and entered upon a year of labors which, though exhaustive, were of great success. The following spring he was appointed to Cortland Circuit, where he labored with great acceptability during the greater part of the year, when failing health compelled him to relinquish regular work, and at the next session of Conference he was granted a supernumerary relation, in which he was continued until 1876, when he was superannuated. He was ordained to deacon's orders in 1874. In his zeal he was led to overwork, which resulted in nervous prostration. Last December he was attacked with hemorrhage of the lungs, after which he declined in health more rapidly. An attack of flux, however, was the immediate cause of his death.

As a preacher Brother Jordan had perhaps no superior among the young men of the Conference. His sermons were remarkable for clearness and power. His musical talents were of a high order, and were improved by years of careful culture. His fine social qualities, manly bearing, and gentle Christian spirit, won all hearts. While he desired to recover, it was that he might engage in the work of saving souls. But when it was apparent that his work was done he cheerfully yielded his will to the Lord's, and the full salvation which he had experienced and preached during his ministry was his joy and ground of rejoicing to the close of his life. Among his latest utterances were the following: "O how sweet, how grand to close life thus!" and, "All is bright! all is bright!"

George Peck, L. D. Tryon, D. A. Shepard, G. H. Blackeslee—4.

1. GEORGE PECK was born in Otsego County, N. Y., August 8, 1797; was converted and became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1812; licensed as an exhorter in 1815; the next year took a circuit under the presiding elder, and in June of that year (1816) was licensed to preach, and recommended for admission to the Annual Conference. Being received by the "old Genesee" he was appointed to the Broome Circuit, and thenceforward filled the most important appointments in his conference until 1835, when he was elected principal of the Oneida Conference Seminary. During the three years he remained there he gave great satisfaction, but in consequence of domestic affliction was obliged to resign his post. After the lapse of some months in the pursuit of health he resumed the work of an itinerant, serving the Susquehanna District as presiding elder until the General Conference which met at Baltimore in May, 1840.

At this Conference Dr. Peck was elected editor of the "Quarterly Review" and of our books generally as issued from the New York publishing house. He held this office eight years, when he was elected editor of the "Christian Advocate and Journal." On the whole, perhaps no portion of his public life was either more useful or more generally satisfactory to the Church than were the twelve years thus spent in editorial labor. But though the doctor preached a great deal during the period of his editorship, he was not quite satisfied to remain where he was any longer. To do so seemed to him much like an interlude in his great life work. He longed to return to the regular pastorate. Preaching Christ and him crucified had for him unrivaled attractions. The territory occupied by the Wyoming Conference was more like home to him than any other portion of the Church. Accordingly in 1852 he returned to the scenes of his early ministry, thus giving just twenty additional years to the itinerancy, making fifty-seven in all—a longer period of effective service, with perhaps a single exception, than was ever before rendered by any itinerant either in England or America. But long as he lived and toiled and suffered he never lost his sweetness of spirit. All real improvement in the plans and methods of the Church was ever welcome to him. He had no sort of sympathy with those who asked, "What is the cause that the former days were better than these?" If some things were really better, the Church has, on the whole, been progressive, and was still making progress; and this conviction made him in all his Church relations cheerful and happy to the last.

Not only from early habit, but by original constitution, Dr. Peck was admirably endowed for polemical discussion. He had not only a logical mind, but singular self-possession. This was apparent as well in his oral debates as in his written controversies. Assured he had truth on his side, and ability to support it, he had no occasion for either angry passion or unwise criumination. His volumes on the "Rule of Faith" and on "Christian Perfection," though somewhat controversial, are in charming spirit. Both these volumes were found so satisfactory to the leading minds in the Church that they have been made text-books in our conference examinations. The doctor's "History of Wyoming Valley," published in 1858, and that of the "Old Genesee Conference," published in 1860, are replete with desirable information, and have had, especially the latter, a wide circulation. Besides these he was the author of several smaller and less elaborate publications. But our departed brother was nowhere else more at home than in the pulpit. All his early studies had the ministry especially in view, so that while still a young man he had accumulated resources equal to all ordinary demands upon the sacred desk. He was indeed well instructed in the mysteries of the kingdom of God, and he was ever ready to bring out of the treasure house of truth things new and old. With the mere poetic element he was not largely endowed; his imagination was by no means extraordinary; but in emotional power he had few equals and scarcely any superiors. When the inspiration came upon him in the pulpit he carried all before him. At such times vast assemblies were held spell-bound, saints rejoicing and sinners trembling. Of course he was a good revivalist, having been all along through life more or less actively connected with seasons of special divine outpouring. He was also noted for his pulpit versatility; hardly ever failing to suit his sermons to the passing occasion. During the late civil war, finding as he passed around his district so many that were half-hearted in the support of the Union, if, indeed, they supported it at all, his patriotism frequently found vent in his pulpit ministrations. The discourses thus delivered and published at the time doubtless did much toward diffusing and keeping alive the right spirit among our citizens. His style might be characterized as "idiomatic English, pure and simple." Discarding mere ornament, he aimed directly at the intellect and the heart, and was satisfied only when truth had the mastery of both.

Dr. Peck was emphatically, as that phrase is commonly used, a self-made man. He commenced public life with only that amount of scholarship he had acquired at such common schools as were in his immediate neighborhood. But just as soon as his call to the ministry was recognized by the Church he commenced a course of systematic reading. Theological literature was at that time somewhat scarce, but whatever he could command in that line was eagerly pressed into his service. At first on horseback, in the woods, in the cabin, in a word, wherever he was, he "gave attendance to reading" with an earnestness of application that would have been creditable to the apostolic Timothy himself. And when first assigned to a station as distinguished from a circuit, as he was at Paris in 1821–22, he carefully went through several standard commentaries. During the time of his editorship in New York he added materially to the editorial library, securing from abroad many rare and valuable works. Indeed, few men among us have traversed a broader literary field. Nor was he a stranger to classical literature, and especially as such literature stands connected with the sacred text. Here his scholarship was unquestionable.

Dr. Peck, at the General Conference of 1844, came within a few votes of being elected to the episcopacy. In 1846 he was a delegate to the great Evangelical Alliance which met in London, and in which he acted a prominent part. He had been a delegate to every General Conference of our Church from 1824 to 1872, and would doubtless have been elected to that of 1876 had not his brethren been satisfied that his age and increasing infirmities would, in all human probability, render his attendance impossible. Indeed, it was during that very session that our venerable brother exchanged the sorrows of earth for the joys of heaven. But then he was really more highly honored, at least so far as earth is concerned, than he could have been had he been able to attend it, as the Board of Bishops addressed him a letter from the seat of the Conference full of the tenderest expressions of sympathy, respect, and affection. It is, we think, the general impression that no man since the days of Asbury has done more for the Methodist Episcopal Church than has our departed brother. That he was an eminently holy man we have the very best evidence in the life he lived. God reigned supreme not only in his affections, but in all his plans of action.

Dr. Peck was the senior member of our Conference when he left the Church militant for the Church triumphant at Scranton, Pa., on the twentieth day of May, 1876. All of his last expressions were indicative of calm repose, of holy confidence, of triumphant faith. His work was done, and he was going home. While he tenderly loved the Church, his family and friends, his love for the Saviour infinitely transcended all other loves; and to be forever at rest in his bosom was the acme of his hopes, the consummation of his highest wishes. In this most desirable frame he passed away as tranquilly as the infant falls asleep upon its mother's bosom.

Dr. Peck has been so long before the Christian public, both as author and preacher, that details in such a paper as this would seem quite out of place. His "Life and Times," as published at our New York Book Room in 1874, doubtless supplies every leading incident in his personal history with which the reader could reasonably desire to become acquainted. We therefore close this memoir by commending to the sympathy and prayers and friendly attentions of the Church the venerable woman who for more than half a century has been the companion of him whose memory must ever be precious to the Wyoming Conference. May Jehovah, God of hosts, be her sun and shield till she shall again join her now sainted husband in the world of light!

2. Levi D. Tryon was born in Owasco, N. Y., Nov. 2, 1817. He was converted in Weedsport, N. Y. He was licensed as an exhorter in 1840, as a local preacher in 1841, and admitted into the Oneida Conference in 1842. The stations which he served were as follows: Scipio, Amber, Eldridge, Nichols, Brooklyn, Windsor, Dryden, Wyoming, Tunkhannock, Honesdale. While stationed at this place in the year 1856 his health failed, and he was obliged to retire from the itinerant ranks of the ministry, but made Honesdale his home until he died, Sept. 27, 1876. His disease, though it affected his lungs and throat, and so hindered him almost wholly from preaching, did not incapacitate him from business pursuits, which he followed for twenty years in Honesdale.

Brother Tryon was a kind, genial, and companionable man. Many in Honesdale can say today as David said of Jonathan, "Very pleasant hast thou been unto me." He was a kind parent, and took the deepest interest in his family. He had great sympathy for the young; could easily enter into their feelings, see things from their stand-point, make allowance for their slight prejudices, and thus was enabled to exert a happy and elevating influence over them. He was a man of sterling integrity, and the foundations of his character rested upon religious principles. He loved the sturdy motives which underlie society and give it strength and perpetuity—justice, fairness, faithfulness, fidelity to duty, reverence to God. His humility did not allow him to aspire to stand in the sunlight of public observation. "I am the least," he said, "of all God's servants." He loved God, and revered his word, his day, and his house. In these days, when so many are questioning the efficacy of prayer, he maintained a steadfast, tenacious, and unfaltering trust in the promises of God. He rejoiced in the discoveries of modern science, and believed that the Gospel of Christ had nothing to fear, but every thing to gain, from the well-authenticated facts of an advancing science. He loved the Church as the body of Christ, as the habitation of his Spirit, as the main channel of God's grace to man, as the instituted medium and legitimate dispenser of Christian influence, as the outward and visible manifestation of God's moral perfections, and as the arenas for the display of his spiritual glory from age to age. His theology may be summed up in the statement that "man is a great sinner, but Christ is a great Saviour." He had a deep spiritual experience. He loved to pray, and he communed with God. He believed, without a shadow of doubt, that the moral and spiritual forces of the Gospel of Christ, working in practical continuity through the ages, would usher in the era when glad voices shall be heard saying, "The kingdoms of the world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, . . . and he shall reign for ever and ever." The last years of Brother Tryon's history was a struggle for life. Treading even along the shore of the immortal sea, when the summons came he was calm, peaceful, triumphant. Death lost its sting. His last words were those of a victor. "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation." "I have fought a good fight." "It is an hour of triumph." "It is far beyond my conception." These were some of the sentences which fell from his dying lips. Having passed into the general assembly and Church of the first-born above, he is with Christ, whom he loved. He sees no more through a glass darkly, but "face to face."

"Thus star by star declines, till all have passed away,
As morning high and higher shines in pure and perfect day."

3. David A. Shepard died at the residence of his son-in-law, Charles Barker, Esq., in Washington, D. C., October 8, 1876. He was born in Augusta, Oneida County, New York, June 2, 1802. In his sixteenth year he professed faith in Christ, and ever after lived the life of the righteous. A little before he was eighteen he received license to exhort, and two years afterward was licensed as a local preacher. In this office he continued to labor with so much diligence and success that, on the recommendation from the Westmoreland Quarterly Conference, he was admitted on trial in the Genesee Conference in 1824, and appointed to the Steuben Circuit. This was the commencement of a career which, with little abatement or variation, he pursued for full half a century. The next year, 1825, he was on the Herkimer Circuit. The next two years he was on the Wyalusing Circuit, at the end of which term he was ordained elder, and appointed to Owego, where he was united in marriage to Miss Maria C. Robie, who has been all to him and the Church that could be reasonably desired. His next appointment was to Berkshire, where he remained two years, gaining a still higher reputation both for fidelity and talent. The next two years of his ministry were spent in Binghamton, and were probably the most successful of his whole public life. The town was, indeed, stirred to its very depths with revival influences. It is said there were few adults in the place, not already professing Christians, who did not kneel at the Methodist altar during this extraordinary season of divine visitation. He subsequently served Ithaca, Utica, Chenango District, Cayuga District, Wilkesbarre, Susquehanna District, Wyoming District, Binghamton, superannuated one year, Waverly, Carbondale, Hawley, Owego Union, chaplain to Auburn State Prison one year, Hyde Park, and chaplain to Auburn State Prison again for four years. With the termination of his chaplaincy terminated also his effective relation to the Wyoming Conference. He felt himself physically unequal to the demands of the itinerant pastorate, and accordingly, in 1873, he was given a superannuated relation. From this time till the day of his death he and his excellent and venerable wife found themselves at home with their children, first in Union, Broome County, N. Y., and then in Washington, D. C.

Brother Shepard was a good preacher, and in his more happy moods he was really eloquent. At such times his thoughts and words alike flowed with the ease and the sweetness of a running stream. From the beginning of his ministry he was instrumental in leading souls to Christ, nor did he lose his skill when old and stricken in years. Living witnesses can now be found all over Central and Southern New York and Northern Pennsylvania that the Gospel as preached by him was indeed the power of God unto salvation. O, what a company will that be when he shall say to the final Judge, "Here am I, and the children thou hast given me!" Best of all, he was eminently a good man. His aim was to promote the glory of God, and the well-being of all around him could never be called in question. To his practical charities there were no limits, save only the end of his own resources. In a sense even stronger than that usually attached to the precept of the great Teacher, he seemed to "take no thought for the morrow." Always and every-where he was the true Christian gentleman evincing great delicacy of feeling and purity of sentiment. Possessing a good elementary education he was always adding to his stores of knowledge, so that he finally achieved a highly respectable scholarship. The following closing scene is from the pen of his eldest daughter, Mrs. Maria S. Barker, of Washington. She says: "Our dear father was very feeble for six weeks before his death, but was confined to his room only three weeks. We did not anticipate any danger until within three days of his death. He appeared to suffer very little for thirty-six hours before his death. He seemed to want to sleep all the time, and it was with difficulty that we could arouse him sufficiently to hold his attention for any length of time. When our pastor, Mr. M'Laren, visited him a few hours before his death he seemed greatly pleased to see him, and tried very hard to say something, but his tongue appeared to be paralyzed, and it was with difficulty that we could understand what he said; but the words 'immortality,' 'joy,' and 'peace' were very distinct, and we think that he repeated the twenty-second verse of the fifth chapter of Galatians, after which he turned to me and tried hard to make me understand, but could not. O what would I give to know what those words were! During a previous sickness, when he had full command of his mental faculties, and after adverting to the length of time he had been employed in the great vineyard, he said: 'I find myself, through the abounding grace of God in Christ Jesus, enjoying great peace of mind, and hope in God, as an anchor to the soul, sure and steadfast, and, although conscious of many infirmities and imperfections, have hope of eternal life only through the merits and the advocacy of my only Saviour, the Lord Jesus. I feel a comfortable assurance that my soul, my all, is safe in him.'"

All this is in perfect harmony with the life he lived, thus supplying all needful evidence that he has entered into heavenly rest. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace."

4. G. H. Blakeslee died at the residence of his son-in-law, Professor Stowell, in Cortland, N. Y., July 26, 1876, in the fifty-seventh year of his age and the thirty-fifth of his ministry. He was the son of Aaron and Clarissa Blakeslee, and was born in Springfield, Susquehanna County, Pa., October 28, 1819. He was raised in the very bosom of the Methodist Episcopal Church, his father and mother and paternal grandmother being devoted members of that communion. His father's house was long a home for the early itinerants who traversed those rugged wilds of Northern Pennsylvania. Being thus privileged he found peace in believing on the 19th of May, 1834, before he was fifteen years old. He was licensed to exhort June 4, 1837, and in 1840 to preach. He was soon after employed by the presiding elder as junior preacher on the old Canaan Circuit, and so satisfactorily did he acquit himself in this circuit that he was admitted on trial in the Oneida Conference in the year 1841, and appointed to the Vestal Charge. The next year he was stationed in the Brooklyn Circuit, with Erastus Smith as preacher in charge. This was a year of wonderful success, fully one hundred and forty souls being added to the membership under their labors. At the end of this year he was admitted into full membership in the Conference and ordained deacon. Without further specifications, it may be sufficient to say here that for several of his earlier years in the itinerancy he labored in the larger circuits of Northern Pennsylvania, and always as the appreciated colleague of our best men.

Brother Blakeslee was united in marriage, May 14, 1845, with Hester Ann Cargill, of Jackson, Susquehanna Co., Pa., after which his appointments were chiefly in the Susquehanna Valley or its immediate neighborhood, those of Lanesborough, Binghamton, Vestal, Owego, Newark, Candor, and Nichols being among the best in the Conference. While the Church never languished under his pastorate, in several instances large accessions were made to the membership under his successful ministry. He was, indeed, among the very best of pastors, always doing his utmost to build up the people in faith and holiness. He was four years on the Wyalusing District as presiding elder, and was quite as acceptable there as elsewhere. With a view to educate his children in 1867 he took a supernumerary relation, and with his family removed to Lima, the seat of Genesee College and Seminary. During the four years he remained there he took work under the presiding elder, and served Nunda, Holly, and Conesus. Having accomplished the object for which he went to Lima, he returned to his effective position in the Wyoming Conference. His last station was Nichols, where he died. His disease was paralysis of the nervous system. At no time was he properly himself, so that no account could be taken of his last words. But however comforting intelligent conversation with him might have been to his family, it could have added nothing to the proof that he was fully prepared to join the pure that minister before the throne. His whole public life was an honor to the Church, and worthy the imitation of all. May these frequent incursions of death into our ranks awaken us all to diligence and faithful living while our day lasts, so that each in our time and turn may enter the heavenly rest!

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

Paul Townsend.

PAUL TOWNSEND was born in Barnard, Vermont, Jan. 3, 1807. He was converted in the fall of 1823, when but sixteen years of age, and immediately joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in his native town. His probation had scarcely expired before he received an exhorter's license. His license to preach was given him at the age of nineteen, and was dated March 4, 1826. He was admitted on trial in the New England Conference in 1828, and has been a member of the Providence Conference since its formation in 1840. On the 19th of December, 1830, at Tolland, Conn., he married Julia A. Benton, who faithfully shared the toils and sacrifices of an itinerant life for a long series of years, and who, with an only daughter, survives him. His death occurred at Cochesett, Massachusetts, April 14, 1877, soon after passing his threescore years and ten.

Father Townsend received the following appointments: 1827, on the Western Circuit, Vermont, as local preacher under the presiding elder. On joining Conference in 1828 he was sent to Thompson Circuit, and thenceforward to Tolland, Phillipston, South Hadley Falls and Ludlow, Greenfield, Westfield, Needham, Wellfleet, Provincetown, West Bridgewater, New Bedford (Fourth-st.,) Warren, Taunton (First Church), superannuated four years, Hingham, Sandwich District, New London, Stafford Springs, Providence District, Mansfield, (Mass.,) Portsmouth, Cochesett, and in 1873 he again received a superannuated relation, which was sustained until his death; but though returned superannuated, and justly so, on account of great physical infirmity, he continued ministerial service as opportunity and strength would allow. In the latter part of 1873 he supplied South Carver, 1874–5, East Mansfield, and in 1876, for about ten months, Marston Mills. Here, when too feeble to preach standing, he dispensed the word of life while sitting in a chair.

Father Townsend was a delegate to the General Conference in 1844, and again in 1860. His associates in the ministry ever held him in high esteem, and recognized in him a judicious counselor. To the Churches he served he was a pastor greatly beloved, and the communities in which he lived ever regarded him as an estimable Christian gentleman. His life was uniformly consistent; his piety cheerful, and at times exultantly joyous; his manner dignified, yet ever genial; his preaching earnest and practical. In his pastoral work he was faithful and sympathetic. His whole life was conscientiously and faithfully devoted to his Master and the Church of his choice. Doubtless in his ascent to glory he has been greeted with "Well done, good and faithful servant." Probably in every one of his many charges there have been conversions; on some of them remarkably extensive revivals. Especially was this true of Wellfleet and Provincetown. His last illness was protracted and painful, but grace abundantly sustained him. His dying words, "Peace," "peace," beautifully and appropriately expressed the holy calm of his soul, and rest like a benediction on those who are afflicted by his departure.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

G. G. Hapgood,* H. Tremain, G. D. Greenleaf, Charles L. Dunning—4.

1. HORACE TREMAIN was born May 12, 1803, in Paris, Oneida County, New York. His father was a local preacher, whose house was a stopping-place for the early Methodist itinerant, and the early class and Church found a congenial place of meeting in the home of our brother. He used to say his earliest memories were of these holy convocations. In his father's house, at the age of fourteen, he was converted to God. About twelve years later he was appointed class-leader, in which office he was very successful; his class often numbered one hundred in attendance, and a continuous revival influence attended it. In 1835 he was licensed as an exhorter, and soon after as a local preacher. In 1839 he was admitted on trial in the Black River Conference, and appointed to Canastota. By a change of Conference boundaries in 1840 this charge was assigned to Oneida Conference, and with it Brother Tremain. In this new relation he spent all his effective years, serving the following charges: Fayetteville, Morrisville, (here a glorious revival accompanied his preaching, and one hundred and fifty were converted,) Camillus, Fabius, Fayetteville, Hampton, West Winfield, New Hartford, and in 1851 he volunteered to go to Lowell, at that time a forbidding field, where he labored with heart, head, and hands beyond his naturally great powers of endurance, and in the last half of his second year (1853) he was smitten with paralysis. From that time he has been on the superannuated list, and since 1867 wholly unable to preach. He first moved to Vernon and afterward to Rome, where, since 1858, he has resided. His final attack came on Friday, March 23, 1877. He fell in his door-yard, and never spoke after. He sank slowly, and on the Lord's day, March 25, at two o'clock, entered into blessed rest.

2. GEORGE DIXON GREENLEAF was born in New Hampshire about the year 1810. His parents were members of the Baptist Church. Quite early in life he embraced religion, and at once commenced the active duties thereof. Soon after attaining his majority he went to Canada, and subsequently united with the Methodist Episcopal Church there. Having carefully examined the position, and deliberately and intelligently decided upon his course, nothing could induce him to abandon his Church relation. In the various capacities of leader, exhorter, local preacher, and pastor, he faithfully served that Church for about twenty years. Many who were converted under his ministrations have preceded him to the glory land. Having located there he, in 1854, removed from Canada to this State, and was received into the Black River Conference in April, 1857, having been previously employed as a supply on Brasher Charge. He served successively Moira, Chateaugay, Massena, Madrid, Alexandria, Three Mile Bay, Depauville, Lee Center, Lowell, North Bay, and Durhamville Charges. Here his declining health compelled him, in April, 1874, to ask for a superannuated relation, and he returned to Belleville, Canada, hoping that respite from labors and cares might recuperate his failing energies, and he would again be able to engage in the work of the ministry; but the continued decline of his health warned him that his work was done. Gathering up his strength, he, in the winter of 1875–76, returned to the home of his son in Moira, and from thence, on the 18th day of May, 1876, he was transferred by the Master from the Church militant to his rest in the Church triumphant.

As a pastor Brother Greenleaf was faithful and kind; as a preacher, clear, concise, and instructive; as a friend and a brother, trusting and true. He loved the Methodist doctrine and discipline, especially the work of the Methodist itinerant. He studied to show himself approved unto God a "workman that needed not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." To his ministerial brethren who visited him in his last days he expressed great confidence in the fullness of the salvation he had preached, and the result was that "at evening time it was light." Nervous paralysis in his last hours prevented his speech, and deprived us of any last expression of his hope. Nor did we need this. His record is on high, and, though he may no more mingle in our gatherings here, we are assured in our hearts we shall meet him where no farewell can disturb the conference in that land of peace.

4. CHARLES L. DUNNING was born in 1802. He was converted in early life in the village of Prescott, Upper Canada, and immediately joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. Subsequently he removed to Oswego, New York, where, in 1833, he was admitted on trial in the Oneida Conference. At the division of the Oneida Conference and the organization of the Black River Conference, in 1836, he became a member of the latter. With a brief exception, caused by recent changes in conference lines, he remained a member of the last-named Conference as long as it existed, and then of the Northern New York Conference till the day of his death. Brother Dunning successively occupied the following fields of labor: Onondaga, Chataeugay, Canton, Malone, Canisteo, Little Falls, Oswego, Salina, Weedsport, Fulton, Syracuse Mission, Agency of Falley Seminary one year, West Oswego, Weedsport, Ogdensburgh District, West Oswego, Oswego District, Potsdam District, Washingtonville, Sandy Creek, Oswego Falls. In 1873, by reason of ill health, he felt himself obliged to ask for a superannuation. This relation remained till his removal to the better country, which event occurred in Weedsport, Cayuga County, New York, on the 6th of April, 1877. His last sickness was brief, but painful. The last week of his life was marked by an entire prostration of his mental powers. Those who knew him well have no doubt that this temporary obscuration of a noble intellect was speedily succeeded by a new birth of its powers in a higher and brighter sphere. The circumstances of Sister Dunning, who had shared with her husband for so many years the toils and privations of the itinerancy, are such as to entitle her to a large share in the sympathy of the Church. The burial of the last of two sons, the only children of their parents, precede the burial of his father by just one week, thus leaving the wife and mother, in age and infirmity, to finish her course alone. Let the Church pray for and help her!

Brother Dunning possessed a good degree of native talent. His strong common sense in a great measure supplied the place of early literary culture. But what gave him his great influence, and secured for him success in every field of labor, was his strong faith in God, and in the sufficiency of gospel truth to save men. The evident sincerity and affectionate earnestness with which he delivered his messages never failed to awaken the attention and secure the confidence of his hearers. When the divine afflatus rested on him his countenance glowed with fervor, and his tongue became as the pen of a ready writer. He was a good and successful minister of the Lord. The theme which most inspired him was a full and free salvation through faith in the atonement. His sermons partook largely of the hortatory, and eternity alone can reveal the extent to which the Church was quickened and sinners saved by his faithful ministry.

* Obituary not received.

Hiram Chase, Seymour Coleman, A. Lyon, N. B. Wood—4.

1. HIRAM CHASE was born in Charleston, Montgomery County, N. Y., February 1, 1801, and died at Los Angeles, Cal., January 9, 1877. When young he moved with his parents to Peru, in Northern New York, where he lived until twenty-five years of age. His mother was a Christian, and she gave to him a religious education. When twenty years old he was soundly converted, and soon after united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. On May 20, 1822, he made profession of what, in the annals of his life, he calls "full redemption in the blood of the Lamb." Two years after his conversion he felt moved to enter the Christian ministry, a conviction that was confirmed by the judgment of the Church in authorizing him to officiate, March 1, 1823, as an exhorter. In the autumn of 1826, while yet an exhorter, he was employed by the presiding elder on Bridport Circuit in Vermont. The same year he was united in marriage to Miss Orlantha J. Lawrence, of Peru. In January, 1827, he was licensed to preach, and recommended to the traveling connection. At the ensuing session he was received on probation into the New York Conference, and appointed to Sheldon Circuit as the colleague of Rev. Mr. Todd. The field was large, and the country rough and uninviting; but here were developed some of those strong mental traits which characterized him in an increasing degree during his long and toilsome ministry. His several successive appointments were Burlington, Stowe, and Westport. Troy Conference having been created in 1832, Mr. Chase became one of its original members. From Westport he removed to Monkton, thence successively to Whitehall, Weybridge, Saratoga, Middleburgh, Peru, Westport, Schoharie, Johnstown, Kinderhook, Fort Plain, Fort Edward, and Sandy Hill; North White Creek, Hartford, Nassau, Brunswick, and Valatie. In 1864 he was returned superannuate, and took up his residence for three years at Sandy Hill. In 1867 he was voted effective, and stationed one year at Catharine-street, Saratoga Springs, at the close of which term he was again returned superannuated, his residence being at the last-named place. The following year he took a supernumerary relation, with an appointment to Saratoga Springs. At the ensuing conference he was again voted effective, and sent to New Scotland, including New Salem, his family continuing at Saratoga. On this charge he remained three years. In 1873 he was at Fultonville. Then again he was returned supernumerary, the relation he held till his death. The frequent changes of relation to Conference shows his extreme reluctance, even in advanced life, to be on the retired list, and his strong desire to be engaged in the active ministry. He never consulted ease, never was idle. His importunity for work led him to strike out for himself, and in 1874 to go to Nevada as a pioneer in destitute regions and among miners who had not for years heard a gospel sermon, where he labored with slight compensation for nearly a year. The same restless anxiety for work took him in the spring of 1876 to California. Having an acquaintance there from Troy, he sought his home for rest and a center of operations. In the city of Los Angeles he found several persons from the East, especially one from his first charge in Vermont, the renewal of whose acquaintance induced him to desire to make for himself and family a permanent home there.

In reviewing the long and eventful life of our venerable brother, we can but notice his marked conversion in early manhood, his call to and entrance upon the itinerant ministry at a time when the circuits were large, the labors severe, the fare plain, and the compensation meager. In the earlier years of his ministry his annual receipts ranged from $20 to $132, and never exceeded $400. In sympathy with the heroism of that age, he was bold and vigorous in defense of Wesleyan Arminianism against the erroneous offshoots of sound orthodoxy. Very early (1829) he adopted three important rules for his government: "That he would pray more, study all he consistently could, and spend all his time to the best advantage." In the observance of these rules he became an extensive reader and careful observer. Of strong mind, and yet peculiar, he became a vigorous and independent thinker. A sound theologian, his sermons were characterized more for strength than beauty. Conscientious, he was religiously honest both in his opinions and in his business transactions. In the winter of 1833, after reading "Watson's Institutes" and the "Life of Dr. Adam Clarke," he propounded to himself for direct answer these questions: "Have I constant communion with God? Am I growing in grace? Have I an evidence of a call to the ministry, and do I cheerfully perform all its duties? Do I deny myself all ungodliness and worldly lusts in eating, sleeping, clothing, or any needless self-indulgence which is forbidden in the word of God, or "my conscience. condemns?" Such a self-probing wrought in him that high degree of integrity which so plainly marked the nature and life of Hiram Chase.

From letters written after his decease by Rev. Mr. Hickey, pastor of Fort-street Methodist Episcopal Church, and two laymen who served at his bedside, we learn that he preached as opportunity offered, and interested himself in the history of the country and in the products of the soil. In reference to his final labors, his illness, death, and funeral, we learn that he preached in the Fort-street Methodist Episcopal Church on December 31 last, only nine days prior to his death, from 2 Cor. iv, 6: "For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ." The discourse is reported to have been earnest and impressive, and was preached under a presentiment that it was his last. George O. Churchill, formerly of Fairfax, Vt., who was with him at their boarding-house a part of his final illness, writes that Brother Chase was taken, for better care and quiet, to a Christian family where all needed attention was given, and that he died of violent pleurisy.

Rev. Mr. Hickey writes: "He passed away peacefully and without a struggle. He was very happy up to the last moment of his consciousness. His last words were, 'O there is such a lighting up of the glory of God as I never had!'" After an illness of one week our venerable brother died in a Christian home, and amid the songs and prayers of Christian brethren.

2. Seymour Coleman was born in Litchfield County, Conn., December 23, 1794, and died at Williamsport, Pa., January 23, 1877, aged eighty-two years. Descended from the French Huguenots, his father, by the impulse of the love of liberty which was in his blood, became a volunteer soldier in the army of the Revolution at the age of sixteen. In some brief historical notes of the family prepared by his own hands he records: "I have never known a drunkard or an infidel in our family, or one that used profane language, and, as far as I can learn, they all died in the Church of Christ." About 1812, the family moving into Fulton County, N. Y., Seymour engaged in teaching from the age of eighteen to thirty-one, meanwhile quietly but effectively prosecuting his own education in the study of books or of men. During this time also, having turned his attention to the study of the law, he was admitted to the Bar of Fulton County. Soon afterward, powerfully called of God to the Christian ministry, he conferred not with the flesh, but obeying at once the divine voice, he went forth preaching Christ. He was admitted into the New York Conference in 1828, and at the formation of the Troy Conference in 1832 he became a member of it, continuing therein until his death. The records in the General Minutes show that his appointments extended through all the districts of this large Conference, each and every one of them he received as a sacred trust as from the hand of God himself, devoting to them his utmost energies with a holy zeal which never flagged, confirming saints, combating error, and plucking sinners "as brands from the eternal burning." To some of these appointments he was sent twice, and to one of them, Fort Edward, even a third time. It is no extravagance to say that there is not a county within the bounds of this Conference where the fruit of his godly labors does not remain. In his early ministry he was often called upon by the inexorable necessities of that time to be the champion of the faith and of the economy of his Church against the able and persistent assaults especially of Universalism and of ultra Calvinism. Endowed with a forcible intellect, trained to debate, possessed of a stalwart body, singularly exempt from all ailments and weaknesses, his spirit intensely devoted to the truth as he saw it and felt it, and all the warrior in his hot Huguenot blood fired by the priestly arrogance and the educated bigotry which challenged and taunted the gathering encampments of our growing Israel, this self-educated lawyer, this fearless Methodist athlete, Seymour Coleman, was the man for the hour. His power of sarcasm in replying to an antagonist was something awful. He realized, as perhaps has no man in our day, the traditions of the "sons of thunder" in the first decades of American Methodism. A very lion in fight, yet, when out of the battle-lines, he was as gentle as the beloved disciple. Only the Master himself could more tenderly take up a little child in his arms and bless it, or, standing in the homes of sorrow, could speak such words of comforting consolation to the bereaved ones. Pre-eminently pure-minded, he was a man of pure lips as well. No one ever heard from him a vile word, or a syllable improper to be spoken in presence of wife and daughters. His religious life was a healthful, living stream from a perennial fountain. His experience of divine things was present, assured, and victorious. His pulpit utterance was fearless, straightforward, and convincing. His comments upon the inspired volume, sometimes strikingly original and quaint, afforded often stereoscopic views of the truth, which could stay with one a lifetime. His fifty years of pure public life devoted to one only work, the salvation of men, constituted a concrete gospel known and read by multitudes. For the last eighteen years sustaining a supernumerary relation to the Conference, going promptly to a definite charge whenever the exigencies of the work demanded, otherwise traveling as an evangelist at large, going wherever he was needed most, often, by a true soldier instinct, pressing forward where the fight was thickest, and frequently volunteering to lead a forlorn hope in some destitute region, during this evening of his life, along a far stretching line of battle, extending through New England, New York, Pennsylvania, and the West, hundreds of thousands, at camp-meetings, in churches, and in school-houses, must have heard the clarion voice of this "old man eloquent" proclaiming with joyful assurance the freedom and fullness of the atonement, and holding up lovingly and with an exultant faith the divine Christ as a complete Saviour his battle-hymn, "There is a fountain filled with blood," and the motto on his armor, as on his lips, "Holiness to the Lord!" In his eightieth year he said from the Fort Edward pulpit, "Somebody has told me I am getting old. I suppose this is so. All I have to say is, it is a good time." Thus was the simple majesty of this unpretending, but laborious, manly, and greatly useful life, rounding into the full-orbed grandeur of a serene, loving, saintly old age. Said Brother Monroe at his bedside, when he had consciously entered the valley of the shadow of death, "Father Coleman, God is the strength of our heart and our portion forever." "Yes," said he, "and that is enough;" and then added, "Say to the friends that my trust is in the Lord," and shortly after he peacefully passed away. To-day, we doubt not, he sees the King in his beauty. God be thanked for the life, the labors, and the glorious old age of Seymour Coleman!

3. ARUNAH LYON was born in Lyonville, Conn., October 24, 1804, and died in Shelburne, Vermont, November 6, 1876, aged seventy-two years. He made a profession of religion while attending the Wesleyan Academy at Wilbraham, Mass., when about eighteen years of age. He went to work at once for the Master, preaching, exhorting, establishing classes, some of which are now thriving appointments. He joined the New York Conference in 1831, and was appointed to the Old Peru Circuit, embracing the following territory: Peru, Schuyler Falls, West Plattsburgh, Saranac, Redford, and Dannemora. He was obliged to preach twenty-four times in six weeks, and have a fourteen miles' ride every Sabbath. His salary amounted to fifty-six dollars all told. Among its miscellaneous items were sixteen pairs of socks and twelve square-tined pitchforks. Under his early labors very remarkable revivals occurred. On the Peru Circuit one hundred and eighty were converted, and during two years on the Northampton Circuit about two hundred. During his pastorate of the Morristown Circuit in Vermont, embracing Morristown, Hyde Park, Johnson, and Eden, large numbers were converted; also at Highgate, Starksborough, and other points.

Brother Lyon's conceptions of duty were faithfully met, and he never spared himself labor, no matter how severe or exacting. As a preacher he was of more than ordinary ability—clear in his conceptions of truth, logical in his methods, plain in his presentations, and powerful in the lost Methodistic art of exhortation. His manner was sometimes curt and abrupt, but under it all he had a warm, loving heart. His last sickness was one of great and protracted suffering, but in and through it all he was graciously and gloriously sustained. He was patient and submissive, and at times triumphant. On going in to see him one morning he said, "Brother Hawley, I had a glorious vision of Christ during the night. It is all glory in the Lord. Every thing is as clear as light." He often expressed his love for the Church, her doctrines, her system, and said he would like to once more exhort his brethren to hold fast her usages, glory in her experience, and preach her doctrines. His end was peace.

4. NEWTON B. WOOD was born November 8, 1814, in Jay, Essex County, N. Y., and died in Hartford, N. Y., December 8, 1876. He was converted at the age of sixteen years, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. On August 17, 1834, he was licensed as an exhorter; July 18, 1835, as a local preacher; May 30, 1840, he was recommended to the Troy Conference, at the session of which, in 1840, he was received, ordained Local Deacon, and appointed to the Beekmantown and West Chazy Circuit, where he preached one year. He then went to Saranac and Redford, and from there to Essex and Willsborough. In the spring of 1843 he was married to Miss Martha E. Fisk, of Chazy. He was stationed that spring at West Plattsburgh, the church being situated on Beckwith-street, though he also preached in Schuyler Falls, Morrisonville, and other points. Here he stayed two years. He afterward served Benson, Vt., Champlain, Alburgh, Vt., and Isle La Motte. While here, in consequence of injuries received by an accident, he was disabled, and at the next Conference took a supernumerary relation, but during the year so far recovered as to go to North Hero as a supply. In 1851 he took an effective relation and went to Grand Isle, where he stayed two years. He then went to Beekmantown and West Chazy, where he stayed two years. While here himself and wife were thrown from a wagon, when he received injuries which were probably the cause of his death at last. His next appointment was Upper Jay and Keene, where he labored two years. He then went to Ausable Forks and stayed two years. He was here taken sick during the last year, and at the next Conference took a superannuated relation, which he held two years, when he took an effective relation and was appointed to Mooers and preached two years. His appointments after this were Moriah, Willsborough, and Peru, in each of which places he preached two years. His appointments after this were Moriah, Willsborough, and Peru, in each of which places he preached two years. He then went to Chazy and stopped three years; went again to Beekmantown and stayed two years as pastor, when he took the position of Agent of the New York State Temperance Society for the three counties of Essex, Clinton, and Franklin. How earnestly he labored in this field we all know. In 1875 he received his last appointment by the Conference, and went to Hartford, N. Y., where he died.

Brother Wood's has been a laborious, useful life. Besides hundreds that have been converted through his earnest labors, there is more than one now preaching the Gospel of Jesus who were brought to the cross by this faithful servant of the Most High. He may have sometimes done his work as others possibly would not; but in his last hours, with the gates of the eternal world thrown open before him, he was able to bring the record of the past before his only rightful Judge, and say, "I have done the best I knew how."

S. W. Pierce.

SIMEON W. PIERCE was born in Norway, Maine, January 24, 1813, and died in the same town April 9, 1877, aged sixty-four years. His youth and early manhood was spent amid the religious associations of his father's family, where he laid the foundation of his Christian character. When about eighteen years of age he was converted, and immediately felt impressed with the duty of preaching the Gospel. He commenced to exhort very soon after, and in 1837 was sent by his presiding elder to Bethel Circuit as an assistant preacher. In 1840 he was received into the Maine Conference in full connection and ordained deacon. In 1842 he was ordained elder. His appointments were as follows: Wilton, Kilmanock, Dover, New Portland, Winslow, Unity, Norway, Lovell, Raymond, Baldwin, Gray, Cape Elizabeth, Elliot, Livermore, Phillips, Industry. At the Conference held in Portland in 1862 he took a superannuated relation, which he retained until his death.

Brother Pierce was a hard-working, faithful, self-denying preacher. He seemed to care little for personal ease and comfort, but was intensely interested for the cause of Christ and the salvation of souls. Few preachers have had harder fare and poorer pay, but such was his spirit that none of those things moved him, neither counted he his life dear unto himself so that he might finish his course with joy, and the ministry which he had received of the Lord Jesus. During the fifteen years of his superannuation he bravely and uncomplainingly bore up under sufferings sometimes great, and was only too glad to be able to preach the Gospel anywhere, and to exercise in prayer for the afflicted and penitent. In his last sickness he indulged the hope, until nearly the last, that he should recover, but desired it simply that he might be of use. He felt it was quite as well for him to go as stay. He gradually and peacefully drew to the close, and calmly went to sleep in Jesus.

C. D. Ingraham, D. H. Megahy, R. J. N. Johnson—3.

1. C. D. INGRAHAM was born in Sharon, July 22, 1818, and died December 24, 1876, aged fifty-nine years. He was trained in a Christian home, and early became a subject of saving grace, which was soon followed by his becoming a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. His course thereafter developed the fruits of an earnest Christian life in abundant labors and a quenchless zeal for the salvation of lost men. He felt that he saw the open vineyard, and for a long time he heard the command, "Go ye . . . and preach the Gospel," which had proved to him the power of God unto his salvation. Feeling the vastness of the responsibility resting upon the embassador of Christ, and feeling his own weakness, he lingered under the cross until he received a license to preach, and at the Conference of 1846 was received on probation, and appointed as junior preacher to Sharon and West Norwich. His appointments from that were: Londonderry, Chester, Athens, Marlborough and Newfane, Londonderry, Middlesex, Pomfret and East Barnard, West Windsor, Lunenburgh and Guildhall, Kirbey, East Burke and Sutton, Derby, Holland and Morgan, Irasburgh, Sheffield and Wheelock. This brings him to 1871, when he received a superannuated relation, which was continued two years, when, in 1873, he was returned effective and appointed to Westfield and Jay two years. In 1875 he received his last appointment at S. Waldron. His effective service thus covered a period of twenty-eight years. They were years to him of great hardships and incessant labor. Having chosen to accept the call, and having put his hand to the gospel plow, he shrank not, and look back he would not, but pressed forward, looking only for rest, when the Master should bid him lay down the cross and take the crown prepared for the faithful. Two years of decline, (in which time he was called to part with a faithful wife,) and he heard the call of the Master to come up higher. In great peace he heeded the same, and departed in Christian triumph, leaving his parting benediction on his weeping children and the Church of God.

Brother Ingraham was truly a good man, a faithful and successful minister, having seals of his ministry in the salvation of souls.

2. D. H. Megahy was a native of Canada East, was born May 24, 1842, and died March 18, 1877, aged thirty-five years. He was blessed with Christian parents, who early instilled into his youthful mind the great doctrines of divine revelation; and in answer to their prayers he became a partaker of the saving grace of God through our Lord Jesus Christ. Soon after his conversion he felt that God had called him to be a dispenser of the word of life to his perishing fellow-men, and he went to the work of preparation in the use of means for his intellectual culture, that he might be prepared rightly to divide the word of God and give to others a portion of meat in due season. In 1868 he came to this State, and the same year was received on probation in the Vermont Conference, and received appointments as follows: Lunenburgh, North Thetford and Fairlee, Windsor, Brattleborough, Weston. At the Conference of 1874, through failing health, he was returned supernumerary, from which relation he hoped, by rest and medical treatment, soon to be freed, so that he might enter again on a life of activity and usefulness in the Master's service, which he ardently desired and loved. But it was otherwise ordered, and this step from the gospel vineyard was never to be retrieved. After three years of decline and patient suffering, on the pleasant Sabbath, March 18, 1877, he laid off the armor for the fadeless crown. His end was peaceful. As he had lived so he passed away, trusting in Him who is mighty to save.

Brother Megahy was a most amiable man, endowed with a well-balanced mind, well-developed by scholastic attainments, characterized by firmness, strict integrity and modesty, coupled with all the graces of the Spirit. He was a worthy and successful minister, and will long live in affectionate remembrance of those who were blessed with his faithful ministrations. Thus early he faded on earth to shine with greater effulgence in the heavenly world.

3. R. J. N. Johnson was born in Truro, N. S., September 24, 1843, and died at Derby, May 6, 1876, aged thirty-two years. Of his early life but little is known. Suffice it to say that he united with the Conference in 1868, and was appointed to Glover; in 1869-70 he was sent to Lunenburgh, and in 1871 to East Burke; in 1872-73 he was returned supernumerary, and in 1874 superannuated, which relation he continued until he was transferred to the home of the blessed, where

"Sickness and sorrow, pain and death,
Are felt and feared no more."

Brother Johnson brought into the gospel vineyard a cultivated mind, a heart molded and purified by the Holy Spirit, deeply in sympathy with the interests of our fallen race, joined with a frail physical constitution, soon to break under the faithful labor of a watcher of souls. His effective career was short, but successful, followed by four years of hard contest with that fearful disease, consumption —aided by the wonderful grace of God and comforted by most marked attention by friends—until at last, as a cloudless day closes, so his earthly sun went down to rise in the resplendent glories of endless day.

H. C. Waltz.

HENRY C. WALTZ was born in Wayne County, Indiana, June 5, 1843, and died in Quincy, Illinois, May 11, 1877, aged thirty-five years. His boyhood was spent on a farm. In September, 1860, he entered the preparatory department of the Indiana Asbury University, from which he graduated, with the highest honors of his class, in June, 1866. On the 17th of October following he sailed from New York, and spent twenty-two months in traveling over Europe and the Orient. The year following his return was spent in lecturing on the sights and scenes, customs and habits, of the people of the old world.

February 2, 1862, he was converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church at Greencastle, Indiana. He was licensed to preach May 14, 1865. He joined the North Indiana Conference in 1869, and was appointed to Wabash. In 1870 he served Fort Wayne. In September 22, 1870, he was united in marriage to Miss Helen Carrott, of Quincy, Illinois. On account of failing health, in the spring of 1871 he asked for and obtained a location, and removed to Colorado to recuperate his wasted energies in its exhilarating climate. Not willing to lay idle for one moment, he supplied the Idaho work until the session of our Conference, which was held in Denver, in 1871, when he was re-admitted on his certificate of location. He filled the following appointments in our Conference very acceptably: Cheyenne and Laramie City, Wyoming Territory; Golden and Pueblo. At the Conference session of 1875 he was compelled by his failing health to take a supernumerary relation. Soon after he removed his family to Quincy, Illinois, where he has preached, as he was able, at the Artus Mission Chapel, and worked in the Sunday-school.

Brother Waltz, as a writer, was clear, lucid, instructive, and interesting; as a preacher, he was above the average, presenting the truth scripturally, faithfully, practically, logically. He was conscientious, firm, and decided in his convictions of right and wrong, and seldom hesitated to express them forcibly, yet in heart he was as kind and tender as a child. He was a faithful pastor, a devoted Christian, and an affectionate husband and father.

Among his last utterances were the following: "It is hard for me to leave my little family, but to die is gain. I am going home. 'Come, Lord Jesus, come quickly.' 'Father, into thy hands I commit my spirit.'" A beautiful floral cross was placed near his bedside, when he said, "Simply to thy cross I cling. I have been doing this the most of my life." To the pastor who conducted his funeral services he said, "Say but little about me, but exalt the Lord Jesus Christ, and urge all present to accept him, and hold up the missionary cause." The last audible words were to his affectionate wife, who through her tears had inquired, "Do you know me?" when he replied, "O yes, Nellie; but don't weep now, I am not quite gone," he having previously requested her to restrain her tears until he had passed over to the other side. His little ones ask for his return, but he comes not. Of Brother Waltz it may be said, in life and in death, "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace."

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

E. H. Coddington.

ELI H. CODDINGTON was born in Champaign County, Illinois, July 1, 1837, and died in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, July 30, 1877, aged forty years. In his boyhood his parents removed to Henry County, Iowa, where in his nineteenth year, at a camp-meeting on Salem Circuit, he became the subject of saving grace. Soon after his conversion he entered the Iowa Wesleyan University, where he was at the breaking out of the Rebellion. He was among the first to respond to a call for men, and in October, 1861, enlisted in the Fourteenth Iowa Infantry. At the battle of Fort Donaldson, February 13, 1862, he lost his left arm, and with it the strength of his early manhood, for never after was he entirely free from pain. He was discharged, and feeling that he had canceled all claims against him in the nation's struggle he again entered college, and pursued its course as a needed preparation for future usefulness. But this quiet was soon given up in response to another call, and he enlisted in the Forty-fifth Iowa Infantry and was commissioned captain of Company H. Serving his full term, he again undertook the completion of his college course. Having already heard the voice of the Master calling him to the active work of the ministry, and feeling that intellectual culture was an almost indispensable auxiliary to the culture of grace if he would show himself a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, he determined to complete a classical course. This he did with credit to himself and the university. The year 1866 was to him memorable on account of three important events: June 17th he graduated, September 20th he was admitted on trial in the Iowa Conference, and December 24th he was married to Mrs. Bella Graham Fannihill, who, with all the devotion of a true wife, shared with him the privations and trials of the itinerancy during his effective years, then lovingly attended him to the margin of the river, and now, with two interesting children, she is proving the divine promise, "A father of the fatherless and a judge of the widow is God in his holy habitation."

The year before brother Coddington graduated he served as a supply on East Melrose Circuit, and his subsequent appointments were Troy, Bloomfield, Henry-street, Mount Pleasant, Church-street, Fairfield. Here, in 1873, he closed his effective ministry, sustaining a superannuated relation to the close of life.

Brother Coddington was methodical and intensely earnest in all that he did. As a student, though twice interrupted through his noble patriotism, he was not to be defeated in the execution of his plans—nothing less than a thorough classical course could satisfy him. In his ministerial work these elements were not less prominent. From its commencement to the close of life he was schooled in affliction, but deep devotion and unaffected humility enabled him to say with emphasis, "I will rejoice in mine infirmity," and his piety lent a peculiar unction to the sentiment. Such was his faith in the divine economy that he met adversity with fortitude, and pains and sorrows with exemplary patience. During four years of retirement as a superannuate, most of the time suffering intensely, his spiritual sky was cloudless and his faith triumphant; he was never known to complain. When suffering severely his usual exclamation was, "Bless the Lord, O my soul!" Yet it cost him a struggle to give up all his cherished plans, as will be seen by the following lines written by him about a year before his death:—

Can I glory?
Life is blighted, hope lies shrouded,
Plans are broken, fancy sped,
Dreams in mist the sunlight clouded—
Sweetest visions, all have fled!
Can I glory,
With ambition lying dead?

Can I glory? I will glory,
Though I suffer mighty loss;
I will sing that blessed story,
Yea, and count all things but dross!
I will glory,
I will glory in the cross!

Symbol, once of shame, forever
Glorified through Jesus' blood;
In it I will boast, and never Cease until I pass the flood;
I will glory
In his hallowed cross and blood.

Am I weak, a reed that 's broken?
Am I poor and nameless, too?
Yet in God's own sacred token,
Pledging love to me so true,
I will glory
With immortal bliss in view!

I am strong in his salvation,
Rich in his infinite grace;
Mine the priestly, kingly station,
Zion's heights my resting place.
I will glory,
I will praise him for his grace!

From the time he entered the ministry he appeared to have relinquished all desire for personal gratification, and to have formed plans from which he never departed, to accomplish the greatest amount of good to the greatest number; he thought, wrote, and preached only for the good of others. To this end he responded, as far as health would allow, to all the demands made upon the ministry, whether in behalf of educational, missionary, or other aggressive agencies for the uplifting of mankind. As a preacher and pastor he was successful. Few men took a deeper interest in the general state of the Church and the propagation of the Gospel abroad. The future glory of the kingdom of Christ and the best means of promoting it were his favorite topics, and engaged a large part of his thoughts and prayers. Nor was he ever more himself than when he was exerting his powers in devising plans for its extension. His last pulpit effort was a missionary sermon, preached in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, December, 1875, on behalf of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. It will long be remembered for its vigorous thought and unction. So intense was his feeling on this subject that he requested that his funeral sermon should be a missionary one, from Rev. xiv, 6, and that the hymn commencing,

"Watchman, onward to your station, Blow the trumpet long and loud," should be sung. The last time his voice was heard in the Conference he said, "Though my heart and my flesh shall fail, God is the strength of my heart and my portion forever." The consolation that supported him through life awaited him at death. He appeared to be imbued with a perpetual sense of the divine presence, which gave him habitual peace, confidence, and joy. He walked with God, and was not, for God took him. Thus has passed from our midst another faithful laborer.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

W. H. Lawder, T. A. G. Phillips, W. I. Ellsworth, S. Brown—4.

1. WILLIAM H. LAWDER was born in Smithfield, Virginia, November 17, 1809, and died April 20, 1877. He was the oldest son of Frederick and Margarette Lawder, to whom were born ten children, eight of whom lived to mature life to adorn the Church of Christ. In 1818 the family emigrated to Ohio and settled near Hillsborough. William received his first religious impressions at the family altar, and was converted at the age of twelve in the class led by his father, uniting with the Church in 1821. His convictions of a call to the ministry followed his conversion, and grew steadily upon him, though he hid them in his own heart and strove to free himself from them. At length his convictions having become too strong for further resistance without imperiling his relations to God, he accepted license to exhort, and the ensuing April 14, 1832, license to preach. Filled with holy zeal he immediately offered himself to Rev. Russell Bigelow, who had charge of the Wyandotte Mission for service among the Indians. The vacancy which he sought had, however, unknown to him, been filled, so that his offer was not accepted. February 9, 1832, he was married to Miss Catherine M'Dole, of Rapid Forge, with whom he lived for nearly forty-one years, and raised to manhood and womanhood five sons and two daughters, all of whom survive save the youngest daughter, who preceded her father to the better country about eighteen months.

Brother Lawder entered the Conference held at Cincinnati in 1833, and was appointed as junior preacher to New Lancaster Circuit. He thenceforward served the following appointments: Marietta Circuit, Lebanon Circuit, Germantown Circuit, Dayton, Zanesville, Portsmouth, Asbury, Cincinnati, New Richmond, Augusta, (Ky.,) Franklin, (Ohio,) Piqua, Columbus, Hamilton, and Raper Charge, Dayton, in 1852. In 1853, on account of enfeebled health, he was compelled to superannuate, in which relation he continued six years. In 1859 he resumed an effective relation, and was appointed successively to Wayne-street, Piqua, Hamilton, Hamilton District, West Cincinnati District, Oxford, New Richmond, and Waynesville. In this last charge, July 17, 1872, his beloved wife, who had shared with him the hardships of an itinerant life for thirty-nine years, quitted his side and entered into rest. At the end of this year he was compelled to seek a superannuated relation again, and settled in Hamilton, where eight years of his ministerial life had been passed as stationed preacher and presiding elder. Here he engaged in business with the hope of preventing dependence upon the Church in more advanced and feeble years. He was married March 3, 1874, to Miss Lucy M. Williamson, of New Richmond, Ohio.

In September, immediately following the last session of the Cincinnati Conference, his health began to decline. On the first Sabbath in October he attended the house of God for the last time, and closed the services with a prayer of remarkable spiritual power. For nearly seven months he was confined to the house, and mostly to his room. His decline was gradual, but constant, until three weeks before his decease, from which time he sank rapidly.

Brother Lawder was a man of sincere and earnest piety, who sought to fill aright all the relations of life. He was a loving husband and father, a trusty and judicious friend, and a faithful minister of Christ. As a sufferer he was ever patient. He committed all to the Infinite care with the simple trust of a little child. Sabbath afternoon, April 8, the Lord's Supper was celebrated in his room. An unwonted spiritual influence filled the place, melted all hearts, and elevated his soul into heavenly ecstasy. It was a mount of transfiguration. His views of himself and his personal attainments and services in the cause of Christ were humble in the extreme, and at times greatly depressed him. Upon one such occasion he was directed to the words of John, "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." This verse became the luminous center of all his after thought. During the earlier part of his sickness his uniform experience was that of peace—a calm resting in God, but no exuberance of joy. At times this occasioned him anxiety, and led to careful scrutiny of the most secret movements and impulses of his soul. He longed for more of the fullness of joy. It came, and he entered upon an experience of almost uninterrupted happiness. Even extreme weakness and pain did not disturb this exaltation. He dwelt much and with great delight upon the thought of heavenly recognition. The heavenward view was near and vivid. He should soon realize it all. He remained conscious to within three hours of his decease, when he sank into a deep stupor from which he only awakened amid the splendors of the Father's house. Thus gloriously faded out of this earthly life a good man, leaving behind a record pure and blameless.

2. T. A. G. Phillips was born in Frederick County, Md., February 24, 1810, and died in Springborough, Warren County, Ohio, February 28, 1877. His parents were earnest and devoted Christians. From childhood, therefore, he was surrounded by the influences of a Christian home. But for several years he resisted those influences. He was fond of amusements, and found it difficult to conform his conduct to those rules of propriety which were laid down by his parents. His strong impulses tended to lead him astray. But in his early manhood, just at the time when his fiery, impulsive nature was beginning to drive him into sin and folly, he was arrested by the Spirit of God, under the preaching of the Gospel. This important event, which changed the whole course of his life, took place at a camp-meeting near his father's residence. According to his own account his conviction was very deep and pungent. He used to say, "The very pains of hell got hold upon me." But his conversion was also marked and striking. His battle with the powers of darkness was fierce, but his victory was complete. He was fully "transformed" by the power of the Holy Ghost.

Brother Phillips now set out in earnest to live a Christian life, consecrating all his powers to the service of his Master. It was then the custom to put young converts under the yoke at once, and train them to be working Christians. In the class and prayer-meetings there were favorable opportunities for this training; and in those meetings it was soon discovered that Brother Phillips possessed gifts which could profitably be employed in a wider field of labor; that he was, in fact, called to the work of the ministry. Accordingly, with but little delay, he was licensed to preach, and recommended to the Annual Conference. In 1833 he was received on trial in the Ohio Conference, and appointed successively to Granville Circuit, Newark, Western Charge in Cincinnati, Point Pleasant, Parkersburgh, Gallipolis, and Circleville, and in 1840 Lithopolis Circuit, where his labors were crowned with remarkable success. During his pastorate on this charge between two and three hundred souls were converted and united with the Church. In fact, revivals distinctively characterized his ministerial life and labors. Brother Phillips continued his pastoral work, subject to the changes incident to the itinerancy, until eleven years ago, when he asked for and received a change in his Conference relations. The last two years of his regular pastoral work he was in charge of Parksville Circuit, with Brother A. D. Raleigh as his colleague. Those years were wonderfully successful, more than five hundred persons being added to the Church. His preaching at that time was characterized by great zeal and fervor, and was often overwhelming in its effects. He had some eccentricities; but his views of the Gospel and the plan of salvation through Jesus Christ were as clear as a sunbeam. In all the storms of life his heart, true as the needle to the pole, always turned to the atoning sacrifice of Christ as his only hope and only plea; and in that hope he lived, and labored, and died. In his last sickness he said, "I have been a minister over forty years, and have preached many sermons, and offered many prayers, and taken thousands into the Church; and yet I am not trusting in my sermons, or prayers, or any thing I have done, but in the Lord Jesus Christ, and in him alone." When the death chill was on him he said, in prayer, "Christ Jesus, my all and in all!" and then, in a few moments, all was over; the spirit had taken its flight.

Brother Phillips was twice married, first, to Miss Dorothy Taylor, September 14, 1836, who died in great peace April 15, 1872; second, to Mrs. Elizabeth Casler, Nov. 25, 1875, who survives him. Only one of his children, his youngest daughter, is now living.

3. William Innis Ellsworth was born in Clinton County, Ohio, August 9, 1807. Up to his eighteenth year he lived outside the Church. At that age a peculiar incident changed the whole course of his life. While working alone in the forest he was suddenly impressed with the passage, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness." He immediately laid down his ax and commenced to pray. Conviction was not followed at once by conversion. Eight days later a prayer-meeting was to be held at a private house near South Charleston, and young Ellsworth determined to be present. It was Christmas eve; the night was clear and cold, and as he went to the meeting he stopped, and kneeling in the snow, prayed for pardon.

The coveted blessing was still withheld. During the meeting, however, faith prevailed, and light and joy filled the soul of the believing penitent. The Church soon found use for his talents in the office of exhorter. His license was given August 13, 1832. In 1834 he was admitted on trial into the Ohio Annual Conference. In 1836 he was ordained deacon, and two years later elder. His thirty-four years of active service were spent in Bellefontaine, Troy, Piqua, Fulton, Madisonville, Westchester, White Oak, Hillsborough, Zanesville, Milford, Maysville, West Cincinnati District, Xenia District, Raper Chapel, Dayton; Columbia-street, Springfield; Eaton, Vienna, Moorefield, New Carlisle, one year President of Springfield Female College, and one year South Springfield Mission. During the remaining ten years of his ministerial life he held a supernumerary or superannuated relation.

Brother Ellsworth was a wise man. Unobtrusive, but positive in his convictions, he proved himself a man and a minister whom others might wisely imitate. Whether on the circuit, station, or district, or as the trusted adviser of his family's pastor during his superannuation, he was always esteemed "a safe counselor." He was a pure man. The exceptional purity of his life won to his side many warm friends. The following, concerning his personal experience, was written by him in February, 1850:—

I have been a firm believer in the doctrine of Christian perfection ever since I had any thing like a distinct knowledge of the Bible and Methodist theology. Soon after my conversion I became deeply impressed with the necessity of being wholly given up to God, and with many an earnest struggle sought the blessing of perfect love. But, not realizing my desires, I would become discouraged and cease my efforts. Sometimes I would feel little or no concern on the subject; sometimes I would feel an opposition to it, or rather to a profession of the blessing as a distinct state of religious experience. Again I would be impressed with its necessity and importance, and again seek after it. I knew it was to be received by faith, but sought it by works instead. I struggled and reasoned too much, and believed too little. In this way I passed an experience of twenty-three years. During a love-feast at the second quarterly meeting of Morris Chapel in 1850, I was unusually drawn out after the blessing of a clean heart. This struggle continued for three weeks, when I had access to the counsel of some deeply experienced Christians, who instructed me to cease struggling and believe. I asked, What shall I believe? It was answered, "Having made an unreserved consecration of yourself to God, believe that the offering is accepted; that Christ does now receive you." But my heart was hard, and it seemed little less than presumption to attempt belief with such a heart. We knelt in prayer, and I resolved to venture by naked faith on the promise of God. I did so, and in the same moment felt divine power like an electric shock upon soul and body. I immediately thanked God for the victory, and on rising up from prayer informed my friends of my triumph.

Later tests served only to prove the reality and richness of this long-sought experience. He was a successful man. Though for many years the victim of annoying disease, his labors were abundant, and his pastorate was almost annually attended with a glorious revival of religion. According to his private record five thousand souls were brought into the Church through his ministry.

The end came to his earthly career at four o'clock A.M., May 10, 1877. Just as day dawned upon us he entered the country where "they need no candle, neither light of the sun, for the Lord God giveth them light."

4. Samuel Brown was born in Monmouth County, N. J., May 12, 1806. Of his early life but little is known, except that he was brought up under the influence of the Society of Friends, his parents being, probably, members of that body. His aversion to formality and show in religious worship, which was one of his characteristics through life, was doubtless the result of his religious training. In his fifteenth year the Methodist itinerants visited his native place, and by their fiery zeal and earnest appeals to sinners attracted great attention. Young Brown, prompted by curiosity, went to hear them; and on the first day of August, 1820, under the preaching of R. W. Fetherbridge, of the New Jersey Conference, he was awakened and converted, and immediately thereafter united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In early manhood he was licensed to exhort and then to preach; and for several years in the relation of a local preacher he was an efficient laborer in the Lord's vineyard. In 1841 he was admitted on trial in the Ohio Conference. On the division of that Conference, in 1852, his lot fell within the bounds of the Cincinnati Conference, of which he continued an honored member until his death. His first field of labor after his admission into the Conference was Lewisburgh Circuit. He entered upon his work in a resolute and determined spirit, and by his zeal and energy in his new vocation showed that he did not intend to be an idler in the vineyard, but that, by God's help, he meant to accomplish something in the great work of building up and extending the kingdom of Christ in the earth. In this same spirit and manner for twenty-eight years, and mostly on large circuits, he continued his itinerant labors, until sickness and infirmity compelled him to seek for rest. During those twenty-eight years it was his privilege to see many gathered into the fold of Christ under his ministry. He had learned the way to the cross from his own personal experience, and the abiding light of the Spirit in his soul continued to illuminate the way, and hence he could clearly point out the way to others.

Brother Brown's last field of itinerant labor was Bowersville Circuit, in 1865–6. On entering upon his work in this charge he was painfully conscious of his physical inability to do what he knew would be expected of him. His failing health admonished him him to be sparing in his labors, but the growing wants of the work seemed to demand all the strength and energy which he possessed, and these were not withheld, though he often labored in great pain. At the close of this year, 1866, he asked for and received a superannuated relation. In 1868 he removed to a farm which he had purchased in Miami County, Ind., where he spent the remainder of his life. Though in the quiet of his country home, which was entirely congenial to his feelings and tastes, he was not an uninterested observer of the world's moral battle-fields. From experience, as well as from the Bible, he was assured of the truth of the doctrine of Christian holiness as held and taught by Wesley and his coadjutors. He greatly loved the services of the sanctuary, and even when he was dependent upon his friends to carry him to the place of worship he could exclaim with David, "I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go up to the house of the Lord." But for nearly a year preceding his death he was not permitted to enjoy this privilege. His sick-room, however, was itself a sanctuary. During all his sickness his faith in the atoning sacrifice of Christ was unwavering. Often he testified that he was "ready to depart," and was only, "waiting the Master's call." On one occasion when questioned as to the future, he said with great emphasis and in a triumphant tone and manner, "There is light ahead!" At another time his pastor asked the question, "Does Jesus give you the victory?" To which he responded promptly, "Yes," while his whole frame shook with joyous emotions. In a few days after this, on Sept. 23, 1876, in Miami County, Ind., he sweetly fell asleep in Jesus.

His wife, who had been a faithful helpmeet for thirty-two years, survives him; also two adopted children to whom he was greatly attached.

O happy, happy soul!
In ecstasies of praise,
Long as eternal ages roll,
Thou seest thy Saviour's face.

H. Gilmore, H. T. Burge, Ling Ching Ting—3.

1. HIRAM GILMORE died at the residence of his son-in-law, Captain Sands, in Tolono, Illinois, August 20. He was born in Cattaraugus County, New York, December 25, 1809; was converted at a camp-meeting near Jamestown, Ohio, August 20, 1823, and joined the Church and was soon licensed to exhort. He was licensed to preach July 11, 1831, and the same year joined the Pittsburgh Conference and was appointed to the Ohio Circuit, Va. His appointments were: Canton Circuit, Cambria Mission, Ravenna, Painesville Circuit, Cleveland, Morgantown, Elizabeth Circuit, West Alexandria, Beaver-st., (Alleghany,) Liberty-street, (Pittsburgh,) Steubenville District, Birmingham, and Beaver-street, (Alleghany.) In 1850 he was transferred to the Indiana Conference, and stationed successively at Wesley Chapel,

(New Albany,) Madison, Lawrenceburgh, Brookville, Columbus. Having, by division of the Conference, become a member of the South-east Indiana, he was transferred to the Indiana Conference, and served Locust-street, (Evansville,) and Greencastle. In 1861 he was appointed chaplain to the Thirty-first Indiana Regiment, in which position he continued three years. He then served some time as agent of the Christian Commission, and subsequently as agent of the Bible Society. Afterward he was stationed at Bloomington, Cannelton, Monrovia, Sullivan, and New Harmony. In 1874 he was placed on the superannuated list, after having labored forty-four years as effective.

Brother Gilmore was ordained deacon in 1833 and elder in 1835. In 1834 he was married to Eliza A. Ruter, daughter of Dr. Martin Ruter. She still survives him, though in very feeble health. Our brother has left four children, one of whom, W. L. Gilmore, the oldest son, is a worthy member of the Illinois Conference.

Much might be said of Brother Gilmore as a man and a preacher. He was a true, noble man, and a warm-hearted, sincere friend. As a preacher he ranked among the first. He possessed a logical mind, and was studious in the cultivation of intellect and heart. In 1859 Indiana University conferred on him the degree of A. M. In whatever station he was placed he was faithful, and true to his Master. His army record is without a blot. He has left two published volumes, one on "The Evidences of Christianity," and the other on the "Philosophy of Baptism." He leaves several books in manuscript. His last illness was long and protracted. Although he suffered extremely he was conscious to the last, and bore up like a Christian hero and died like a soldier. A week before his death he sent for Rev. N. P. Heath, and told him that he wanted him to visit his Conference and tell his brethren how he died. He then said that he wanted him to preach his funeral sermon, and gave him the text: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." At a little after seven o'clock on the morning of August 20 he raised his hands and exclaimed, "O, bless the Lord!" and sweetly fell asleep in Jesus.

2. HARTWELL T. BURGE was born December 23, 1805, in Virginia. He moved to Kentucky in 1819, and was married to Mary Jane Arthurs November 5, 1834. He professed religion, and joined the M. E. Church in 1838. Shortly after he was licensed as a local preacher. In 1845 he entered the traveling connection in the Louisville Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was ordained deacon by the bishop presiding, and appointed to Scottville Circuit, after which he served the following charges: Barren, Columbia, Hardensburgh, Hartford, Elizabethtown, Eddyville, Morgansfield, and Greenville. While engaged on the latter appointment the Rebellion broke out. Brother Burge was loyal in sentiment; his impulsive nature would not permit him to remain "neutral." In the early stages of the war he entered the army as chaplain of one of the Kentucky Union regiments. After serving as chaplain for two years he received a commission as colonel of a Kentucky regiment, and took part in the battles of Stone River, Pittsburgh Landing, and several others. The greater part of the time, however, his regiment was employed in suppressing guerrillas in Kentucky. He served his country two years as colonel. At the close of the war he remained for a time in Louisville inactive. The spirit of opposition engendered by the war in many minds of the Kentucky people, against those who had taken part with the Union forces, rendered it impossible for Brother Burge to obtain a support by the ministry in Kentucky. Knowing this he changed his relation from the Louisville Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to the Indiana Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, in the year 1867. After he was received into this Conference he served the following charges: White Lick, Clark's Prairie, Oakland City, Bloomington Circuit, and Decker's Station. In 1876 he obtained a superannuated relation, and in January following he moved to Patoka, Gibson County, Indiana. He was then in feeble health, his robust constitution having given way under the burden of years and troubles, and in the latter part of June he took his bed, and continued to grow worse until the second week in August, when reason forsook her throne. At times he fancied he was leading his regiment in the strife of battle; at other times he would be leading God's militant hosts, preaching, praying, singing, and shouting over the victories of the cross. He continued thus until Monday, August 20, about four o'clock in the afternoon, when he grew very calm, and, after lying still for some minutes, he opened his eyes, and gazing earnestly into the face of his loving, faithful wife, who had made the itinerant home cheerful for so many years, he murmured, "Going home," and at five o'clock, without a struggle, passed from earth away. "Life's fitful fever over, he sleeps well."

3. LING CHING TING, in the latter part of the year 1862, entered the chapel in the city of Foochow, China, with a miscellaneous audience from the crowded street, and for the first time heard the preaching of the Gospel. After the service was over and the crowd had left he remained and requested a book or tract. He was given a copy of the Gospel by St. John. He returned the next day and expressed a desire to learn more of the new religion. He soon gave evidence of his sincerity, and became an earnest student of the Bible. He was a man of good intellectual ability, about forty years of age, coming from another district; an idolater, an opium smoker, deeply wicked, living apart from his family, strolling through the country selling a kind of medicine and charms, and teaching boxing. He was a man of some education, impulsive in his disposition, but determined in purpose and decided in character. He soon showed evidence of a thorough change of heart by faith in Christ, and appeared never after to have any inclination toward the vices of his former life. As the light of divine truth dawned upon his mind he wanted to do nothing else but read and study the Bible, pray, sing, and talk of the new religion. He committed to memory every thing that he read, and in time became better acquainted with the Bible than most Church members are in Christian lands. He soon became an exhorter, then a licensed preacher, and within a year after he entered the mission chapel and heard the first Gospel sermon he was proclaiming the same Gospel with burning zeal as a traveling minister. The same zeal characterized him until his death. Before he was employed by the mission in the regular ministry, and while he was preparing himself for the work by study, exhortation, and distribution of tracts and books, it was found that he was living on dried sweet potatoes, the cheapest food he could get, and had pawned his clothing to get a bare subsistence, so determined was he to work for the great Master. Having been carefully trained in Bible doctrines, as a probationer, exhorter, and local preacher, he was finally received as a regular traveling preacher by the annual meeting of the mission in September, 1863, and appointed as Brother Pinkley's assistant at Ato Chapel, in Foochow, and Hok-Chiang Circuit, his native district. He soon gathered his scattered family together, consisting of his wife, two sons, nearly grown, and a little daughter. His wife and sons in a short time became Christians, and his daughter was given to the Lord in baptism. He proved to be a most faithful servant of Christ, and was eminently successful in the ministry. One of our missionaries, Rev. N. Sites, writes of him:—

"When the news of his death reached us I felt deeply bereaved. My heart yearned to look once more upon my fellow-laborer, and my tears I could not restrain. Many a day have we labored side by side, and many a night we have, until a late hour, together discussed plans and modes of work in our two or three weeks' preaching tours. But, alas! his eyes are closed in death, and his loving heart has ceased to beat. To hundreds of our native Christians and to a score of our native preachers he could say, 'My sons in the Gospel.'"

Ling Ching Ting was received into the Indiana Conference in 1866, and was ordained deacon by Bishop Kingsley at the Annual Missionary Meeting held at Foochow in November, 1869. He was ordained elder by Bishop Harris during his late visit to the mission. He was appointed to take charge of the Teng Tiong Circuit at the last annual meeting. The last letter he ever wrote was addressed to the missionaries at Foochow, giving an account of his sickness. It was written May 9, 1877, just ten days before his death. He wrote as follows:—

"At the last Annual Meeting at Foochow I was taken with a slight illness. Afterward, having returned to my former charge, I was much worse, and the Church fathers and brethren all advised me to go to my old home on Lampit Island and get cured. Accordingly, on the 5th of October, I went. Early in November, being much improved in health, and thinking of my new appointment being without a preacher, I hastened to my circuit to do the Lord's work. But a month later sickness again took hold of me, and again I went to my old home for medical treatment. The month of January found me near unto death. Physicians attended me, and I slowly recovered, and by the first of March I was well enough to go to my work, and I felt that I must go. I took a boat, and with my family returned to my circuit. But three days later I was dangerously ill. The doctor says this sickness cannot be cured, and I verily believe it is unto death. Dear brethren, although I have willingly given my strength to the Church for fifteen years, yet I know I have been an unprofitable servant. O beloved brethren, with whom I have together toiled, and sorrowed, and rejoiced for fifteen years, look upon the face of the Saviour and pray for me."

From this letter it can be understood how heroically he fought against disease that he might be spared longer to work for Christ. But all his efforts were in vain, and ten days later he was struggling in death. He had the great satisfaction of dying in his appointed field of labor. When recovering somewhat from his sickness at his old home he said to one of his sons, "I know I am not yet strong, and I may never get well, but I must go to my circuit. I should not die happy away from my post." On Saturday evening, May 19, 1877, he sang two verses of the Saturday night hymn, the translation of which is,

"This evening the world's business all put away,
To-morrow carefully keep holy the Sabbath day."

After resting a moment, finding himself unable to sing more, he slowly repeated the last stanza of the same hymn,

"Resting on Jesus' breast, no need of doubt or fear, I'll reach my heavenly home, my evidence is clear."

He then knelt while one of the Church members prayed, after which he said to his wife, "How strangely cold I am!" Then looking tenderly upon his family and the Christian brethren gathered around him, he gave them his blessing, saying, with his latest breath, "Be ye strong in the faith; my work is done."

Thus triumphantly passed away this noble servant of God. His conversion, Christian life, successful labors, and dying testimony furnished abundant evidence of the power of the Gospel. May the chords of Christian memory and affection, stretching from our hearts to the grave of our beloved brother, bind the Indiana Conference in its ministry and membership anew to the great work of evangelizing China!

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

James Corwin, H. D. Bryant, P. L. Haynes—3.

1. JAMES CORWIN was born in Pendleton District, South Carolina, and died in Florence, Los Angeles County, California, December 1, 1876, aged sixty-five years. He was one of the pioneers of Methodism on the Pacific coast. After seventeen years of effective service in Indiana he accompanied Rev. Isaac Owen to this State in the year 1849. It was in a crude and disorganized condition; vice was rampant, and almost every thought assumed the shape of gold. But, like a true soldier of the cross, with a few others that had not defiled their garments, he went to work immediately to fulfill the object of his mission, and lay the foundation of that Church which he lived to see bearing precious fruit in the land. He was a member of the first Conference in the State, and lived long enough to see the little one increase to over a hundred and become two. As a preacher and presiding elder he traveled over the greater part of California, from Siskiyou to San Diego; and, besides the work that devolves on every minister, he superintended and built a number of churches and parsonages, many of which still stand as monuments of his memory.

Few men have passed through life with so clear a record, and we are justified in saying that few men ever improved their talents more unselfishly or with greater industry. He made no pretension to greatness, "nor of men sought he glory," but seemed quietly to embrace every opportunity of being useful, and labored and suffered cheerfully for the Master's sake. Many will remember him at the last Conference he attended. He returned to his home much worn down in body, but happy in mind, for he had received a fresh baptism of the Holy Spirit, and talked much of the great blessing of full salvation and a Saviour's love. The heavenly world was near, and he rejoiced at the thought of soon being at rest. His disease was pronounced typhoid fever, but he was literally worn out in the Master's service. He sank gradually to rest, with the faithful minister's reward before him, being ministered to in his last hours by a devoted wife, and surrounded by beloved friends.

2. H. D. Bryant was born in Pennsylvania. He removed to the Pacific coast, and was admitted into the California Conference in 1863, where he toiled earnestly and faithfully as his feeble health permitted until he fell at his post. He was paralyzed while preaching, from which he never recovered, though able to distribute the Bible part of the time for two years after the first attack. His life was pure, loving, and useful. He fell asleep in Jesus at his home in Calistoga last May, leaving a wife and five children, who mourn his loss, but rejoice in his good name and their hope of a reunion in the home above.

3. P. L. Haynes was admitted into the California Conference in 1860, appointed to Napa, Vallejo, Downieville, and other important charges, doing a noble work for God and the Church in each. As presiding elder of the Humboldt District he was loved alike by people and preachers. At Downieville, his last charge, he took cold, which terminated in pulmonary consumption, it being too deeply seated for any remedy or climate to cure.

Brother Haynes possessed a noble, generous spirit, free from all that indicates policy; fearless, taking the course he believed right, hence bitter opponents and warm friends. He was a good preacher, often eloquent, never failing to declare the whole counsel of God. In his earlier experience he was at times tempted to doubt through lack of joy, but as he, in much physical pain, came toward the close of life, his spiritual sky brightened, and his hope was as an anchor, sure and steadfast, reaching to that within the vail. "At evening time it shall be light." He leaves a wife and three children to the care and prayer and sympathy of the Church. Praise God! they sorrow not as those who have no hope.

QUEST. 15. Have any died?

T. S. Webb.

THOMAS SMITH WEBB was born near Bellbrook, Ohio, October 28, 1813, and died in Lebanon, Ind., March 31, 1877. He was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at the age of eighteen. In 1839 he was licensed to exhort, and to preach in 1840. He was admitted on trial in the North Indiana Conference in the fall of 1847. The following is the record of Brother Webb's appointments: Attica Circuit, Fifth-street, Lafayette; Eastern Charge, Lafayette; First Charge, Greencastle; Strange Chapel, Indianapolis; South Bend District; Asbury Chapel, Terre Haute; Roberts Chapel, Greencastle; Valparaiso, Crawfordsville, La Porte, Danville, Attica, Perrysville, and in 1876 to Lebanon, where he ceased at once to work and live.

Brother Webb was a man of fine personal presence, with an open, frank countenance, dignified in his bearing, and kind and obliging in his manner. He was in full sympathy with the Church in all her methods of evangelization, and was earnest and zealous in his work as a preacher, not sparing his best energies in winning souls to Christ. He excelled as a revival preacher, and succeeded in bringing many souls to Christ and into fellowship with the Church. He was also a faithful pastor, carefully looking after his people, not only at their homes, but in their shops and places of business. He died, as he lived and worked, in the full faith of the Gospel of Christ. A wife and three daughters survive him, who deserve the sympathy and care of the Church.

J. Jones, G. B. Jocelyn, D. Burns, H. Penfield, J. W. Hulin—5.

1. JOSEPH JONES was born in England, educated for the pulpit of the Establishment there, and came to us by way of Canada, where he had ministered and where he married. His first appearance among us was at Allen. In the fall of 1861 he was admitted on trial in the Michigan Conference, and stationed at Charlotte. The first gun of the Rebellion roused all the lion in him, and at the call of the Twentieth Michigan Volunteers he became its chaplain, went with it to the front, and stood at his post till the triumph of our arms. Resuming his Conference relations in 1866 he served at Mendon three years, a like term at Saint Joseph, and in September, 1872, was appointed to Jackson. Bishop Ames advising, he surrendered this flattering pulpit, and engaged to serve as pastor of an Independent Methodist Church in Baltimore. That engagement was severed by mutual consent but a few days before the Master's "well done" liberated the servant and welcomed him above. The victim of catarrhal disease, for many years he struggled manfully, making few complaints, shrinking from no duty, discharging every trust. At last erysipelas seized him, and raged so violently that after a brief period life became extinct. He fell in the prime of a vigorous manhood, full of deeds as of years. The Baltimore "Preachers' Meeting" expressed in a resolution their confidence in his Christian integrity, and commended him to his earthly rest. "He sleeps well" in the Monumental City.

Brother Jones brought to the pulpit high natural ability. With a perception keen and penetrating, accurate judgment, vigorous and well-sustained thought, earnest and forceful utterance, and an impressive, chaste, and spirited manner, he was fitted for the work of his life as few are. In after years his early preparation, by a broad and thorough culture, ripened into finished scholarship and thoroughness, and he went in and out among us "a workman that needeth not to be ashamed." His varied, careful reading never failed him. His habit of incisive analysis was the admiration of all. At home among the "advanced thinkers," it was a delight as he reveled amid things "new and old." None knew the foundations better than he, and none more reverenced them. In the van of the "advanced," leading where few dared follow, master where others became confused, he loved to sit as a child at the feet of the Father, and to resent any attack on their deliverances. Free, and vigorous and daring as the eagle, sweeping out far as the farthest and high as the grandest flight, he never forgot his "eyrie," nor lost sight of the "cleft rock." Putting himself squarely upon "the foundations," his answer to all comers was, "Here I stand." To these qualities was superadded a religious experience which was intelligent, deep, and thorough. Nothing less could satisfy such a nature. He had felt the need of the cross, had sought and found the "healing waters." Salvation to him was something felt as well as believed, something received as well as provided, and he rested only in the personal manifestations of the divine favor. As a minister of Christ he was kind, conciliatory, and conservative, always attached to the good and the true; but he was an "embassador," and must do the Master's work, and to that work he gave most "diligent attention." His pulpit preparation was ever broad and thorough. Into the sanctuary he scorned to carry "unbeaten oil." In the pastoral relation he met every emergency, every necessity—carried hope to the despairing, comfort to the sorrowful, help to the needy, and threw over the grave of the dying the bright glintings of the "coming glory." May his mantle fall on those worthy to wear it!

2. George Bemis Jocelyn, D.D., the distinguished President of Albion College, died at his residence in Albion, Mich., January 27, 1877, aged fifty-three years.

Born in New Haven, Conn., in 1824, he was early removed by his parents to Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1826, and from thence to New Albany, Ind., in 1830. Here, at the age of fourteen, he was converted to God and received into the Methodist Episcopal Church. License to preach was given him in the Fall of 1843, soon after which he joined the Indiana Conference on trial, and was appointed to Paoli Circuit. In 1844 he was appointed to Rockport. His health failing here, and yielding to the advice of his physicians, he was at the ensuing conference discontinued at his own request. In June, 1844, he opened a select school in Vincennes, Ind., and in September of the same year was placed in charge of the Preparatory Department of Vincennes University, which position he held until September, 1849, when he returned to New Albany, and opened what is known as De Pauw Female College. In 1853 he was elected Professor of Mathematics and Natural Science in Whitewater College, and in 1855 to the Presidency of the same institution. In 1856, his health again failing, he found new employment as general agent for a western railway company and of the Northwestern University. In June, 1857, he was appointed to Fifth-street Church, Des Moines, Iowa, and in 1859 to Zion Church, Burlington. In 1861 he was elected President of the Iowa Wesleyan University at Mount Pleasant, serving meanwhile as pastor of University and Asbury Chapel. In 1864 he was elected President of Albion College, and was transferred from the Iowa to the Detroit Conference. Resigning his presidency in 1869 he was transferred to the Michigan Conference, and stationed at Division-street, Grand Rapids. In 1871 he was re-elected President of Albion College, which position he continued to fill until he at last laid down both his labors and his life together.

In personal appearance President Jocelyn bore the impress which nature loves to set upon her favorite sons, the patent of nobility. Possessor of large natural endowments of brain and heart, and culture by long-continued literary and educational pursuits, he stood among the abler and more efficient educators of the age. As a preacher, in power of thought, perspicuity of style, and impressiveness of manner, he had but few superiors. The ringing clearness of his voice and the ease and naturalness of gesture, together with his commanding logical vigor and timely play of imagination, gave to him as an orator at all times unusual strength, and, when the conditions were most favorable, an almost resistless power. As Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy, his rostrum was "a hill not to be commanded." His lectures on the Evidences will never be forgotten by those who heard them. As president of the college his executive abilities were conspicuous. To his energy the successful establishment of the "Endowment Fund Committee" is to be mainly attributed, a single fact, which alone is sufficient to establish his claim to unusual honor; for in consequence Albion College stands to-day the best endowed "college" in Methodism. President Jocelyn was three times a member of the General Conference, standing at his last election at the head of his delegation. He was also president of the last National Convention which was held at Saratoga, N. Y. His last illness, an acute attack of inflammation of the lungs, in combination with several chronic ailments, was peaceful in the extreme. Calmly debating at times with his physician or friends the doubtful symptoms of his case, at others in cheerful Christian converse, commending his loved ones to God, steadily, yet fearlessly, he went down to the margin of the clouded stream, and wishing all who stood about him "good-night," he quietly passed from view, and has doubtless entered into the rest that remaineth for the children of God.

3. David Burns was born in Ferrisburgh, Vermont, July 1, 1812, and converted at the age of fifteen. He was received on trial by the Ohio Conference in August, 1833, and was stationed on Tiffin Circuit. A member of the Church in Tiffin at the time says he well remembers his warm reception, acceptability, and success on this charge. In 1834 he was sent to the Norwalk and Milan Circuit. In 1835 he was received into full connection, ordained deacon, and appointed to Lima Circuit. In September, 1836, the Michigan Conference was organized, of which he became a member, and served successively Plymouth Circuit, Romeo Circuit, Maumee and Perrysburgh, Ypsilanti, Monroe, and Niles. In 1842 he located, in order to fit himself for more extensive usefulness by a thorough systematic course of study. In 1845 he was readmitted, and stationed in Pontiac. After this, in unbroken succession, he served Flint, Plymouth, Grand Rapids District, Kalamazoo, Coldwater District, Three Rivers, Albion, Lansing, Homer, Charlotte, Berrien, Silver Creek, Edwardsburgh, Paw Paw, Pokagon, and, in 1876, Penfield, where his strong will had to yield, and he returned home to die. The mere mention of the numerous and important appointments he was called to fill is suggestive of a life of ministerial activity and work with rarely a parallel.

Mr. Burns inherited a muscular and robust manhood, which was more fully developed by his occupation as a blacksmith. He had natural endowments of a high order for the ministry. His cheerfulness was as sunlight to all who came into his society. His sociability made open doors and welcome homes wherever he went. With a smile on his face, and kindness in his words and actions, the avenue to the heart could scarcely be closed. But nature was admirably supplemented by grace. He was thoroughly converted all over. Full of faith and the Holy Ghost, he loved to dwell in the valley of humility, and there drink of the waters of salvation fresh from the throne. From such communion with God he brought into his ministry a heart fully consecrated and baptized, and God, who met him in secret, rewarded him openly. From the first his preaching met with great favor among the people. His mind was well stored with biblical and theological truth. At times his discourses were clothed with a divine unction and power, lifting him above the atmosphere of the merely earthly.

David Burns was a true man, ennobled by religion. As a Christian, as a minister of the Gospel, as a friend, as a husband and parent, in all these relations he served well his generation. His end was peaceful; his work was done. "The weary wheels of life stood still," and the redeemed soul, like the uncaged bird, soared to its native heaven. Thus, at the good age of sixty-five, after a connection with the Church of half a century and with the ministry of forty-four years, all effective but three, he passed from toil to rest, from honorable service to reward.

The sympathies and prayers of the whole Church will cluster around the stricken widow and the five surviving children. May their crushed hopes be fragrant with the divine benediction, and this sore trial work for their present and eternal good!

4. Henry Penfield died at Three Rivers, Mich., on Jan. 17, 1877, of paralysis of the throat. Brother Penfield was born in Westmoreland, N. Y., Nov. 30, 1813. He was converted to God at Lowell, N. Y., in the eighteenth year of his age, and at once united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was licensed to exhort in the early years of his religious experience, and having decided convictions of his call to the ministry, he began to make preparation for his life work. In 1835 he removed to Michigan. In 1839 he was licensed to preach, and in 1843 was admitted on trial, and appointed to Dundee Circuit. He remained here, however, but about one month, when the authorities of the Church removed him to Palmyra, where he served the balance of the year. In 1844 he was appointed to Dearbornville Circuit. In 1845 he was admitted into full connection, and appointed to Manchester, and in 1846 to Burlington and Nottawa Indian Mission. The following year he was stationed at Litchfield, where he remained two years, since which time he has occupied successively the following charges: Girard, Centerville, Hudson, Grand Rapids District, Three Rivers Charge, Litchfield, Niles District, and Centerville Charge. In 1868 he was superannuated, and continued in that relation up to the time of his death. He was in the active work twenty-five years, eight of which were in the Presiding Eldership, and seventeen in the pastorate. He was elected to the General Conference held at Buffalo, and again to the one held at Philadelphia. As a presiding officer Brother Penfield was unsurpassed, and as a preacher had few equals, being clear, forcible, and logical. He was very successful in leading souls to Christ, and many in the great day will rise up and call him blessed. He died in great peace, his last words being, "I am almost home; and, blessed be God! all is well!" To a brother minister, who asked of his hope in Christ, he said, "I have tried to be true to him, and he does not forsake me now." "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints."

5. James W. Hulin died in Middleville, Barry County, May 9, 1877. He was born in Startington, Frontenac County, Canada, December 6, 1830. At the age of sixteen he was "born again," and at once united with the Methodist Episcopal Church of Canada. Three years later he was authorized to hold public meetings for exhortation and prayer. In 1856 he was licensed to preach, and was admitted on trial in the Canada Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In this connection he devoted seventeen years of active, useful labor, and they were years productive of great and glorious results, the extent of which eternity alone can disclose. In 1873, his health failing, he left Canada for the State of New York, fully accredited as a minister of Christ. He was soon called to supply a vacant charge in the Northern New York Conference, on which charge his labors were fruitful of glorious results. While there he made the acquaintance of Brother H. F. Spencer of this Conference, who, impressed with his earnest zeal and amiable Christian deportment and usefulness, unofficially invited him to make the Michigan Conference the field of his future labors. He at once opened correspondence with the presiding elder of the Grand Rapids District, which led to his final introduction into our Conference as a fellow-laborer among us.

Brother Hulin's first and only appointment within the bounds of this Conference was the Middleville Charge, to which he was assigned for two successive years. He went to his work hopefully, trusting in God for great and glorious results, and was not disappointed. God gave him not only souls as the seal of his ministry, but the hearts of his people. His second year of labor was interrupted by feeble health. He was stricken down with paralysis while in the pulpit at Hastings, August 22, 1876. It continued its visits at brief intervals until the final stroke, which quenched the vital spark.

Brother Hulin was a man of good pulpit abilities, possessed of earnest zeal, and undivided consecration to God and his work, and many among us will cherish the memory of his name. His presiding elder, Brother Barnes, in speaking of him, said: "Often during his last illness he was very happy in Christ, and there was a joyous triumph. When he could no longer speak he would point heavenward." Thus terminated the life of a devoted minister of the Church, a kind and genial brother, and an affectionate and devoted husband.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

T. Finley, J. Grant—2.

1. THEODORE FINLEY was born in Guernsey County, Ohio, August 25, 1846, and died March 28, 1876. He was trained in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, was converted to God in early boyhood, and commenced preaching at the age of twenty-two in connection with the Pittsburgh Conference, with which he served the following appointments: Senecaville, Stafford, Beverly, and Beaver Falls. He was married to Miss Alice C. Brown, in Beverly, Ohio, November 12, 1874. She is left a widow with one child.

Brother Finley was a man of one work, and gave himself wholly to it. He had heard the inspired direction, "Be thou an example to the believers in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity," and obeyed it. His six years in the ministry were years of great usefulness. In the highest and truest sense of the term he was successful. Having inherited a predisposition to consumption, his health was never firm. He seemed to realize that the work committed to him must be done quickly. He was constantly reminded that "the night cometh." When the Saviour cometh to reckon up his jewels there will, doubtless, be found many who were gathered through his ministry. No expression of affection or eloquence can fitly commemorate a life so unselfish, so useful, so beautiful. His record is on high.

2. JOHN GRANT was born in the town of Forrest, Scotland. In 1833, at the age of ten, he came with his parents to America, settling first in Canada, and two years later in Pittsburgh, Pa., where he continued to make his home until he entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church. His earliest religious training was in the Scotch Presbyterian Church, of which his parents were members. When about sixteen years of age he became a member of the Sabbath-school of the Smithfield-street Methodist Episcopal Church, and about one year later was converted, and united with the Church. In 1845 he was licensed to preach, and about one year after he was admitted on trial in the Pittsburgh Conference, and sent to Paris Circuit. His subsequent appointments were Addison, Blairsville, Warrenton, Hanover, New Brighton, Bridgewater, Uniontown, Tarentum, Beverly, Massillon, Carrollton, Richmond, Saint Clairsville, Rochester, Coopersdale, Blairsville, (second term,) Fifth Avenue, (Pittsburgh,) and Salem.

At the close of his second year at Salem Brother Grant's health was too frail to justify his taking another appointment. The Conference at this session being in process of division he was transferred from the Ohio to the Pittsburgh portion, and took up his residence in Alleghany City.

In social life Brother Grant was one of the most genial, generous, and companionable of men. His friendship was unaffected and unexacting. In his religious life he was strictly conscientious and remarkably uniform, and was eminently qualified, as a minister, for the work of his calling. His sermons were generally of the expository type. His public discourses were always thoroughly prepared, often written out in full, but seldom either memorized or read. His ministry was honored by the conversion of souls in all his charges, and in some by most gracious revivals. But the work to which Brother Grant seemed to be especially called by the Master, and which he filled, was the edifying of the Church, the building up of believers in the faith of the Gospel. He died at his home in Alleghany City, Pa., March 22, 1877, in the fifty-fourth year of his age. His last hours abounded in the manifestations of the preciousness of the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ.

S. M. Beatty.

SAMUEL MILLER BEATTY was born in Hagerstown, Md., December 8, 1805, and died in Toledo, O., November 22, 1876, aged seventy-one years. At the age of nineteen he was converted at a camp-meeting in Waynesburgh, Pa. At Mercersburgh, Pa., he married Eliza Jane Hall, who now survives him. Of their four children, only one, the youngest, is still living. He was licensed as a local preacher July 9, 1831, and from that time he preached as opportunity offered until 1841, when he entered the North Ohio Conference. His fields of labor were Middleburgh, Greenville, Saint Mary's, Middleburgh, Kalida, Gilboa, Fremont, Milan, Bellevue, Sandusky, Cleveland, Bridge-st., Avon, and Medina; Cleveland Bethel for one year; from 1861 until close of the war in United States hospital at Cleveland; then one year in Bethel agency; and then in Bethel, at Toledo, until his death.

In personal appearance Father Beatty was far above the average of men. He had a tall, erect, well-developed figure, a head well formed, with a face that beamed with good nature, and showed the nobler qualities of manhood. He naturally possessed a disposition warm, frank, and genial, which, under the influence of divine grace, became one of abounding benevolence and good-will. His educational advantages in early life were only those of the common school, but being a careful student of human nature, and earnest in his devotion to the work of his Master, he became "a workman who needed not to be ashamed." During the years of his regular work in the ministry success every-where attended him in winning men to Christ. He possessed the spirit and emulated the example of his Master, especially in caring for the neglected classes. He espoused with great earnestness the cause of seamen and railroad men. Among that class of men he was peculiarly successful, and hundreds of them, in the cities of Cleveland and Toledo, gratefully cherish his memory. He had been suffering for several months, but his death was sudden and unexpected. The messenger, however, found him ready. With "those who have turned many to righteousness" he shall shine for ever and ever.

1. John Slee was born October 26, 1800, in Leeds, England. He was converted and joined the Wesleyan Methodist Church in his tenth year. He received license to preach at eighteen, and preached with regularity and acceptability until he came to this country in 1833. He settled in Delta, Oneida County, N. Y., and did regular Sabbath work as a local preacher. In 1839 he was employed by the presiding elder on the Black River Circuit. In 1840 he joined the Black River Conference on trial, and served the following charges with great acceptability: Lee, Vienna, Herkimer, Marcy, Newport, Boonville and West Turin, Butler, Red Creek, Cato, Cicero, Cleveland, and New Haven. In 1861 he was appointed to Waddington Charge, but his health was so poor he did not go to his appointment. After resting one year he was appointed to Huron Charge, where he spent the last two years of his effective ministry. His work as an itinerant being done, he retired to his little home at Red Creek, preaching occasionally and being greatly respected and beloved by the people of that community. In 1875 he went to Auburn, N. Y., so as to reside near one of his sons while suffering from increased infirmities.

Brother Slee was married January 4, 1826, and had spent a happy wedded life of over fifty years with the one now left a widow to mourn the loss of him who had been so dear to her. January 4, 1877, the family had a pleasant reunion on the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of the father and mother. It was little thought that so soon the loved and honored father would be removed by death. In February he caught a severe cold, resulting in influenza. His cough brought on his old difficulty, bronchitis. Four weeks previous to his death he fell and broke the small bone of his hip. The day previous to his death he was comfortable. In the afternoon, when talking to some members of his family of his unshaken confidence in God, he said that he could trust himself, his family, and all his interests in the hands of the Lord, who had done so much for him. He then sang a favorite piece, "Cast thy burden on the Lord," repeating the chorus twice. He was comfortable and cheerful the rest of the day. On Friday morning he was apparently failing rapidly. He left no dying testimony, but that which was better, sixty-six years spent in the service of God in consistent and earnest Christian life. His record is on high, and doubtless an abundant entrance was given him to the abodes of the blessed.

2. William Adams died in Sioux City, Iowa, June 13, 1877, in his forty-seventh year. He was born January 1, 1831, in Sheerness, England. With his widowed mother and other members of her family he came to this country in 1841. He was converted at the age of nineteen, and found a spiritual home in connection with the Baptist Church. Future study and investigation led him to leave that Church for a membership in the Methodist Episcopal Church, which he loved with all the ardor of his nature, and served it with all his energies to the end of his life. After taking a preparatory course at Cazenovia he joined the Oneida Conference in 1855. The appointments he filled were Onondaga, Cardiff, Lennox, Conassalon, North Lansing, Amber, Scott, Cuyler and De Ruyter, M'Lean and Groton City, Tully, Newfield, Fleming, Rushville, Cayuga, Owasco. He served these charges with fidelity, ability, and success.

Brother Adams was an extensive reader, a diligent student, a close thinker, a fluent writer, and a ready speaker. Possessing indomitable will, power, and energy of character, he made his way to the front ranks of his brethren in the Conference as a thinker and a preacher. March 12, 1858, he was wedded to Miss Betsey M. Teachout, at Guilford, who was indeed a help mate to her husband in his life's work, and has proved herself a devoted wife in his protracted sickness and death. The seeds of disease had long been sown in his constitution, but were resolutely resisted. Two years ago, while serving the Cayuga Charge, his disease assumed a dangerous form. He was advised to rest, as the only chance of his recovery; but his earnest soul could not rest; he must work on. One year ago last winter he took a vacation from his charge at Owasco, and sought health amid the orange groves of Florida. He was partially successful. There was hopeful improvement. But returning too early in the spring he took a cold, which soon robbed him of all he had gained in his southern tour. Still he continued to work until last February, when he resigned his charge, having neither strength nor voice to do more. Sheer necessity drove him from the field. With a reluctance which was truly touching to behold, he sheathed his sword and retired from the conflict. Though driven from active work, he did not give up to die. His strong will still resisted; his hope was even buoyant. When he was so far reduced that his friends had no hope of his recovery his attention was turned to Nebraska, still hoping to find relief in its genial climate. With his wife he spent a few weeks there, but was doomed to disappointment. He was finally overtaken by death at Sioux City, Iowa. In a city of strangers he found friends. Rev. T. M. Williams, a conference associate in the Oneida Conference, kindly took him to his home, where he spent his last days, greatly comforted that he had the privilege of dying in the home of a brother minister. Rev. L. Hartsough, another conference associate, with his wife, greatly cheered him with a visit. Other Christians with sympathy gathered around God's servant dying in a strange land. When told by his physician he had but a short time to stay, he exclaimed, "Safe! safe! safe! It is all right." June 11, at midnight, Brother Williams wrote: "Brother Adams is the happiest man I ever saw. The way has grown bright and glorious. He says, 'It is wonderful! wonderful! I am sailing in a sea of bliss that no tongue can describe.' He quoted the Scripture passage, 'My peace I give unto you,' and said, 'I never understood it before. It is such peace; I cannot tell it.' He has whispered back to us for two hours to-night in a strain that I shall never forget, but cannot repeat." Still later Sister Williams wrote: "Brother Adams just now said, 'O, I love him with all my heart, soul, and strength! Jesus is the captain of my salvation.'" With similar expressions, showing his perfect victory over death, he at last rested from his labors and suffering.

QUEST. 15. Have any died?

Richard Doughty, F. A. Timmons, William Glen, Jesse Van Law—4.

1. RICHARD DOUGHTY was born in Muskingum County, O., March 23, 1812, and died at Zaleski, O., March 12, 1877. His religious impressions began when he was but six years old, resulting in his conversion and union with the Church at thirteen. Under a long continued sense of duty, he accepted license to exhort at the age of twenty. He was licensed to preach June 23, 1833, and the next year joined the Ohio Conference, and remained a member of it forty-three years. His appointments were Richmond, Guyandotte, Tarleton, Jackson, Richmond again, Piketon, Granville, Orville, Adelphi, Asbury, Groveport, Johnstown, Baltimore, Rushville, Dublin, Grove City, Worthington, Mt. Sterling, Adelphi again, Waverley, Nelsonville, Berlin, M'Arthur, and in 1876 to Zaleski.

Brother Doughty was twice married; the first time to Miss Julia Morrison, July 23, 1832, and the second time to Miss Anna Maria Hall, May 29, 1838. By his second marriage he had eight children, six of whom are still living to comfort the bereaved wife and mother.

Brother Doughty was a round, complete man rather than a great man. As a preacher, he was neither profound nor sensational, but rather sound, steady, and safe. He aimed, as he said, to do the ordinary work of a Methodist preacher as the average man should do it, and he succeeded. He was on the lookout for young men who had convictions about preaching, and was successful in leading many into the ministry. In matters pertaining to Church and parsonage buildings he had a deep interest and excellent judgment, and sufficient decision to carry out his wishes. He succeeded in buying or building sixteen parsonages and many churches, and their prosperity in after years proved his judgment good. Soon after receiving his last appointment his health began to fail, and continued gradually to decline up to the time of his death. On account of a disease of the stomach, which prevented his system from appropriating nourishment, he was worn to a skeleton; but he was reverently patient, and went down into the valley of death without a fear or a murmur. His faith was victory. A few days before he died he said to his family: "You ought not to sorrow; I shall go like one in a sweet dream. I am ready to go at any moment." At the last he raised his hands and moved them, smiled brightly, and passed away in triumph.

2. F. A. TIMMONS was born in Ross Co., O., February 2, 1808. He was married to Nancy Wiley, at Frankfort, O., December 10, 1839; was received into the Ohio Conference in 1832; ordained deacon August 24, 1834; ordained elder October 2, 1836. His appointments have been as follows: Greenville, Milford, Greenville again, Eaton, Guyandotte, Point Pleasant, Charleston, Logan Court House, West Union, Jacksonville, Hillsborough, Highland, Clarksville, North Bend, Union, and, in 1849, to Kingston, after which he located till 1853. He was then appointed to Jeffersonville, and successively thereafter to Groveport, Pickerington, Johnstown, Worthington, Deer Creek, Bainbridge, Wilksville, M'Arthur, and was superannuated in 1868.

Brother Timmons was tall and athletic in his person, fair in his complexion, and of an intelligent countenance. He was eminent for song, his voice being clear, strong, and manly. As a Christian and a minister he was admired and esteemed by hundreds who knew or had heard of him. He was cheerful and agreeable, and at the same time solemn in his deportment. In him we behold a devotion of a refined character. It was at once both humble and elevated in its nature. His language in prayer was the most natural and child-like, while his earnestness clearly evinced that he had immediate access to the mercy-seat. His judgment was good in the selection of a subject applicable to his audience, and his memory such that he was seldom at a loss. His eloquence was purely that of the pulpit. There was nothing trifling in his matter or manner when he was engaged on an important point. He informed the judgment by giving instruction to the mind, and communicating divine light in a solemn and impressive manner. His sermons were warm, pathetic addresses to his people, in which he very judiciously connected doctrinal, experimental, and practical religion. He died in peace at Clarksburgh, Ross County, O.

3. WILLIAM GLEN, pastor of Kingston Circuit, died August 4, aged fifty years. He was born in Belmont County, July 15, 1827. He joined the Church in M'Connelsville at the age of twenty-one. He was married to Miss Mary Janeway in his twenty-third year. Was licensed to preach at Marietta when he was twenty-nine, and entered the Ohio Conference six months afterward. His appointments were Plymouth, Pleasanton, Chester, Racine and Syracuse, Gallipolis, Waverley, Bournville, New Holland, and in 1876 to Kingston. He served as one of the secretaries of the Ohio Conference for twelve years, and was one of the most competent, careful, and accurate men, using the greatest patience, and sparing no labor to have the work intrusted to him all right and true. His last illness was an affection of the brain, and lasted a month, during which time he endured great suffering. His confidence in Christ was complete to the last. He often quoted the word of God and our most prominent hymns on his death bed. In the midst of his great suffering he manifested great care for his charge.

It would be easy to pronounce a eulogy on this good man, whose praise is in all the Churches where he has been stationed. He has left a savor of good report in the minds of all that knew him, which is stronger than eloquence. As a preacher he was modest, clear, and sound, always interesting to thinkers and Bible readers; a man of extensive reading and general knowledge. His extreme timidity and humility sometimes almost hid the jewel that was in him. Although this was his first year on Kingston Circuit, he had already so won the love and esteem of the people that during his sickness they spared no pains to do him good. May his mantle fall on the young men that God may call to fill the ranks of his faithful reapers in the great ripening harvest which is ready for such holy men; may kind providence attend our dear Sister Glen, who has lost such a loving husband; and may the three children follow in the footsteps of their honored father!

4. JESSE VAN LAW was born near St. Clairsville, O., Sept. 5, 1831. During his childhood his parents moved to Chester Hill, Morgan County, O. August 25, 1853, he was married to Rachel Patterson. In 1850 he removed to Athens, O., where he kept a book-store for nine years, and edited the "Athens Messenger." In 1863 he became the teacher of a class of young ladies in the Sunday-school. He made his duties as a teacher a matter of conscience from the beginning, and they soon became a matter of devotion and love. By gradual steps he was led forward in his religious experiences till he felt that he must make public confession of his faith in Christ, and seek a recognized place among his followers. He united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in January, 1869. This done, a higher duty impressed itself on him. In less than a year he was a preacher of the word of life in connection with the Ohio Conference. It now became his one object to lead others after him, or, rather, with him, to Christ. He preached one year at Coolville, three years at Belpre, two years at Whitney Chapel, Marietta, and almost two years at Somerset. Of his faithfulness and earnestness in this high work, of the increasing depth and force of his religious life, of the sacrifice of secular interest that these things cost him, of the impassioned purpose that possessed him to press on in duty and in growth, content with loss and disappointment, only the fewest have ever fully known. God knew, and he makes such a life its own exceeding great reward. The last months preceding his death were months of tranquil and cheerful trust. He lived in blessed peace, sustained by a blessed faith. His last hours, so surprisingly sweet, so surpassingly grand, left a holy spell that will long abide in the hearts of those who were permitted to stand with him during that season of transfiguration. He died at Somerset, June 18.

Brother Van Law was a man of high character. From the time he became the director of his own course he constantly sought to improve himself, and every year he was a more intelligent, a more useful, and, if possible, a truer man. In social life he was genial and cordial, full of sympathy and sincerity. A more generous, appreciative, or devoted friend could not be found. He possessed a genuine poetic sensibility. His poem "Around Athens," read on a commencement occasion at the Ohio University, and afterward published, was, perhaps, his best poetical production, although several of his short poems were of more than average merit. But he has left us to join the heavenly host in singing the praises of his Redeemer, who made him meet to enter the realms of light.

Wanser P. Fair.

WANSER P. FAIR died in the triumphs of faith December 13, 1876. The last charge assigned to him was the Midway Circuit, Russellville District. Brother Fair was born and raised in South Carolina. The number of the years of his pilgrimage is unknown. In all of them of which we have knowledge he was true and faithful. During the few years he was connected with the Holston Conference he bore an unblemished character, and was always zealous and useful in his various fields of labor. His work for the Church was hard, with poor pay, yet he did not murmur. As he lived, so he died, a faithful minister of the Lord Jesus Christ. The record of his labors is written on high—God will preserve them in everlasting remembrance.

Thomas More.

THOMAS MORE was born in Buffalo, N. Y., May 19, 1832. He was converted, and joined the Church, in December, 1852; received license to exhort March 27, 1854, and to preach June 3, 1854. He was admitted on trial in the Iowa Conference in 1854, and remained a faithful and efficient minister in the regular work until the Master called him to come up higher and rest from his labors. His now deeply afflicted widow says of him in a letter to Brother Ingham: "There has never been a break in all the twenty-two years of his connection with the Conference, as he never located, superannuated, or left his charge before the close of the conference year, until this year, when he received his appointment from the Highest Authority a little in advance of the rest of the preachers."

His illness was brief, but very painful. In his lucid moments he triumphed in the sustaining grace of God, and rejoiced in the hope of heaven and eternal life. His mind was much disturbed by the nature of his disease, but just before his decease, on Sabbath morning, the clouds seemed to lift from his mind, and, with a clear and joyous view of his home above, he sweetly fell asleep in Jesus. He died September 19, 1877.

Brother More was a modest, diffident man, but an able and successful preacher. His life was consistent and pure. His love for his work and his brethren was only surpassed by his love for the Master and his Church. We sympathize with Sister More and her two children in their sad bereavement, and assure them that our prayers shall ascend to the Father of all consolation on their behalf.

G. W. Williams.

GEORGE W. WILLIAMS was born in Oswego County, N. Y., in 1845, and died in Hollow Rock, Tenn., February, 1877, in his thirty-third year. He served as a soldier in the Federal army during the war, and was promoted for efficient and meritorious conduct. After the war, prompted by motives of Christian philanthropy, he came South, and engaged in educational work under the auspices of the Freedmen's Aid Society. In 1869 he was received into the Tennessee Conference, and successively appointed to the following places: Smeedville, now Dickson, Savannah and Huntingdon Circuits, serving on the last three years. He then served as professor in West Tennessee Seminary, next as professor in Hollow Rock Seminary, and in 1876 he was appointed as Principal in West Tennessee Seminary. In connection with these conference appointments he rendered most efficient service as superintendent of public schools in Carroll County.

In all these fields of labor Brother Williams was a model of earnest, untiring devotion to duty, a most zealous and self-sacrificing servant of the Church and of humanity, and in all the relations of life as a man, husband, father, citizen, and friend, he was most exemplary, and his memory will long be cherished by his surviving comrades in the army of Jesus. In the death of Brother Williams the Methodist Episcopal Church has lost a faithful and successful minister, the cause of Christian education a most able, efficient, and devoted worker, and the country a pure and disinterested patriot, and it is the plain duty of the members of this Conference to extend to his bereaved family and relatives their sincere sympathy, and to prayerfully commend them to the tender care of that God who doeth all things well.

T. Manuel.

THOMAS MANUEL died in Madison, Wisconsin, June 23, 1877, aged thirty-four. He was converted to God and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in his twentieth year. In 1866 he was licensed to preach. At the session of the West Wisconsin Conference in 1867 he was admitted on trial, and served with acceptability and success the following charges: De Soto, Viroqua, Sextonville, Fennimore, Wilton, and Tomah. In 1873, his health failing, his brethren in the conference urged him to take a supernumerary relation, hoping that rest would restore him to perfect soundness of mind and body. In the fall of the same year, under the advice of ministerial and medical friends, he placed himself under treatment at the asylum at Madison, where he remained, without any apparent improvement, until his death. During his sickness he manifested great delight in talking about his Saviour, but now he has gone to be forever with him. He was a good man, and was highly respected wherever known. His friends all felt that his burial was "in sure and certain hope of a glorious resurrection."

QUEST. 15. Have any died?

J. W. Hutchinson, John S. Barger, Newton Cloud, Granville Bond,* A. Bland, George J. Barrett—6.

1. JAMES W. HUTCHINSON was born in Prince Edward's Island, October 6, 1796. In early life he was a sailor. Shipwrecked on the coast of Patagonia, almost starving, and with death staring him in the face, he felt that he was unprepared to meet his God. He promised that if spared he would seek the salvation of his soul. Accordingly, on reaching England, he sought and found pardon, and in 1823 connected himself with the Wesleyan connection at Arnold, in Nottinghamshire. In 1846 he was received on trial in the Illinois Conference. After traveling one year he retired from the work, but was received again in 1854, and continued in the effective work of the ministry until 1865, when, health failing, he was placed on the superannuated list, in which relation he remained till the time of his death. He was a good man, and an efficient and successful preacher. Many souls were won by him to Christ.

2. JOHN S. BARGER was born in Culpepper County, Va., Dec. 5, 1802, and died in Bloomington, Illinois, Jan. 4, 1877. He was converted in Kentucky in his nineteenth year. Two years afterward he was received on trial in the Kentucky Conference, traveling successively Bowling Green, Logan, Clark's River, Hopkinsville, Jefferson, Logan, Henry, and Limestone. In 1831 he was transferred to Missouri Conference, and stationed in Saint Louis. The next year he was transferred to Illinois Conference, of which he remained an honored member till death. For fourteen years he was presiding elder in Kaskaskia, Wabash, Quincy, Lewistown, Bloomington, and Jacksonville Districts. Two years he served as agent for M'Kendree College,

* Obituary not received.

and two as agent for Illinois Wesleyan University. One year he was chaplain in the army. His remaining appointments were as follows: Jacksonville, Lebanon, Sangamon, Springfield, Randolph Grove, Clinton, Shelbyville, Chatham, Mendon, Jacksonville Circuit, Danville Circuit, M'Lean, San Jose, Atlanta, Williamsville, and Twin Grove. In 1870 he was placed on the superannuated list, and remained in that relation until death.

Brother Barger was in many respects a remarkable man. Of fine appearance, of gentlemanly manners, with a melodious voice, a ready flow of words, and an intense desire to win souls to Christ, he was in his prime regarded as one of the best preachers in the Conference. The character of his appointments shows the estimate in which he was held by his brethren and the episcopacy. His religious experience was remarkably clear and definite. While traveling in the Kaskaskia District, during a protracted fever, he felt the need of heart purity, and, surrendering himself more fully to the Lord than before, he experienced in a remarkable degree the length and breadth and depth and height of perfect love. From that time until the end of life he proved the power of the grace that saves to the uttermost. His death was sudden. Retiring in usual health at night, the next morning he "was not, for God took him."

3. Newton Cloud was born in Stokes County, N. C., November 30, 1804. He was converted in Logan County, Ky., in 1823, and was received on trial in the Illinois Conference in 1853, and filled appointments in the following order: Franklin, Jacksonville Circuit, Carrollton, Franklin, Sangamon, Rochester, Girard, Franklin. In 1868 he retired from active labor, and continued on the superannuated list until death.

Before becoming a member of Conference Brother Cloud was a prominent politician. He was president of the Constitutional Convention of the State of Illinois of 1848. For two or three terms he was a member of the Legislature. But in all the positions he occupied in the Church or the State he was the consistent Christian, and the upright, honorable gentleman. He was the friend and associate of Lincoln, and Douglas, and Hardin, and Duncan. Ever true to his God, his family, his Church, and his country, he exerted a quiet, restraining influence upon the impetuous ardor of the politicians with whom he was associated. Though remarkable for his modesty and courtesy in all the varied responsible positions to which he was called, he gave evidence of marked and commanding ability. He died at his residence at Franklin, Illinois, July 22, 1877.

4. Ambrose Bland was born in Muskingum County, Ohio, January 5, 1834. In early life he was converted, but refusing to yield to his convictions of duty to preach the Gospel, he lost his standing in the favor of God, and for many years remained in a state of alienation from him. In the winter of 1873 he was powerfully reclaimed, and immediately began the work to which God had called him. In 1874 he was received on trial in the Illinois Conference, and assigned to Palmer Circuit. He labored there faithfully and successfully. The next year was spent on the Hopedale Circuit, in which he had good success in all the departments of his work. At the Conference of 1876 he was received into full connection, ordained deacon, and appointed to Heyworth Circuit. He reached his charge, preached one sermon, and was then prostrated with the disease of which he died. During his illness of about a month, despite the suffering he endured, he constantly triumphed in God his Saviour. When told by his physician that he was near his end, and could live but a day or two at most, he replied, "Doctor, that is good news." He died November 10, 1876.

Brother Bland was a man of good ability, fair education, and possessed of a kind and gentle spirit. He leaves a wife and two little children.

5. George J. Barrett was born in Mechanicsville, N. Y., February 22, 1818, and died near Beardstown, Illinois, February 19, 1877. In early life, while at Zanesville, Ohio, he professed religion, and soon after united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In his eighteenth year he was employed as a teacher among the Chippewa Indians, at Green Bay, Wisconsin, under the superintendency of Rev. John Clark, of precious memory. In 1838 he united with the Illinois Conference, and continued to travel for ten years, when, owing to impaired health, he was compelled to locate. As soon as he was able he was requested to preach for the Congregational Church, and remained with them for fifteen years, preaching for several of their congregations with great acceptability. In 1863 he reunited with the Methodist Episcopal Church, was again received into Conference, and remained a Methodist itinerant until death. His last appointment was Grigg's Chapel. Having preached two sermons of wonderful power—for he was one of our best preachers—he retired to the house of a friend to spend the night. Before retiring he complained of his head. He grew worse rapidly, and the following morning passed from time to eternity.

Brother Barrett was probably the wittiest man ever connected with the Illinois Conference. Being always buoyant and cheerful, he scattered sunshine wherever he went. But with all his humor he possessed the greatest reverence for divine things, and an intense desire to save souls. He was a man of strong convictions, ever ready to battle for the right. With shams and shoddy and place-seeking in the Church he had no sympathy, and his scathing irony and ridicule of what he thought wrong will not soon be forgotten. He was a brave man. Often in the days when the pro-slavery sentiment was dominant in the land did he risk property, liberty, and life to secure the freedom and safety of those who were escaping from bondage. His gifts to the fugitive and the needy were only limited by his means. Some years since he made a tour through Great Britain and part of continental Europe, and probably no one ever saw more, or gained more information in the same time, as shown in the eloquent lecture he delivered after his return.

J. H. Leonard, C. C. Bushby, C. Perkins—3.

1. Joseph Helmer Leonard was born in Prescott, Canada, March 22, 1809. His parents were members of the Presbyterian Church: on his father's side from Massachusetts, on his mother's side from Scotland; but having been converted among the Methodists, he identified himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church of Canada, and became warmly and firmly attached both to its doctrines and polity. In 1828, when nineteen years of age, he was licensed as a local preacher, and now feeling that he was called to prepare himself for the great work of preaching the glorious Gospel of the blessed God, he spent five or six years in the pursuit of those studies which would aid him in the work of the ministry. In June, 1838, he was ordained deacon, and September 6, 1840, elder. He was successively appointed to Picton, Augusta, Belleville, Sidney, and Brighton. At the Annual Conference in 1843 he was appointed Book Agent, and established the Methodist Book Concern in Cobourg, and in the following November in company with Rev. Thomas Webster, commenced editing and publishing the "Canada Christian Advocate," which was subsequently purchased by the Church. During his connection with the publishing in Cobourg and Toronto he published the "Newcastle Courier," "Christian Messenger," "Greenlief's Chart," and edited and published the "Canadian Gem" and the Church Almanac.

The ministry of Brother Leonard was wonderfully owned of the Lord in Canada, and there were gathered into the Church hundreds of precious souls every year of itinerant ministry. In July, 1852, under the appointment of the Western Seaman's Friend Society, of which his brother, Rev. R. H. Leonard, of the Presbyterian Church, was secretary and superintendent, he entered the Chaplaincy to Seamen in Cleveland, O. He labored with much interest and success for two or three years in Cleveland, when he was transferred to the work among the seamen in Chicago about twenty-three years ago. Soon after coming to Chicago he became connected with the Rock River Conference, in which he continued to the time of his death, June 19, 1877, in the sixty-ninth year of his age and the forty-ninth of his ministry. In addition to his other arduous labors, he served during our late civil war as chaplain in the United States army, being appointed to the marine and army hospital in Chicago as post chaplain.

March 22, 1832, he was married to Miss Susannah Lockwood, who survives him, with three children, all of whom are following in his steps in emulation of his piety.

As a son Brother Leonard was obedient to the requirements of his father, and when that father was removed by death from the head of a large family, he took as far as he could the father's place in providing for the wants of the family. He sought not only the bread that perishes, but also, by his earnest devotion and godly example, was made a blessing to his mother's family. As a minister of the Gospel he was well informed, and out of the treasures of his heart and mind he could bring forth instruction for those who attended his ministry. His death was sudden and unexpected; but as he had lived for the Lord he also died for the Lord. He was always ready to go and be forever with the Lord. He now rests from his labors, and his works do follow him.

2. Christopher C. Bushby was born in Yorkshire, England, January 1, 1839. When but three years old his parents emigrated to America, and settled in Lafayette County, Wisconsin. Early in 1861 he was converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In April of the same year he was united in marriage to Miss Sarah Frances Coombs, who now, with four children, are sadly bereaved by his decease. Brother Bushby proved himself to be an affectionate husband, and a tender, indulgent father. In 1863 he joined the West Wisconsin Conference, in which his fields of labor were successively, Beetown, De Soto, Beetown, Patch Grove, Monroe and Mineral Point. He was greatly beloved on those charges. Gracious revivals followed his labors, and doubtless hundreds of redeemed souls will arise at the judgment-day to call him blessed. His preaching was at once sound, instructive, and pleasantly piquant. It abounded in apt illustrations and similes, which were at once forcible and effective. A year ago he was transferred to this Conference, and was sent to the Forreston Charge. He preached two Sabbaths, and each time with peculiar acceptability and power. His last sermon was a thrilling one, from the text: "There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death." It produced a profound impression on the large audience which crowded the church. Several of the auditors have said that for some time after they frequently seemed to hear his voice ringing out at the turn of some point made in the sermon: "But O the end! the end!! the end thereof!!!" There were marked indications of a speedy and glorious revival. But "God's ways are not as our ways." On Friday, November 10, he was stricken down with typhoid fever. He received the best of attention, but could not recover, and fell asleep in Jesus November 18, 1876. Before his death the delirium of the fever subsided, and, when rational, he became very happy. He exultingly exclaimed: "I shall soon be with Abraham, and Moses, and Paul, and Jesus, and the loved ones who have gone before. I shall preach there—no, I have preached on earth—I shall sing there." Then he had the family and friends sing, "Shall we gather at the river?" during which he clasped his hands, and tried to join in the song. Though he had strongly wished to live that he might be more useful, he triumphed at the approach of death, and cried, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? Thanks be unto God who giveth me the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." Thus passed away Christopher C. Bushby, in only the thirty-eighth year of his age. In his life and ministry Brother Bushby manifested geniality without rudeness, self-assertion without vanity, positiveness without dogmatism, and piety without cant. By his death the Conference has been deprived of a useful worker, and his afflicted widow and four fatherless children have suffered an irreparable loss, which gives them a large claim upon our sympathies and in our prayers.

3. Charles Perkins was born of Puritan lineage at New London, Conn., February 22, 1810. His parents having become Methodists, his earliest recollections were of the preaching of Bishop Hedding (then a presiding elder) in the orchard of Brother Perkins' father. Removing with his parents to the frontier of Pennsylvania when a child, he grew up in its pioneer days, learned a trade, removed to New York State, and was married to Miss Mary Curtis, of Utica. His wife, a devoted Methodist, after their return to Pennsylvania, induced her husband to go to hear a sermon by her uncle, Rev. Henry Curtis. Under this sermon he was awakened. After two or three days and nights, in which his sorrow bordered on despair, he found peace in Christ, and joy unspeakable filled his soul. He was converted August 28, 1836. Two months afterward he was divinely guided to prepare for the ministry. He was licensed to exhort in 1838, and entered the traveling ministry in the Oneida Conference in 1839. His first circuit was one hundred and fifty miles in circumference, and gave him seventy dollars for his first year's support. From the first his whole soul was in the work, and in his first year nearly a hundred professed conversion under his labors. Not a great orator, his attainments, in view of his meager opportunities, quite unusual. Especially happy in revival work, he seldom spent a year without large additions to the Church membership. When the Oneida Conference was divided he went with that part which became the Wyoming Conference, where he labored until February, 1860. His health then failing, at the earnest solicitation of friends he removed to Chicago and went into business, preaching, however, quite frequently upon the Sabbath. After three years his health was restored, and he joined the Rock River Conference. His appointments in this Conference were Council Hill, Savannah, Park Ridge, and Malden. In 1869, to save the life of his loving and devoted wife, he superannuated and removed to Chicago, where his children lived. After rallying for a little time his wife passed on before him to rest in the autumn of 1873. Shattered by the blow, his heart longed to join her in the home above, and after a few peaceful years he fell asleep Sabbath, August 26, 1877, in the sixty-eighth year of his age. Honest, simple-hearted, and true, he was faithful unto the end, and his memory is precious.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

M. Pritchard.

MARTIN PRITCHARD was born in the State of Ohio, April 23, 1827. When seventeen years of age he was converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. About the same time he left home, and, without any pecuniary aid from others, secured a good education. He then engaged in teaching school, and continued in that employment until he entered the traveling connection. At twenty-three he was licensed as an exhorter, and about two years later as a local preacher. In the spring of 1857 he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Howard, and shortly after came to Nebraska, and was employed as a supply by the presiding elder of Nebraska District. He at once entered upon his duties as an itinerant with that energy and devotion to his work which so signally characterized his whole career as a minister, and the fruits of his labor gave abundant proof that he was indeed called of God. At the close of the year he was received on trial in the Kansas and Nebraska Conference, and returned for a second year to Mount Pleasant Mission. When his term of labor expired on the charge he was appointed successively to Peru, Bellview, Platte Valley, Pawnee City, Falls City, and a second time to Peru; but before the close of his first year in this station he was appointed presiding elder of Lincoln District, made vacant by the failing health, and consequent resignation, of Rev. C. W. Giddings. At the next Conference he was appointed to the Nebraska District, which he served for four years with great success. During this quadrennium he also did good service for the Church as a member of the New York Book Committee. He was then changed to the Lincoln District, upon which he labored with increasing zeal and usefulness till the 24th of March, 1877, when the Master called, and he passed away from labor to reward.

Brother Pritchard was eminently a man of one work, and that he did his work wisely and well is fully attested by the abundant services that every-where attended his ministry. He was not a revivalist in the popular sense of that word, and yet his ministry was marked by frequent conversions, and some quite extensive ingatherings of souls. His social qualities were superior, and he excelled as a pastor. Under his efficient management all the interests of the Church were cared for. The parsonage and church at Peru, the beautiful church at Pawnee City, and a church, free from debt, at Falls City, are monuments of his financial ability, enterprise, and personal liberality in time and money. But his most important work and greatest usefulness was in the presiding eldership. By his able ministrations, his untiring labors, his wise counsels, and his kindness toward the preachers and their families, he enshrined himself in the hearts of both preachers and people. As a preacher, he was sound in doctrine, clear and forceful in style, and his sermons were solid rather than brilliant. His piety was of that cheerful type that caused him to look on the bright side of life, and rendered him hopeful and happy. During the last two years of his life he was at times a great sufferer. For months together paroxysms of pain were frequent and severe; but amid it all he maintained a cheerful spirit, and was never heard to utter a word of complaint. During his last illness, which continued ten days, his mind and heart was still upon his work, and as late as Thursday he still thought he would be able to attend his quarterly meeting on Saturday and Sunday, but when Saturday morning came the messenger, death, came also. When the congestive chill, of which he died, was upon him, stupefying both body and mind so that he thought and spoke of little that related to earth, he was twice asked if he felt Jesus to be precious, and twice answered, "Yes; O yes!" and soon, with apparently little or no pain, he passed from earth to heaven to join the happy spirit of his cherub child, which preceded him to glory only by a few hours, leaving his family, thus doubly bereaved, to mourn the loss of a kind and loving husband and father, and this Conference one of its ablest and most efficient members. But while we mourn we also rejoice that he yet speaketh, and his memory is enshrined in our hearts.

None.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

John Raines, W. H. Rumsey,* H. May, D. Nichols, W. Wohlgemuth, G. Wilkinson, J. Timmerman, W. E. Pindar—8.

1. JOHN RAINES was born in Hull, England, January 14, 1818, and died in Canandaigua, N. Y., September 4, 1877. While yet a child he came to this country with his father, a local preacher of the English Wesleyan Church. At the age of nineteen he was converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Four years later he became a local preacher, and in 1845 he was received on trial into the Genesee Conference. His appointments were Pultneyville, Victor, Dansville, Lima, Geneva, St. John's Church, (Rochester,) Lyons, Corning, Hedding Church, (Elmira,) Alexander-street Church, (Rochester,) Newark, Geneva, and Lyons. During the third year of his last pastorate, after twenty-six years of uninterrupted labor, his nervous system gave way, and he became at first partially and soon after totally blind. From that time he steadily declined until his decease.

* Obituary not received.

Brother Raines was a man of strong convictions, and his piety was earnest and uncompromising. He was an ardent lover of his Church, and to her ministry his whole thought and energy were devoted. He possessed a zeal which never faltered, but burned more brightly as the close of his labors drew near. The number of persons professing conversion in connection with his ministry must be reckoned literally by thousands. He was a warm-hearted and faithful brother, a kind and generous friend, and to all a Christian gentleman. His works do follow him.

2. Hiram May was born in Cherry Valley, Otsego, N. Y., August 15, 1797, and died in Lancaster, New York, December 7, 1876. When a young man he removed to Le Roy, N. Y., where he was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was admitted as a probationer into the Genesee Conference in 1824.

Brother May's first appointment was to Malone Circuit, Black River District. He gives quite an amusing account, in his written reminiscences of that early period, of his difficulty in finding where his appointment was, not having attended Conference in person. His circuit was large and his labor severe, not meeting his colleagues except at quarterly meetings, and receiving for salary ninety-three dollars and six cents. His next appointment was Potsdam. A glorious revival, from which about five hundred accessions were gathered, cheered his heart this year. His fourth year was spent on the Ridgeway Circuit, Orleans County, which then included Barre, Gains, Kenyonville, Carlton, Yates, Somerset, Newfane, Hartland, and Shelby, in which were twenty-eight appointments, besides occasional preaching places. The first societies in Shelby Basin and in Medina were organized this year by Brother May, and a glorious revival was enjoyed, especially at the former place. Rev. Thomas Carlton, then an exhorter, rendered him efficient aid. The seventh year of his ministry, on Warsaw Circuit, he denominates the great year of his life as to labor and prosperity. A wonderful revival took place at Warsaw, meetings being held in an old ashery building. He says that two hundred and sixty-seven were added to the Church on the circuit. He had one remarkable gift, that gave him access to men's hearts—his power of song. He gathered together a large number of uncommon hymns, not so much noted for their poetry as for their directness of appeal to the conscience and sensibilities—these were published in 1828 in a volume, entitled "The Harp"—which he sang as simple solos, and so doing he sang the Gospel with such effect as to break down the hardest hearts. His forty-one years of itinerant service were performed on large and difficult circuits, in the winter's cold and summer's heat; sometimes with roads unbroken, raging streams unbridged, and with meager compensation; often dwelling in houses hardly decent or comfortable, and frequently separated from his family for weeks at a time. Notwithstanding all these hardships, he pressed on with indomitable courge, singing as he went.

After a short illness, principally from an affection of the heart, Brother May peacefully fell asleep December 7, 1876. One of his last injunctions, indicating a characteristic of his nature, was that a poor family that he had been caring for should receive certain benefactions which he had been planning for them. A good old man, a link between the present generation of pioneers in Western New York and Genesee Conferences, a minister of the Lord Jesus, full of years and full of labors, has entered into rest. We rejoice while we weep.

3. David Nichols was born in the State of New York in 1805, and died in Irving, Kansas, in 1877. He was converted in early life, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1831 he was admitted into the Genesee Conference, and served Pembroke, Eden, Niagara, Lewiston, Middleport, Alcot and Somerset, Middleport, Lancaster, Rushford, Eden and Evans, Knowlesville, Cambria and Porter, Pekin, Warsaw, Alexander, Akron, superannuated one year, Niagara Falls, superannuated one year, Millville, Porter, Pavilion, Covington, Carlton, Cary, Scottsville, supernumerary from 1862 to 1870, and from that time until his decease was superannuated. For thirty years he did effective work, while for sixteen years he has sustained a superannuated relation to the Conference.

Brother Nichols possessed a clear, strong mind, uncompromising integrity of character, and a devotion to the Church and the cause of God which knew no abatement, even under the infirmities of advancing years. In the pulpit he was calm, self-possessed, and earnest. His sermons were well digested, clear, and at times delivered with convincing logic and force. His labors in the ministry were often rewarded with revivals of considerable extent and power. And he must be placed among those noble and able men of God, whose work for the Master has given us the goodly heritage of our grand Genesee Conference. He leaves a wife and two daughters to mourn his loss, and claim our sympathies and prayers.

4. William Wohlgemuth was born in Mendon, Montgomery County, N. Y., November 23, 1829, and died in Rochester, N. Y., October 26, 1876, in the forty-seventh year of his age. He was converted to God at the age of eleven. He was licensed to exhort in 1859, and the same year was engaged as a supply on Cameron Charge, and in 1860 he supplied Big Flatts Charge, in place of Rev. John Hutchins, who was disabled by sickness. At the session of East Genesee Conference, in 1862, he was received on probation, and appointed to Thurston Charge, Bath District, where a new church was built and paid for at Risingville, one of the appointments on the charge, and many conversions all through his circuit attested the faithfulness and godly zeal of the young pastor. During his first year at Thurston he was called to mourn the sudden death of both his wife and only child. In 1864 he was appointed to Savona Charge. While on this charge he married Miss Sarah Willis, of Rochester, who proved a helpmeet indeed. Through the toils and trials of his itinerant career, in his health and his sickness, she stood by his side toiling, sympathizing, and suffering with him, and when his strength failed she brought him home to Rochester, and did all that a faithful Christian wife could do to smooth and lighten the last weary stage of his journey. In 1865 he was sent to Dundee, where he remained three years. He was appointed to Victor in 1868, continuing his pastorate there also through the full term of three years. The beautiful church, which is an ornament to the town and an honor to the people of Victor, was erected during this pastorate, and to his untiring efforts the enterprise was largely indebted for its success. Avon was his appointment in 1871, and here he began his task with all his usual zeal, but in the midst of his labor and success his voice suddenly and entirely failed. The faithful servant of God struggled on awhile, whispering the Gospel to his sympathizing listeners, loth to quit the field or relinquish the victory so hardly won; but the effort was too great, his strength as well as his voice gave way, and he reluctantly yielded to the inevitable.

When the East Genesee Conference was divided up Brother Wohlgemuth fell within the bounds of the Western New York Conference, where in 1872 he sustained a supernumerary relation to the Conference. His restless spirit longed for the work to which he had consecrated his life, and though his voice and strength were only half restored, yet he claimed his place among the effective laborers, and was appointed to Knowlesville in 1873. This was his last field of labor. He struggled through two years, painfully reminded at every step that he was doing his last work in the Christian ministry. In the fall of 1875 he entered the Homeopathic Medical College at Cleveland, O., hoping by the study of medicine, and completing the medical course, to be able to help himself and others. He received his diploma from the college in the spring of 1876, but his disease had made rapid progress during the winter, and his strength was gone. He removed to Rochester, where he lingered till earthly hopes gave place to heavenly fruition. The closing of his life was wonderful in the fullness of its truthfulness and peace. He was a good man, an earnest worker, a faithful friend, a dutiful son, a loving husband, and a sincere Christian. His record is finished, his work is ended, his crown is won.

5. George Wilkinson was born in Tioga, Pa., November 25, 1790, and died at Painted Post, N. Y., February 7, 1877, being in his seventy-ninth year. He was converted in early life, and immediately commenced calling sinners to repentance. He boldly attacked the citadel of hell. In this he had great success. His words were like fire and the hammer which breaketh the flinty rock in pieces. After itinerating for some years under the direction of a presiding elder, he was admitted on trial in the Genesee Conference in 1829, and continued to labor as health and strength would permit, manifesting a heroism of surpassing endurance, until he finally took a superannuated relation in 1873, having remained in the great battle-field of effective itinerant labor forty-four years. Multitudes, we trust, who were brought to God through his labors, have long been waiting for his coming on the other shore, ready to greet him as the instrument of their salvation. It was truly said at his funeral that thousands had been converted under his pointed and faithful ministry.

Brother Wilkinson's first wife was Miss Elmira Carey, sister of Rev. Sylvester Carey, of Genesee Conference. She helped him much, and died January 22, 1848, leaving three children, who are now living. He married the second time an intelligent, Christian lady, Mrs. Leffler, December 11, 1848, who, with their only daughter, Mrs. Georgiana Dorn, now resides in Elmira.

Brother Wilkinson was a very strong and decided Methodist. The doctrines, discipline, and usages of the Methodist Episcopal Church were interwoven into the whole texture of his soul. That old companion in arms never deserted his colors. We believe that he has conquered. While contending with the swellings of Jordan he said, "The Lord is a stronghold in the day of trouble." May we meet him in that land where victory has perched on all the banners, and where all is light and love forever!

6. John Timmerman was born in Manheim, Herkimer County, New York, September 17, 1807, and died in Medina, N. Y., May 22, 1877. In 1814, while he was yet but six years of age, he came to Orleans County with his parents, and from that time has been identified to a greater or less extent with its history, progress, and interests. In 1827 Rev. H. May held a series of meetings on what was known as Ridgeway Circuit, resulting in the organization of a class at Shelby Basin and Medina. Among the converts was the subject of this notice. His conversion was marked and powerful, and from that time he entered upon a spiritual life that for fifty years was characterized by great vitality and earnestness. He was licensed as a local preacher in 1832, and received into the Genesee Conference in 1844. His Conference appointments have been as follows: Royalton, Millville, Somerset, superannuated one year, Clarence, Akron, Middleport, Indian Mission, Millville, Clarkson, Tonawanda, Niagara Falls, Millville, Middleport, superannuated one year, Knoxville, West Barre, superannuated two years, Clarence, Sweden, Warren's Corners, and East Wilson.

Brother Timmerman was a Methodist preacher. He was in earnest sympathy with the discipline, usages, and spirit of the Church with which he had identified himself, and especially careful in the observance of all its appointments and requirements. During all the years of his connection with it he was never absent from the roll-call of his Conference but once, and then only because sickness prevented him from being present. His fidelity to his religious convictions and duty was equally striking. At the age of twenty-two he was married to Miss Mary J. Snell, who survives him. Prior to their marriage whenever he visited her it was his uniform habit to close the interview with prayer. This scrupulous performance of personal religious duty has characterized his whole Christian life. As a preacher, he was strong and fervent. The object of preaching, to his mind, was the salvation of souls, and to this end he gave his thoughts and energies, often with great success. He had also superior judgment and sagacity in business matters, and was abundantly fitted, both by endowment and experience, for positions of the widest usefulness in this department of the Church. He retained his physical and intellectual vigor to the last, and although in the seventieth year of his age, had all the appearance of a man in the prime of life. The thoroughness which marked his conversion was equally apparent in his later spiritual life. The testimony of his consciousness, "that the blood of Jesus cleansed him," was clear and positive. The love of God so filled and inspired him that all fear was cast out, and for months before his decease his victory over death was constant and complete. With a beautiful home, an ample private fortune, a most affectionate and devoted family, and to human seeming years of usefulness and freedom from the infirmities which ordinarily attend upon age before him, he yet turned away from all these without a murmur, and listened joyfully to the summons which called him to his eternal home. With the victor's cry on his lips and light in his eye, he fought and won his last battle, and received as a reward the crown of life.

7. William E. Pindar was born in Portsmouth, N. H., November 3, 1814, and died in Lima, N. Y., December 3, 1876. He was converted in his twentieth year, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Convinced that he was called to preach the Gospel, he immediately entered upon a course of study preparatory to that work. He was licensed to exhort in 1839, to preach in 1840, and received on probation in the Maine Conference the same year. In 1842 he removed to Western New York, and in 1843 joined the Genesee Conference. During twenty-seven years he filled the following appointments: Springville, Hornellsville, Naples, Covington, Hornellsville, Sheldrake, Wellsburgh, Enfield, Hammondsport, Thurston, Avoca, Burlington, Big Flats, Harmonyville and Prattsburgh, Andover, Forksville, Knoxville, and in 1868 Bristol. From 1869 to 1872 he was superannuated, 1873 was made effective, but his health failed during the year, and he again assumed the superannuated relation, and so remained till the close of life.

Brother Pindar was a pure, devoted Christian minister, of fair talents and considerable culture. His fields of labor were among the hardest and most laborious appointments in our work. He went to them in the spirit of the Master, without murmuring, and labored earnestly to the utmost limit of his strength. Under his ministry the Church was edified, sinners converted, and the kingdom of Christ enlarged. During the years of his superannuation he suffered much, but was remarkably sustained by the grace of God, and died as the good man dieth.

OBITUARIES

RECEIVED TOO LATE FOR INSERTION IN PROPER PLACE.

Central New York Conference.

HENRY S. PARKHURST* was born in Le Roy, Bradford County, Pa., March 19, 1836, and died in Ogden, Utah Territory, November 12, 1875, in his thirty-ninth year. He was happily converted at the age of fifteen, and became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. His educational advantages were such as the public school offered, but these were so improved that at the age of twenty-one he engaged in teaching. In 1861, at the outbreak of the war, he enlisted in a Chicago regiment. About this time he was married to Miss Hattie E. Shoudy, who proved to be a faithful companion, a true and loving wife, and who now, far from the scene of his labors, mourns his premature death. During his service in the army he was taken prisoner, and escaped from captivity by jumping from the cars while in rapid motion. He was recaptured, was fortunate in making his escape the second time, and finally reached the Union lines in safety. It was during these trying scenes that he renewed his religious vows, and resolved, if spared, to give himself to the work of the ministry. At the close of his service he entered the Theological Institute at Evanston, Illinois, from which he graduated in due time, in the high regard of his associates and instructors. He was received on trial in the Illinois Conference, and served Mason City and Verden Charges, each two years, with great success. In the fall of 1873 he was transferred to the Central New York Conference, and was sent to Mansfield, Pa., where, through his instrumentality, many were brought from darkness to light. During his last year at Mansfield he conceived the idea of forming a colony on the Pacific coast. While engaged in his arduous project he was stricken down by hemorrhage of the brain, at Ogden, Utah Territory. All that medical skill and affectionate care could do failed to check the progress of his disease, and on November 12, 1877, with his family around him, far from friends and home, Brother Parkhurst exchanged pain and toil for triumph and rest. His dying testimony to the power and blessedness of the Gospel was clear and reliable.

*H. S. Parkhurst was a supernumerary member of the Central New York Conference at the time of his death, and his decease not being reported at the next session of his Conference, his memoir has been delayed till now.

Illinois Conference.

GRANVILLE BOND was born January 14, 1805, in Nelson County, Ky., where he grew to manhood; he married in 1826, and in 1827 moved to Illinois to aid in laying the foundations of society and developing the resources of a new country, where he manfully and heroically shared the hardships and privations of a frontier life. Here he met and conquered difficulties and discouragements that required the courage of a hero and nerves of steel, and made them highways to success and victory. He did not labor in vain; the Lord blessed his labors, and he accumulated a competence of the goods of this world. His conversion to Christ, which occurred in 1828, was clear and radical, and marked a positive era in his life. He was received into the Methodist Episcopal Church, at a camp-meeting, soon after his conversion, by the late Rev. Peter Cartwright. He received license to preach the Gospel in 1834, and labored as a local preacher twenty-one years, doing regular and effective work over a large field. He held protracted meetings, visited the sick, and buried the dead, besides attending to his farm and providing for a large family. His labors were marvelous, preaching the Gospel ten and fifteen miles from home at night, closing the services at a late hour, arriving at home in the latter part of the night, and the next day doing full work on his farm. He was received on trial in the Illinois Conference in 1854, and appointed Agent of Illinois Female College; the year following he served as Agent of Quincy College, and thenceforward he was appointed to Payson, Perry, Littleton, La Prairie, Mount Sterling, Kinderhook, Perry, and, in 1868, superannuated, and remained in that relation till death. Soon after retiring from the active work he located at Mounds, Brown County, to spend the remnant of his days. He did not retire to idleness and inactivity, but continued to preach the Gospel as long as he had strength, and at home was the faithful assistant of his pastor, leading the prayer-meetings to the last. His last and crowning work was the erection of the beautiful church edifice at Mounds, which was projected and largely carried forward to successful completion by his effort.

Brother Bond died suddenly at his home, May 31, 1877, almost without a struggle. At the last prayer-meeting he prayed and spoke as though it would be the last. As he prayed for the last time in his family, and talked with God face to face, and prayed for his dear children with such unction and tenderness, it pointed to his early departure. He appeared as if he saw the coming of the chariot of fire that should bear him to his everlasting rest. He realized his long-expressed desire, "To cease at once to work and live."

New Jersey Conference.

1. GEORGE A. RAYBOLD was born in Philadelphia, Oct. 18, 1802, and died in Haddonfield, N. J., Dec. 4, 1876, aged seventy-four years. He was converted in April, 1822. His own account of the experience realized in this change is as follows: "While engaged alone, and bearing a burden which bowed my spirit in brokenness of heart at the feet of the divine Saviour, I suddenly cast myself upon him for salvation, when he, in a moment, changed my state from misery to extreme and perfect bliss. Love to the Lord, and to all mankind, filled my soul. Unutterable gladness was my portion, and a tenderness of conscience which caused increased carefulness to show forth the power and purpose of the Lord in imparting himself to my soul." He joined the Nazareth Methodist Episcopal Church the same month, and at a camp-meeting near Clarksborough, in Gloucester County, in the summer of 1824, he experienced the power of sanctifying grace in such measure and demonstration as to convince him that it was a distinct and complete work. He was licensed to exhort Feb. 18, 1825, soon after which he preached his first sermon from Jonah ii, 9: "Salvation is of the Lord." His own account of his exercises in regard to this public service is as follows: "On Sabbath morning, while in my room engaged in prayer, it was given me to hear, 'Thou must preach my Gospel this day, preach the salvation of the Lord.' I felt filled with solemn awe; the words seemed literally spoken in my soul by an internal voice. Weeping, fearing, hardly daring to doubt, I delayed to go until half an hour after the usual time of commencing the service. After I took my seat the eldest member of the Church came to me and said, 'The preacher is not here; the brethren request you to preach.' Directly my class leader came and sternly whispered,

'The burden of the Lord is upon you; go.' I obeyed, and my soul became perfectly calm. We had a shout in the congregation." In April, 1829, he withdrew from the Methodist Episcopal Church, and joined the Methodist Protestant Church, and immediately became one of its traveling preachers in New Jersey for the next two years and a half, chiefly in Burlington County. In September, 1831, he resigned his connection with that Church, and re-united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, was licensed to preach, and sent by the presiding elder to supply Bargaintown Circuit, under Rev. E. Stout, preacher in charge. In 1832 he took an appointment under the presiding elder in Camden Circuit. In 1833 he was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference, ordained deacon in 1835, and elder in 1837; the latter, however, being conferred by the New Jersey Conference, which in the meantime had been set off from the former. His appointments were Pemberton, Cumberland, Cape May, Elizabethtown, New Brunswick, Swedesborough, Salem, Winslow, Haddonfield, Cedarville, Woodbury. In the spring of 1847 he was granted a supernumerary relation, and took up his residence in Camden, from which, after a residence of two years, he removed to Haddonfield, where he continued to reside, except during a short interval, till his death, preaching as his health and opportunity presented in surrounding places, and filling, in a few instances, vacant appointments consecutively for months.

As a preacher, Brother Raybold excelled in oratory and unction, and he was frequently called, in the days of his power, to officiate at the dedication of churches, and at camp-meetings, where, at times, the vividness of his descriptions, with his unction in utterance, produced powerful impressions upon his hearers. His printed literary productions comprise four small volumes, magazine and newspaper articles, and poetic effusions to a considerable number. The volumes are, "Fatal Feud," "Paul Perryman," "Annals of Methodism," and "Reminiscences of Methodism in South Jersey."

Brother Raybold was twice married. His first wife was Miss Mariah Hickman, to whom he was married March 15, 1826. At her death she left him four children, all still living, one of them now a pastor in the Baptist denomination. His second marriage was to Miss Mary Coffin Price, who, with one daughter, survives to mourn his loss. Afflicted with a complication of physical ailments, Brother Raybold was a great sufferer for a period of over thirty years, causing his retirement from the pastorate. During all these years, down to the close, he manifested a devout spirit, a steady, humble reliance on the atonement, and patience to a remarkable degree, and throughout led his family in devotional exercises till he came upon his bed of death, when his triumph was complete, seeming to have at times visions of the coming glory, of which he would speak in raptures of triumph and in language beautiful and elevated. His mind was clear and unclouded to the last. His last audible expression was, "Thank the Lord!"

2. Samuel Parker, son of Thos. and Abigail Parker, was born in Port Elizabeth, Cumberland Co., N. J., on the 22d day of April, 1820, and died in the city of Camden on the 14th day of October, 1876, having lived fifty-six years, five months, and twenty-two days. In very early life he was deeply impressed with the fact that a change in his moral nature was absolutely necessary to his happiness in this world, and his salvation in the world to come. In the fall of 1837, at a series of meetings held in Williamsburgh, Cape May Circuit, by Rev. John F. Crouch, he sought the Lord, and on the tenth day of December following, at a quarterly meeting held on that charge, by Rev. Thomas Neal, presiding elder, Brother Parker attended a love-feast for the first time, and at its close went forward and identified himself with the Church of Christ. He very soon began to work for the Master. He was licensed an exhorter on the 18th of February, 1840, by the Rev. Joseph Atwood, and local preacher July 4, 1841, his license bearing the signature of Rev. Charles T. Ford, presiding elder. He was married to Miss Caroline Cranmer, daughter of Rev. John C. Crammer, a local preacher, November 4, 1841, by Rev. Noah Edwards. Three different times he was called out to fill vacancies in the regular work, and in the spring of 1848 joined the New Jersey Annual Conference. He was ordained a deacon in 1850 by Bishop Waugh, and an elder in 1852 by Bishop Janes, who preceded him to the better land only a few weeks. He was assigned to the following appointments: in 1848, Winslow; 1849, Cape May; 1850, West Bridgeton; 1851, 1852, Mullica Hill and Harrisonville; 1853, Allentown. Here his health so far failed that he was forced to retire from the regular work and took a supernumerary relation four years. In the spring of 1858 he again became effective, and was sent to Palmyra, where he remained two years. He was at Blackwoodtown in 1860, 1861; Clayton, 1862, 1863; Fifth-street, Camden, 1864, 1865; Paulsborough, 1866; Pennington, 1867–1869; Long Branch, 1870–1872; West Creek, 1873–1875. In the spring of 1876 he was assigned to Barnegat, where he labored with great acceptability until the fourteenth day of October, when he ceased at once to work and live.

Brother Parker was an excellent preacher and a faithful pastor; a "workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." He was successful to a greater or less degree in all his charges, and many souls, as the result of his earnest labors, have been happily converted. He was a strong advocate for the temperance cause. Some of the most interesting and soul-stirring speeches that have been made at our Conference temperance anniversaries during the last twenty years were made by him. Though for years he was the subject of affliction, yet he did not murmur or complain. The religion of Christ, which he had so faithfully preached for about thirty-five years, was to him a sublime and glorious reality, giving him peace and comfort amid all the sorrows of life, and triumph in the hour of death. On Tuesday, October 10, he, in company with his son and one of his daughters, attended the Centennial Exposition, spending several days. On Friday evening he went to the house of an old friend in Camden. Soon after his arrival there he began to complain of a severe pain in his side. He grew worse so rapidly that a physician was sent for to administer to his case. But, in spite of all that love and skill could do, he continued to fail very rapidly, until about nine o'clock on Saturday morning, when gently and sweetly he fell asleep in Christ. Just before his death Brother Kaighn, his host, asked him how it was with him in reference to the future? His calm response was, "It's all right." His life, taken as a whole, was a grand success, and death a moral triumph. His wife and three children survive him.

3. John Pratt, son of John and Martha Pratt, was born at Blackwoodtown, N. J., Feb. 17, 1842. God took him Feb. 26, 1877, aged thirty-five years and nine days. He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at Blackwoodtown, December 28, 1858, under the pastoral care of Rev. B. F. Woolston, who wears the crown a little in advance of him. In 1861-1862 he attended Pennington Seminary, then under the care of Dr., now Bishop, Wiley. April 19, 1862, he was married to Mary Hannah Turner, daughter of Daniel and Elizabeth Turner, of Turnerville, N. J. In 1863 his name appears on the official list as class-leader, and continues up to 1869. He received license to exhort in 1862. In the exercise of this gift he was very useful. November 16, 1867, he received license as a local preacher. In 1870 he was called to supply Elwood and Pleasant Mills

Charge by the presiding elder, and the year following he was recommended to the Annual Conference by the Quarterly Conference of this charge, and was received. In 1871, 1872, he was pastor at Bay's River; over one hundred souls were added to the Church. March 16, 1873, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Scott, and appointed to Moorestown. In June his health failed, and he was required to resign his charge. In 1874 he was granted a supernumerary relation. In 1875 he was not able to attend Conference, and his relation was continued. In 1876 he was at Conference, and was ordained elder by Bishop Wiley, April 2. His sufferings were protracted and great, but his soul was triumphant. "Tell my brethren in the ministry," he said, "I fall with my face toward the battle-field. They need have no fears for my safety. I die in the triumphs of faith; praise the Lord!" The funeral services were held in the church where he gave his heart to God, March 2, 1877. Though the day was very stormy, so as to prevent a general attendance of his brethren in the ministry, yet a crowd of friends gathered to look for the last time upon the earnest servant of God. Rev. F. Brace, of the Presbyterian Church, read the Scriptures. Rev. N. Edwards, of Hedding, led in prayer. Memorial readings and addresses were given by Rev. G. H. Tullis, Rev. J. R. Thompson, Rev. C. H. Whittaker, D.D., presiding elder of Camden District, Rev. S. M. Hudson, of Swedesborough, Rev. N. Edwards, and Rev. James Pine, of Ewanville. For the disconsolate widow and numerous relatives we raise a prayer to heaven, while the great Judge says to our brother, "Well done; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."
